SUMMARY.

The Canadian Budget shows a surplus of over £8,000,000.

The Mall has been abandoned in favour of another site for the King Edward Memorial.

The Anglo-Japanese treaty of Commerce has been signed.

Speaking in the House of Lords, Viscount Haldane said that the command of the sea must be the first concern.

The House of Commons on Tuesday further considered the Parliament (House of Lords Veto) Bill in committee.

Lord Hugh Cecil attacked the party system, and characterised the House of Commons as "a corrupt assembly."

An amendment by Colonel Griffith-Boscawen to provide that the third reading of money bills be taken by ballot was negatived.

M. Rodsianko, an Octobrist, has been elected president of the Duma.

An Austrian, believed to be insane, shot at a group of priests in the basilica of St. Peters.

A policeman was wounded before the man was arrested.

In consequence of the incident it will be necessary to reconsecrate the basilica.

The dirigible balloon Ville de Pau has made 141 ascents since the middle of December.

It has travelled 2000 miles, carrying in all 906 passengers.

Captain Amundsen has explained his change of plans to the committee of the Fram expedition.

His reason for secrecy was his apprehension that the committee might dissuade him from carrying out his intentions.

The Privy Council appeal in the Commissioner of Stamps and Duties (N.S.W.) v Byrnes, has been dismissed with costs.

In the matter of Williams v Giddy (N.S.W.) the appeal was also dismissed with costs.

In the Municipal Council of Sydney v Fleay, the appeal was allowed, but without costs.

Mr. G. Chritchfield, a New Jersey politician, was fatally shot from an ambush by Mexican soldiers.

Fifty children were safely rushed from a burning building at Newark, U.S.A., by adopting fire drill for their exit.

The German Crown Prince and Princess have arrived at Brindisi.

The "Irish Times" comments on the rejection by the Dublin Corporation of a motion to present an address to King George.

The journal says that the conduct of the 42 "patriots" has made the visit of the colonial Premiers to Dublin impossible.

Sir Eldon Gorst, British Agent and Consul-General in Egypt, is suffering from an attack of paralysis.

The special session of the United States Congress has been opened. The Canadian Reciprocity Bill was introduced.

The German-Australian S.S. Company's steamer Bergedorf is ashore at Cape Comorin, India.

The vessel's back is reported to be broken. The crew were saved.

Arrangements are being made to locate the wreck of the missing steamer Tongala.

An experienced diver will proceed to Nares Rock as soon as the weather is suitable.

More wreckage has been seen opposite the Herbert River.

The All Nations Fair was opened in the Town Hall by the State Governor yesterday afternoon.

The spectacle was a brilliant one, the fair being the best of the kind ever held in Sydney.

A large party of Federal members will leave Sydney on May 30 in the Matunga on a six weeks' trip to Papua.

The party will call at Thursday Island to see the conditions under which the pearl-shell industry is carried on.

It is expected that most of the land tax assessments will be in the hands of landholders by April 13.

The business of the next Federal session will be largely financial.

The national banking legislation will probably be introduced.

The naval defence proposals will also be submitted. These will involve Admiral Henderson's recommendations.

At the last meeting of the North Sydney Council, the Mayor submitted a minute dealing with the financial position.

The total income was £26,888 8s 2d. and the expenditure £26,929 0s 5d, leaving a deficiency of £40 12s 3d.

When taken in conjunction with the figures for the two previous years, a surplus of £2274 18s 6d was shown.

The traffic branch of the Police Department is busily engaged in registering and re-registering motor vehicles.

On March 10, the date of the renewal of permits, the figures showed that there were 3850 motor vehicles, and 3695 licensed drivers.

The North Sydney Council has decided to bring under the notice of the Inspector-General the speed of motor cars.

The quarterly trade returns of the port of Newcastle show increases on the figures for the same period last year.

The coal export increased by 634,226 tons, representing a value of £313,292.

The United Storemen's Union has decided to obtain a wages board for the employees—grocery shops.

At the Dorrigo show the cattle were a great improvement upon last year's exhibits.

The Hospital Saturday Fund Committee will endeavour to realise £10,000 by this year's collections.

The A.M.A. at Broken Hill condemns the Government for its action in prosecuting the Lithgow and Carcoar unionists.

Irish blight continues to spread throughout the potato-growing districts of Victoria.

The safe at the Grenfell railway station was blown open by burglars, and £48 taken.

Newport Beach, which was recently resumed by the Government, will be officially opened on Saturday afternoon.

According to Mr. Hunt, the theory of weather cycles is out of the question as a basis for forecasting weather.

The newly-erected Adelphi Theatre, in the Haymarket, was formally declared open by the Lord Mayor yesterday.

According to the conditions of the lease of the site, the theatre will become city property at the end of 50 years.

Some unique displays are being arranged in connection with Manufactures Week.

The Wellington (N.Z.) Trades Council protested to the Minister for Labour against the importation of boys for farm work.

The Minister said the boys from England were doing well, and it was intended to give the experiment a year's trial.

Over 8000 entries have been received for the Royal Show.

The steamer Boveric is ashore at Nukualofa, Tonga. Attempts to float her have failed, and the cargo is being discharged.

A movement is on foot to arrange a Federal organisation of railway employees.

The affairs of the coal vend are said to be causing the coal proprietors considerable concern.

A steady though quiet business was reported in all lines in the general market yesterday.

The heavy demand for oils continued unabated.

Wheat was nominally 3/1½ per bushel, but there were only small lots offering.

Holders expect a higher market, and buyers anticipate a further fall.

There was a slightly better feeling in the mining market, and an improved amount of business was recorded.

The wool market continues strong at the late advance in prices.

Forecast.—Some showers along the tableland and slopes, with a tendency for scattered thunder. Snow on the southern highlands. Fine elsewhere.

SMART, INEXPENSIVE MILLINERY, AT FARMER'S.

ARTISTIC MODES,
INEXPENSIVE MODELS,
DISTINCTIVE CREATIONS,
DISPLAYED IN MILLINERY SHOW-ROOM.

Farmer's Millinery showing is a panorama of loveliness, and may be accepted as being indicative of the correct trend of Fashion, and, having the stamp of Farmer's high-quality standard, the styles will be readily adopted as proper.

To enumerate just what will be fashionable would be too great a task, but we honestly believe patrons are given greater scope than ever in exercising individuality and selecting models specially suited to each particular requirement. We invite your inspection of our glorious showing.

To-day we list a few of the smart, stylish, untrimmed shapes and inexpensive Ready-to-wear Hats, so much in favour at present.

Untrimmed Straws, in pretty shades of Cinnamon, Navy, Green, King's Blue, Brown, Prunelle, and Black. Prices, 3/6, 3/11, 4/6, and 5/11 each.

A FEW POWERFUL PRESS OPINIONS:—

What "Sydney Morning Herald" says:—"The Wirth Bros. have got together on this occasion a show which undoubtedly surpasses all their previous ones. The Flying Jordans perform one of the most sensational acts yet seen in an arena in Australia."

What "The Daily Telegraph" says:—"Certainly not for years, if ever, in Sydney, has a programme been dotted by the names of so many performers who are at the top of their profession, and never before has a menagerie better stocked with fully developed and wild animals been presented for public education and amusement."

What "Sunday Sun" says:—"The cast is much the largest and cleverest that has shown in Sydney as yet."

What "Sunday Times" says:—"The comedy element was furnished in a large and liberal manner by Danny Ryan and Company."

What "Evening News" says:—"The excellence of the programme submitted on Saturday night, the verdict of the evening was 'Bigger and better than ever.'"

What "Truth" says:—"Wirth's Circus of to-day is better than ever it was."

TAKE A KODAK CAMERA WITH YOU AT EASTER.

Because the Kodak and Brownie-Kodak Cameras are the most popular on the market, they are the most constantly imitated. If you are wise you will shun all substitutes and ask for the Kodak by name. Every Genuine Instrument bears the word "Kodak," and you should remember that

"IF IT ISN'T AN EASTMAN IT ISN'T A KODAK."

Call to-day and inspect our stock of Cameras—or write for a free copy of the Kodak Catalogue.

ON THE ILLAWARRA LINE.

NINE MILES FROM SYDNEY AND ABOUT TWENTY MINUTES' TRAIN JOURNEY FROM THE CITY, is the Progressive Suburban Town of HURSTVILLE. For a long time past Home-seekers have been awaiting an opportunity to purchase Land at this spot, and the smaller Estates we have placed on the market have been promptly taken up. We are now offering

HOMEDALE ESTATE, HURSTVILLE,

FOR SALE

BY AUCTION ON SATURDAY, APRIL 22nd.

THIS PROPERTY consists of some 160 ACRES, in the best part of the Suburb, and within 10 to 12 minutes' walk of the Railway Station. It is on the eastern side of the line, and is in a healthy and elevated position. Splendid Views of BOTANY BAY, GEORGE'S RIVER, and the surrounding landscape may be obtained from this property, and it is an ideal spot for those requiring a home near the city, and possessing the fresh air and elbow-room of the country. The Estate has a long frontage to the WONIORA-ROAD, along which will pass the proposed Tram from Kogarah to Tom Ugly's Point.

THE ALLOTMENTS number 227, and for the most part have frontages of 66ft. Purchasers can obtain as much land as they want by buying adjoining allotments, and as the soil is splendid for Gardening, Poultry Raising, etc, this is a course we can recommend.

HOMEDALE ESTATE will be sold practically without reserve, and we anticipate a big demand for the allotments. Our advice, therefore, to intending purchasers is to send now for Plans and Booklets, and visit this property before the Sale. You will then be able to appreciate the value of this Magnificent Estate, and decide on the Allotments for which you intend to bid.

THE TITLE TO HOMEDALE is TORRENS, and the Allotments will be sold on our WELL-KNOWN EASY TERMS—£1 Deposit, and 10/ per month for every £20 purchased.

COUNTY VISITORS AT EASTER TIME should make a point of seeing this property, as it is an investment that is bound to show a good return in the future.

CHAPTER XXVII.—Continued.

He found his way at length to the Embankment and sat down on the steps of the Temple Pier. He no longer heeded the soaking rain, and was almost unconscious of hunger. The tide was running in rapidly, and in the sound of the wavelets as they lapped the steps of the pier he heard the words, "A life for a life."

"Ah, if he had not killed Geoff Lincoln there might still be hope for him. He might start afresh and earn enough to find food and shelter. He was no longer too proud to work. He was humble enough, God knew, and penitent, too; and for the other sins of his life—and they were many and great—he believed there was mercy; but for murder——"

And he shuddered again, as he had shuddered a hundred times before.

He got up at length and descended the steps to the water's edge. There seemed no valid reason why he should prolong the agony. His life was forfeit in any case, and had been for a year. From the day he ran down Geoff Lincoln, Nemesis had been relentlessly chasing him to his doom. There could be no peace for him until he had yielded up his life; perhaps that would be accounted to him for righteousness and God would forgive him.

Surely, he had suffered enough. For twelve long months he had endured the torments of the lost; now the dark river beckoned him, and seemed to promise forgetfulness and sleep.

But would the promise be kept? What if death was not sleep at all, but eternal wakefulness? He shuddered again and came back to where he had sat.

The cold, wet wind struck a chill to his bones. The rain fell in larger drops. The call of the river became more insistent. "A life for a life."

What a coward he was—and he smiled grimly. Yet there was something of pathos in his smile, as if he pitied himself. He had always been a coward, and in many senses a weakling. His father had wanted to make him a gentleman. He wondered why he should think of that now. A gentleman, indeed!

Alas! he had started wrong. His father had meant well, no doubt; but his philosophy of life was a mistake, his aphorisms false, his precepts the worst a boy could lay to heart.

He had never realised what the word gentleman meant. He had looked at everything from a wrong standpoint, had tried to gain his ends by wrong methods, and many of the ends themselves were unworthy.

Ah, if he could only begin again, with his present knowledge. If God would only give him another chance!

The wind shivered through the leafless plane trees and shook the rain in big drops upon the pavement. The roar of traffic became more and more subdued; the twinkling lights upon the river grew faint and indistinct.

"Perhaps I will die sitting here," he thought vaguely. "Perhaps I will fall asleep and never wake again. It will be better than the cold and filth of the river. I shall not choke and gasp and struggle, and when they find me I shall have paid the penalty," and he smiled faintly and his head drooped upon his knees.

CHAPTER XXVIII.

COALS OF FIRE.

Geoff had not proceeded far when he halted, turned quickly on his heel, and began rapidly to retrace his steps. In a few minutes he was back at the place where he had seen David Wiggs, then he crossed to the other side of the street, and made his way eastward, craning his neck as he did so, if by any chance he might see ahead of him the limping figure of David.

He could not explain why he had turned back. He was not anxious to come face to face with David again. He did not love the man; he had no reason to do so, and, on the whole, he regretted that he had once more crossed his path.

Yet the impulse to turn back had been irresistible. There was something so forlorn about David's figure that he was curious to know what had happened. Perhaps, also, at the back of his mind there was a lurking desire to triumph over his old enemy once more by showing him that he was none the worse for the attempt upon his life; perhaps also, there was a lurking sympathy for an old 'Varsity man—bounder though he might be—who was down on his luck. But whatever the motives or the impulse might be that moved him—and he was not concerned to inquire into them too closely at the moment—he found himself eager and impatient to catch another glimpse of the man who had tried to kill him.

It was not easy to dodge the forest of umbrellas and elbow his way through the crowd, yet, unless he hurried, he knew he would not be able to overtake the man he sought. David, judging by the glimpse of him he got, would not be able to walk very fast; very likely he would have no inclination to do so. But he had got several minutes' start, and unless he loitered at some shop window, the chances were fairly remote of his seeing him again.

Geoff could hardly help smiling at his eagerness to find a man whom, under ordinary circumstances, he would try to avoid, whom now, he told himself, he did not want to see, and the sight of whom he detested; and yet he hurried on, looking eagerly ahead whenever he got the chance, and scanning closely the faces of the people to right and left.

"I'm just a bundle of contradictions," he laughed to himself. "I don't want to meet the fellow again, and yet I am trying to find him. Anyhow, I won't turn back yet."

He passed Temple Bar, and hurried down Fleet-street. The throng of people was as dense as ever; the rain was falling in bigger drops. He reached Ludgate Circus at length, and halted for a moment; then he turned down New Bridge-street. "I can get the Bakerloo Tube at the Embankment," he reflected, "and a tram from the corner here to Charing Cross. I've been a bit of a simpleton, perhaps—I don't know. However, I've missed the scoundrel."

He slackened his pace a little down New Bridge-street, and when he crossed the Embankment, to the imminent risk of his life, for taxi-cabs were dashing along in almost endless procession, he paused for a moment or two, and watched the crowd fighting their way into the trams.

It was a sight that had its pathetic as well as its humorous side, and provoked the onlooker to indignation as well as to laughter. Big, burly men elbowed frail and defenceless women aside in their eagerness to get under cover; but, on the whole, the women were not to be outdone, especially the younger and more alert of them. The way they dodged the brutes and got the better of them was distinctly amusing.

Geoff decided, after a few minutes, to take no part in the scrimmage. He had a mackintosh coat and an umbrella, and would take no harm; indeed, the walk to Charing Cross would do him good.

He had ceased to look for David Wiggs, and on the whole was not sorry that he had failed to find him. Yet, try as he would, he could not keep him out of his thoughts.

"What had happened?" was a question that rose to his lips again and again. "What turn in fortune's wheel had flung him on the streets of London? That he was more or less broken in fortune as well as in health was patent to anyone who knew him in the old days. The limping, rain-soaked figure that he had seen cross the street bore little resemblance to the swaggering bounder of a year ago.

Geoff continued to walk on the river side. He rather enjoyed the wet west wind blowing cold upon his cheeks; moreover, the river itself, dark and solemn and mysterious, with its long lines of barges drifting silently up on the tide, and its myriad lights dancing and flickering on its broad bosom, held him with a peculiar fascination. In the daytime, with its sordid southern shore, the Thames looks commonplace enough, but when the mystery of night falls upon it, and its broad, heaving bosom flashes with a thousand jewels, then it becomes a solemn wonder, a thing of rare and mysterious beauty.

Geoff scarcely noticed the tramcars passing and repassing, the ceaseless whirr and rush of taxi-cabs and motor cars; the river held him with a spell.

At the Temple Pier he paused suddenly, arrested by a lonely figure on the steps. "Was this the man he sought?" The question flashed across his brain in a moment. That shock of wiry hair had a familiar look; the broad and slightly rounded shoulders were also reminiscent of David Wiggs.

He went closer to get a better view, and David started and raised his head. For a moment they looked at each other without speaking. In David's eyes, however, there was no look of recognition. The man, whoever he was, seemed to him an intruder. Why could he not be allowed to sit there on the wet steps undisturbed?

It was Geoff who broke the silence.

"David Wiggs!" he said in somewhat unsteady tones.

David started and straightened his back. "Well," he questioned, "and what of that?"

"Oh, nothing," was the lame reply. "I wanted to make sure—that is all."

David struggled to his feet, his face blanched, his limbs all of a tremble. "I've surely heard your voice before," he almost gasped; and he came a step nearer and peered into Geoff's face.

"God in heaven!" he exclaimed, his eyes dilating, and he stepped back a couple of paces. Then he pulled himself together. "But no, it cannot be!" he almost hissed. "Geoff Lincoln is dead."

"There you are mistaken, David Wiggs," Geoff laughed harshly. "Geoff Lincoln is very much alive. You did your best to kill him, I grant, and very nearly succeeded, but ——"

"You are alive!" David interrupted. "Alive? Oh, thank God for that," and he dropped down on the wet ground and began to sob.

Geoff looked at him in astonishment and with some suspicion. Of the man's emotion there could be no doubt; his shoulders heaved, his whole body shook, and when he raised his face the tears were on his cheeks. For several moments he did not know what to say. He had never seen a man weep before, and the sight upset him. He was inclined to be angry. Was the rascal trying to work upon his sympathy, or was he genuinely moved?

"Excuse me, Lincoln," David sobbed at length, "I can't help it. For twelve months I have wandered the earth with the brand of Cain upon my brow; I have lived in daily and nightly torment. What I have suffered, God alone knows. I thought I was a murderer, for the newspapers said that you were dead."

"Then you don't deny running me down?"

"Deny—no; why should I? And yet, believe me, I didn't mean to kill you."

"Didn't you? I really don't see what else you could have expected."

"I think I was mad at the moment. I wanted to punish you—to make you suffer. You had humiliated me."

"No doubt. And you wanted to be quits, eh?"

"For months I thought of nothing but revenge. I followed all your movements, and when the opportunity came I took it."

"And you are satisfied, I hope?"

"Satisfied?" and he dropped his head in sudden shame. "I would have given half my life the day following to have undone it. I came down here wondering if I could screw up sufficient courage to go under; but I was always a coward. Terrible as life is, I feared death might be worse."

"You meant to commit suicide?" Geoff questioned, in a tone of alarm.

"You see, it was this way. I had lost hope. I believed that I was a murderer, and that God would not be satisfied until I had atoned with my life. It was just a question of assisting Fate or waiting for Fate itself to do the job."

"But why come to London?"

"I just drifted here, as all failures do."

"But your father was rich?"

"He thought he was, and I thought he was, but he wasn't really, from my point of view. And when all your money is locked up in a cotton mill, and you don't know how to manage the concern yourself, and you chose to go the pace and spend right and left—why, you're bound to come a cropper sooner or later."

"So you're come a cropper, have you?"

"Do I look a millionaire?" and he smiled pathetically.

"Well, no; I'm bound to say you don't."

"There may be a chance for me yet," he said after a pause, the tears welling back into his eyes. "Now that I know I'm not a murderer, the world's a different place. I believe God Almighty sent you to me; maybe He thought I'd been punished enough."

Geoff felt a lump rise in his throat unconsciously. The man's thankfulness and humility touched him; moreover, much as he always disliked him, and much as he still distrusted him, he could not help feeling that in this matter he was sincere. Also, he reflected that there was no man so bad but that there was some good in him, and evidently suffering and tribulation had been bringing the good to the surface.

"Will you be staying in London?" Geoff questioned at length.

"Till I can get out," and he began to hobble toward the pavement.

Geoff wanted to question him a little more closely, but scarcely had the courage.

"Excuse me," Geoff said at length, "but you don't look very well."

"I'm a bit stiff and cold with sitting on the stones," was the reply. "It'll wear off, I expect."

"You should get into dry things as soon as possible."

"Dry things?" and David smiled wistfully. "Why—yes, of course—of course. Well, good night, and thank you beyond words for lifting this load from my mind," and he hobbled away.

NEW THEATRE OPENED.

TO BECOME CITY PROPERTY IN 50 YEARS.

Twelve months from the day the contract was signed the newly-erected ... in the Haymarket, was formally declared open by the Lord Mayor of Sydney. A large number of friends of the lessees, Messrs. George Marlow, Ltd., had met at their invitation yesterday afternoon, and for a few minutes the busy carpenters, decorators, and electricians were asked to suspend their work on the new playhouse.

The Lord Mayor said it was not usual for a Mayor to appear on a theatrical stage, but as the Adelphi Theatre would eventually become city property, he might on this occasion be excused for such a departure from the rule. The conditions of the lease of the site were well known, and the results were satisfactory to all concerned. He could congratulate the gentleman who had acquired the site, and he could congratulate the city which would acquire the fine structure, free of cost, at the end of 50 years. (Applause.) The purchasers were bound to spend £12,500 on improvements, but had spent practically £30,000. Such enterprise deserved every encouragement. (Applause.) It showed confidence in the city and the State. (Applause.) He had been astounded at the completeness of the theatre. The absence of pillars would be welcome to many a theatregoer, and the wide openings of entrance and exit were wise provisions. He believed the site to be an ideal one for a theatre, and he wished the Adelphi all success. (Applause.) Mr. Marlow, though not a native of Australia, arrived here when five years old, so he was practically an Australian, and all would wish him that success which his enterprise deserved. He then declared the theatre open.

Mr. Thomas Rofe, the proprietor of the theatre, said that when the proposition was put before him it took him just one half-hour to decide. (Applause.) His instructions to his architects were that the building must be as nearly as possible fireproof, that it must be the coolest theatre in Australia, and it must be so constructed that every person within could, in the time of an alarm of fire, leave the building safely if they kept their heads. All those conditions had been fulfilled. (Applause.) The cost had exceeded that laid down by the council by £18,000, without including an extra strip of land alongside. Altogether the enterprise had cost him £40,000, and in 50 years it would be worth £100,000. (Applause.) During the last 12 months the council had received £600 rent for it, and the company had not received a penny yet. He thought the council might show them a little consideration in that regard.

Mr. G. Marlow, who was cordially cheered, said he felt more at home in seeing people coming into the theatre while he was taking money at the door. (Laughter.) He intended to produce the best attractions ever seen in Australia, and one of them would be a visit next year of Mr. Beecham's Opera Company, from Covent Garden. (Applause.) Mr. Beecham would not undertake this visit until he had a guarantee that there were theatres large enough to hold the audiences he expected. He (Mr. Marlow) was now the lessee of the two largest theatres in Australia—the Adelphi, in Sydney, and the Princess, in Melbourne.

In the evening the new melodrama, "The Bad Girl of the Family," was successfully produced, as noted in our Amusement column.

THE ROCKCHOPPERS' PICNIC.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—In your report of the above picnic Mr. Tennent, vice-president, in speaking on the subject of day labour, made reference to a job carried out under these conditions at Coogee. He stated that on that job nine men lost their lives through foul air. I wish to give this statement an unqualified denial. As I am the only one who can now reply to that statement (the engineer who was in charge at the time being out of the country, and the inspector since dead), I must say the air supply on this particular job was forced by steam, and also a gas engine, and any miner with experience should know there is no foul air where the air is supplied under these conditions. During the progress of this work Mr. Cutler, now superintendent of the Government Dockyard, and Mr. Hamlet, Government Analyst, tested the air, and found everything satisfactory. One or two men died during the progress of the work, and several others who also worked there died some time after the job was completed, but they were all suffering from the sewer disease previous to being employed there.

I am, etc.,
H. LE BREEZE,
April 4. Ganger on Coogee job.

SOFT, WHITE HANDS OR RED, ROUGH HANDS, WHICH?

Red, rough hands on retiring usually become soft, white hands on rising, through the simple and economical one-night treatment afforded by Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment. Bathe and soak the hands on retiring, in a hot lather of Cuticura Soap. Dry and anoint freely with Cuticura Ointment, and in severe cases spread the ointment on thin pieces of old linen or cotton. Wear during the night old, loose gloves, or a light bandage to protect the clothing. This treatment is most effective for chapped, itching, and bleeding hands, dry, fissured, feverish palms, and shapeless nails, with painful finger-ends. Send for a liberal tin of Cuticura Ointment and the latest book on the care of skin and hair, free, from R. Towns and Co., N.S.W.—Advt.

WORKS DEPARTMENT.

COMMISSION OF INQUIRY.

"OPENING FOR ABUSE."

Acting-Judge Hamilton, sitting as a Royal Commission, yesterday continued the inquiry into several matters relating to the administration of the Public Works Department.

Mr. Armstrong appeared to represent the Minister for Public Works, and Mr. W. D. Loveridge, Public Accountant in the Audit Department, was also present.

William Mitchell, assistant architect, said he was in charge of a number of public buildings in the metropolitan district. The State was divided into 11 such districts. When tenders concerning witness's district were received they were sent to witness for report. He would report to Mr. Vernon, who, in turn, submitted a report to the Reference Board, which consisted of the heads of all the branches in the Works Department. It met once a week. Usually the lowest tender was accepted, but witness had on occasions recommended another tender. Sometimes a tender was so low that the official would know the tenderer could not carry out the work. When a tender was recommended to the Minister for final acceptance it was usually so accepted. When the specifications were prepared a list of p.c. items would also be prepared. They would be first made out in the drawing office, and then submitted to the assistant architect in charge of the work for consultation and agreement. Even when the proportion of p.c. items was a large one in a contract it would not exceed 10 per cent. of the total cost. The contractor was asked from what firm the p.c. items should be selected. Usually the contractor supplied a letter. That practice was desirable, because Mr. Vernon endeavoured to be as fair to the contractors as possible. There were occasions when witness could not get suitable things from the firm nominated by the contractor, and he had gone elsewhere without hesitation. The present practice had been in force ever since witness was connected with the department—over 35 years. An official who took an interest in the buildings over which he had supervision would desire to see that the p.c. items were in accord with the style of the building. Witness had frequently selected a cheaper article when he found it suitable.

Mr. Armstrong: Do you not think that a large number of p.c. items in contracts which have passed through your hands might have easily enough been left to open competition?—I don't think it could be done at all.

Mr. Armstrong: Should not the right course for the department in, say, chimney pots, be to have a list of all varieties prepared, and have a contract made next year, from which you can make a selection?—It would make it very complicated for the department. I think the department officers get good value for p.c. items. I am sure I do.

The witness said the obtaining of articles from annual contracts led to complications. Witness could not order them himself; he had to get them through another official. If he could order direct he could often get the article into the building more quickly, and have the work gone on with.

Acting-Judge Hamilton: That only reflects on the system that is in vogue. There is no reason why it should be so.

Witness said he kept a record of prices of articles for purposes of checking prices. The final papers supplied contained the invoices with the prices of the p.c. items.

But then it all depends in that case on the honesty and loyalty of the supervising architect. Supposing the architect was lax, or not honest, does not the system leave itself open to what is wrong taking place?—I don't think so.

If the architect is willing to be lax, is not this system open to abuse?—If he dealt with firms that are not reputable it might be.

You think inflated invoices mean that a firm is not reputable?—I do, indeed.

It is open to that?—With a dishonest official it is.

Supposing a contractor was paid £100 for p.c. items, and the supplying firm were only paid £90?—I think it would be all right up to 2½ per cent. discount for ready money.

What do you think of the propriety of these large discounts?—I think it is very wrong indeed.

It is simply robbing the Government straight out?—Yes.

Are not these firms just as guilty as the contractor, if there is guilt?—I should think so.

There is a huge margin, and the officer in charge has been deceived as to the value?—Not necessarily.

In the course of further evidence the witness said he had 72 jobs to supervise just now. He had worked on 37 Sundays last year.

Edward Lambert Drew, first-class assistant architect, in charge of the drafting office, said he drew up a list of p.c. items in the specifications, and these were checked and altered by the supervising architect. Witness exercised a supervision over the list. The idea was to reduce the p.c. items as much as possible. Witness welcomed his transfer to the drafting office as much as anything to get rid of the worry of the p.c. sum business. He agreed that there were articles at present made p.c. items that might be included in the annual contract schedule.

Mr. Armstrong: Supposing it were found that a large number of p.c. items were obtained from a particular firm would you make any deduction from it?—I don't see that anything could be deducted from it.

The witness, continuing, said his opinion was that if there was a regulation that the contractor should nominate the firm from which the items were to be bought this trouble would not have arisen. It took a strong man to stand up against the imputations made.

In the absence of the regulation there was an opening for collusion between the Government official and the supplying firm?—In every case the supplying firm is nominated by the contractor. The regulation was framed in the interests of the officer, with the best intentions, but it defeats its own object.

Does not this system of p.c. items, not being open to competition, leave room for abuse?—It will leave room for it.

The inquiry was adjourned till 10 a.m. next day.

SHIRE'S DEBT.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—With reference to Mr. W. E. Johnson's letter in your issue of to-day in regard to the liability of the Sutherland Shire Council for the removal of telegraph poles from the highway. The opinion of a number of residents is that on account of the council altering the footpath it was the council's duty to pay the cost of removal of the telegraph poles. This the department insisted upon, and in the interests of the general public it was perfectly justified in doing.

With regard to the short payment of the sum of 9d made by the council, surely the department, again in the public interest, is quite right in demanding the full amount of the account. If the Sutherland Shire Council can deduct 9d from its account with the department, then other shire councils may do the same, and why should this system stop at a council, as any private person may claim the same privilege.

It is quite evident, notwithstanding Mr. Johnson's taunts at Mr. Thomas, P.M.G., for his supposed bad management of our postal business, that in this instance the department is very much alive and up-to-date.

Can there be anything more surprising than to find a member of Parliament supporting a public body in doing a wrongful act, in the withholding of money due to the department?

With regard to Mr. Thomas offering affront to anyone, I may state that I had to interview him the other day in regard to a local matter, and he treated me in a courteous, gentlemanly manner, indeed. Nothing appeared to be too much trouble, his only desire was to satisfy if possible.

Let Mr. Johnson try his many personal interviews and number of letters with the head of any business in town, and see whether he would not be quickly ordered off the premises. I am, etc.,

March 28. FAIRPLAY.

SUFFERED INTENSE PAIN.

BACKACHE, NEURALGIA, AND GRAVEL.

DR. SHELDON'S GIN PILLS SOON EFFECT A CURE.

"For many months I have suffered with my back. I could not stoop without the most intense pain, and I suffered torments from Neuralgia in the head; also I had Gravel," writes Mrs. Catherine Lennon, 6 Garden-avenue, Glebe, N.S.W. "I tried all sorts of Pills for my back and my head, but could not get any relief. In the condition I was in it was a torture to do my household duties, and got no better until a lady recommended me to try Dr. Sheldon's Gin Pills. These Pills gave me relief at once, and I had not been taking them long before my back was much better, and now I am entirely free of pain in both my back and head, and I feel so much better generally that my household duties have become quite a pleasure to me."

For Backache and all Kidney Troubles, use Dr. Sheldon's Gin Pills. One of these pills contain in a concentrated form all the curative properties of a pint of the finest gin, together with other important ingredients recognised by the medical profession as being remedial agents of the highest value for the kidneys and allied organs. Price, 1/6 and 2/6.—Advt.

EASTERN RUGS AND CARPETS.

There are few houses that cannot boast of one or two of these wonderful rugs or carpets; for in spite of all the advantages of modern machinery and methods, nothing has hitherto been produced that excels the highest grade Oriental Rugs, either in colouring or texture. The great advantage the Eastern Rug has over its Western competitors is threefold—First, taking a high-class Persian as an example, it will last with care a hundred years. Secondly, it is most decorative, when wisely used, and will give the colour keynote to a room of middle tones. Thirdly, it is easily taken up and shaken, and this means that it is clean.

Our new Eastern Showroom is well worth a visit, for we have therein the finest display of

ORIENTAL RUGS, CURTAINS, EMBROIDERIES, ETC.,

in Sydney.

LOOSE COVERS,

Made and Fitted by Experts.

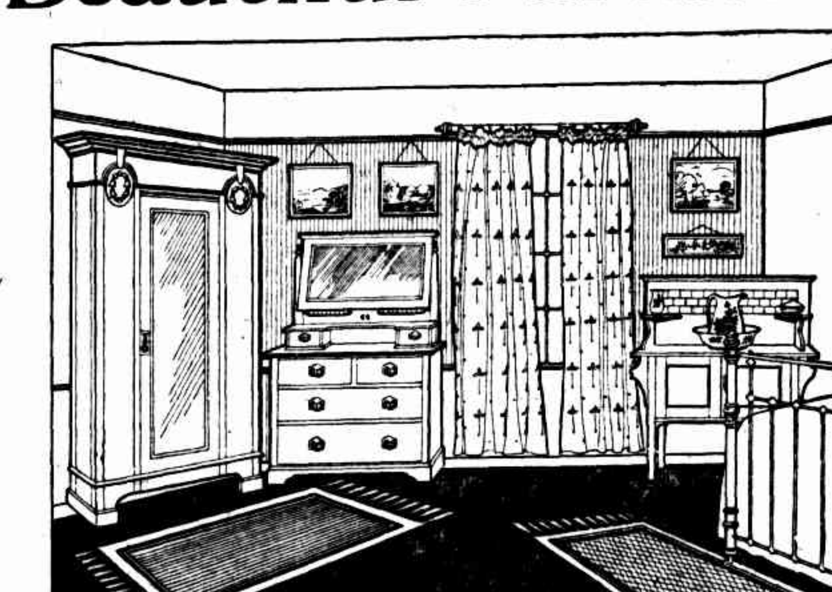

Our stock of Cretonnes and Printed Linens for Loose Covers always embraces the very latest Colourings and Designs. We have just received some of the most beautiful Fabrics we ever handled, in designs both free and conventional.

YOUR FLAT!

You are invited to write to Beard, Watson, Ltd., for designs and suggestions for the economic Furnishing and Decorating of your Flat, Offices, or Chambers. Or better still, pay us a personal visit.

Here you may see thirty-three furnished specimen rooms, which are of great assistance to those without experience in furnishing. You will note with pleasure the finished effect of many harmonious schemes as well as of individual pieces of furniture, just as they will look when placed in your home. You will also be able to compare the complete effect with the total cost before you decide on your plan. At any rate, call and walk through these specimen rooms before you take any definite steps—you will get ideas both as to artistic combination and general cost.

BEARD, WATSON'S Beautiful Furniture

The "Inverell" Bedroom Suite, in Solid Oak, Price Complete £21/10

IF, in the Furnishing of your Bedroom, you would eschew vulgarity and reach out for dignity, repose, grace, and simplicity, you will find what you seek in this Oak Suite, which commends itself to art lovers for the remarkable purity of its design. We have consistently avoided sentimental or sensational display, or that cheaply effective technical dexterity which so many use to put themselves on good terms with the public. We would rather go out of business than pander to the trashy taste of the uneducated and thoughtless furniture buyer. Our furniture is made for lovers of beauty and utility, and to those we offer the "Inverell" Bedroom Suite, which comprises Wardrobe 4ft., with bevelled Mirror Door and generous hanging space; Dressing Chest 3ft. 3in., with Swing Mirror and brass finials, 2 Trinket Drawers, and 4 other Drawers under; Washstand 3ft. 3in., with tiled back, Towel Rail attached, Marble Top, and usual Cupboard accommodation. Complete in Solid well-seasoned Oak, and sold for the reasonable sum of £21/10/-.

IN EQUITY.

(Before Mr. Justice A. H. Simpson, Chief Judge in Equity.)

A STRANGE STORY.

APPLICATION FOR ACCESS TO CHILD.

Re K. M. Augustus, an Infant.

Mr. Ackermann, instructed by Mr. J. J. Carroll, appeared for Isabella Mary Augustus in support of a summons by which Samuel William Edwards and Amy Annie Edwards, his wife, both of Turramurra, were called upon to show cause why an order should not be made directing that applicant should be allowed access one day a week to her infant child, Kathleen Mary Augustus. Mr. Moriarty, instructed by Mr. H. E. M'Intosh, appeared for respondents in opposition to the motion. Applicant, in her affidavit, stated that she was in domestic service, and her child was born on June 3, 1904. About November 27 respondents interviewed her at Newtown, and said they were desirous of adopting an infant, as they had no children of their own. They said that they were of independent means, and possessed considerable property and land at Turramurra, and would therefore be in a position to give the child a good education, and that the child would always be with them, and not entrusted to any other person. Applicant agreed to let them adopt the child on the understanding that she should have the right to visit the infant at any reasonable hour of the day, and an agreement was accordingly drawn up and executed. Since January, 1910, however, she had been refused access to the child. I had ascertained that male respondent was a labourer, and possessed of no means whatever, and that Mrs. Edwards was a charwoman, and when she left home to do work she left the child with some of her neighbours. At the time she made the agreement she was in destitute circumstances, but was now in a position to properly provide for and educate her infant.

Respondent S. W. Edwards had filed a lengthy affidavit, in which he denied that he or his wife ever represented that they were of independent means, or possessed considerable property at Turramurra. The child had always been with them and properly cared for, and had never been entrusted to the care of any other person. No agreement was made with applicant that she should visit the infant. On February 12, 1910, applicant came to his house at Turramurra, and, pleading poverty, was allowed to stay at the house until February 23. During that time she beat the child and threatened to take it to the Lovers' Leap, where she said she would jump over with the child. She further stated that she would poison deponent and his wife and the child, and she thereupon pulled from her stocking a small bottle containing a white substance, and, sprinkling portion of it upon some meat, gave it to a kitten, which died in a few minutes. It was on account of her conduct on that occasion that he refused to allow her again to see the child. He further stated that the child was extremely afraid of applicant, and was rendered ill by her conduct. She also cried when applicant's name was mentioned. In the month of August last applicant assaulted and stabbed his (deponent's) wife, tore a portion of his clothes, and threatened to do him a terrible injury. In consequence of this she was subsequently bound over to keep the peace for six months. He was now a gardener working on property belonging to his wife, and where he resided, and it was not true that Mrs. Edwards worked as a charwoman. When the child was adopted she was almost skin and bone from neglect and starvation. Doctor Sydney Jones, who had attended her, had ordered that she should not be sent to school for the present. Deponent also said that the child was properly looked after and nurtured in every way, and that he believed the application was not made bona-fide, but with the intention of obtaining access to the child, in order to annoy and terrorise her, and to do her or deponent some serious injury.

Applicant was examined and cross-examined, and the summons was then adjourned till Friday next to allow her to file an affidavit in reply to that of Edwards.

A WIDOW'S CLAIM.

Garrett v L'Estrange.

Mr. Russell and Mr. Nicholas, instructed by Messrs. Sullivan and M'Dermott, of Lismore (by their agents, Messrs. M'Evilly and M'Evilly), appeared for the plaintiff; and Mr. Maughan, instructed by Messrs. Bowman and Mackenzie, for the defendant. The plaintiff, Isabella Garrett, widow of the late Joseph Garrett, of Dunoon, near Lismore, farmer, asked for a declaration that a certain additional conditional purchase taken up by testator is her property, subject only to a charge on mortgage by the Bank of New South Wales; and that defendant, Guy Stuart L'Estrange, medical practitioner, of Brisbane, executor of the will of Joseph Garrett, be directed to convey the property to her subject to the mortgage already mentioned. Plaintiff asked alternatively that it might be declared that the lands of the testator were subject to a charge in her favour; and she also prayed for the usual reference to the Master. Defendant, in his statement of defence, said he had already been ready and willing to admit any just claim or demand by plaintiff on satisfactory proof of such claim or demand, but plaintiff had failed to furnish him with such proof, although requested to do so. Defendant also contended that the alleged agreement between plaintiff and her husband, not being in writing, was barred by the provisions of the Statute of Frauds.

The suit is part heard.

PROBATE COURT.

(Before Mr. Justice Street.)

A CHINAMAN'S WILL.

BROTHER CAVEATS.

Oi Lin Muk Sang v Goo Lum Tin.

Mr. Harvey, instructed by Messrs. M'Lachlan and Murray, appeared for plaintiff, Oi Lin Muk Sang, legatee of the will of Goo Tin, late of Trunkey Creek, miner, and moved for an order granting letters of administration to plaintiff. Mr. R. H. L. Innes, instructed by Messrs. Lambton and Milford, appeared for the defendant to oppose the motion. In his statement of claim, the plaintiff stated that at the time of his death the testator was possessed of property in the State, and about the month of February, 1904, he, being then of sound and disposing mind, memory, and understanding, duly executed his last will and testament, which was duly signed and attested, as by law required. Goo Tin did not appoint any executor of his will, but plaintiff was the sole legatee, and the only person named in the will. Goo Tin died at Trunkey Creek on May 13, 1910, without having revoked or altered his will. Plaintiff published the usual notice of his intention to apply for letters of administration of the estate with the will annexed, and about September 28, 1910, defendant filed a caveat against letters of administration being granted to plaintiff. The latter now applied for letters of administration.

Defendant denied that the will produced was the last will and testament of Goo Tin, or that the contents or effect of the same were correctly or sufficiently set forth by the plaintiff. Defendant also stated that he is the lawful brother of the deceased. The will was drawn in Chinese, and had therefore to be translated by an interpreter, whose services were also utilised in connection with the evidence on both sides. The estate consisted mainly of £230 lodged in a Bathurst bank.

The suit is part heard.

BANKRUPTCY COURT.

(Before the Registrar, Mr. F. H. Salusbury.)

MOTION FOR RELEASE.

Re William Seiff. Mr. Macanah appeared for bankrupt. The order of release was granted, the operation of the order as a discharge being suspended for the nominal period of one day on grounds mentioned in the official assignee's report.

MOTION TO DISCHARGE ORDER.

Re Charles Howe Bissaker. The order was made as prayed.

APPLICATION FOR PAYMENT OF DIVIDEND.

Re William Henry Baker. An order was made for payment out of the Treasury to Frederick Sharpe or order the sum of £3 9s 4d, unclaimed dividend.

CERTIFICATE APPLICATIONS.

Re William Thomas Nicholls. Adjourned to April 26.

Re James Gentle. Mr. Taylor appeared for bankrupt. The Registrar found that bankrupt failed to keep usual and proper books, gave undue preference; and while he possibly did not know he was insolvent he continued to trade after he should have been aware of his position. The failure to keep books was, therefore, important in this case. The operation of the order of discharge was suspended for two years.

Re James Martin Stephen. Adjourned to April 19.

Re George Deitz. It was reported that the estate had paid a dividend of 13s 8d in the £. The Registrar said bankrupt failed to keep proper books, and also failed to disclose property after sequestration. The operation of the order of discharge was suspended for two years.

Re Englebert Schwer. Mr. Alfred de Lissa appeared for bankrupt. The Registrar found that bankrupt failed to keep proper books, and that he should not have delayed sequestrating when he lost the appeal to the High Court. He should at least have consulted his creditors. The operation of the order of discharge was suspended for six months.

Re John Hurley. It was reported that bankrupt had been bankrupt on two previous occasions, when the estate did not produce 1s in the £, and that he did not bring a certificate from his creditors. The case, said the Registrar, was apparently one of misfortune, brought about by the maritime strike of 1890. The operation of the order of discharge was suspended for the nominal period of one day.

PUBLIC EXAMINATIONS.

Re Thomas George Valentine Blakey. Adjourned to April 12.

Re John Thomas Caldwell. Adjourned to July 26.

MOTIONS UNDER SECTION 30.

Re Duncan Alick Munro. Adjourned generally.

Re Robert Stewart Lonsdale. Adjourned to April 19.

Re Francis Audley Biggs. Adjourned generally, it being reported that bankrupt cannot be found.

INDUSTRIAL COURT.

(Before Judge Heydon.)

ROCKCHOPPERS AND INSURANCE.

Ryan v O'Brien.

Mr. J. Ryan, secretary of the Rockchoppers' Union, summoned William O'Brien, of Camperdown, for an alleged breach of the Unskilled Labourers' (Water and Sewerage Board contractors) Award, by having, at Mosman, between January 1 and March 16, deducted from the wages of P. O'Brien more than the sum of 2d in the £, or part thereof, for insurance.

Mr. Croft appeared in support of the information, and Mr. R. Branston for defendant.

Mr. Branston took the point that the Workmen's Compensation Act stultified any provision in the award for insurance, the Act really taking such power from the board.

His Honor said Mr. Branston should not come into court and pitch a whole Act of Parliament at his head in that way without anything to support his assertion. That was not a fair way to treat the Court. If Mr. Branston was a solicitor he would speak more strongly. There were good reasons why he should have none but solicitors there. He did not think that the Act was an answer to the information. If the Act did sweep away the power as contended it was perfectly clear that the employer had no justification for deducting 2d in the £ for insurance, so that if Mr. Branston's contention was carried he would be simply showing that the particular defence was taken away. The information set out that Mr. O'Brien had committed a breach of the award by deducting more than 2d in the £ from the wages of an employee. Nothing was said as to the nature of the accidents that were to be dealt with by the insurance fund. In clause 6 of the Act it was provided that the employer should not be liable under it in respect of any injury that did not disable a workman for a period of at least two weeks from earning full wages. Clause 12 of the award said the employer should insure all rockchoppers in his employ against accident. That was very general, and gave no particulars. His Honor said he would hear evidence.

Patrick O'Brien stated that when he worked a full week 9d was deducted from his wages, £3 9s, and the same amount was deducted when he earned only £2 15s 6d.

After hearing defendant,

Mr. Croft, in reply to his Honor, said he did not desire to press for a heavy penalty.

His Honor said if the clause in the award did not protect defendant, then he was not justified in deducting anything from the men's wages, because the award said he must pay so much; and if he paid less than that he was violating the award. But if he had to fall back on the clause he could only rely on it as far as it went. It could not carry him any further. Supposing he (his Honor) held later that the insurance clause was outside the award, then defendant would not be justified in deducting anything from the men's wages; so one way or another defendant had made a mistake. However, he intended to impose a nominal fine only. The clause was a reasonable one in itself. It was so much more convenient for an employer to insure the men than for the men to insure themselves. He thought that what defendant had better do for the present was to assume that the clause in the award was a good one, and go on deducting 2d in the £; and when an accident occurred to pay the employee half wages for the first fortnight.

Defendant was fined 1s, or 24 hours' imprisonment, and was ordered to pay £1 1s costs.

SUMMONS FOR PENALTY.

Fuchs v Francis.

Mr. Croft appeared for plaintiff; and Mr. Perry, instructed by Mr. P. K. White, for the respondent. This was a summons issued by Myrtle Fuchs, of Pitt-street, Sydney, against Christopher Francis, licensee of the Gresham Hotel, corner of York and Druitt streets, Sydney, calling upon him to show cause why he should not be ordered to pay plaintiff £20 1s 3d, being the amount of balance alleged to be due to her in respect of the award of the Hotel, Club, and Restaurant Employees' Board. The claim was one for overtime at the rate of time and a half, viz., 214 hours at 1s 10½d per hour. Plaintiff said she was engaged by defendant as working housekeeper at a salary of £4 per week. She had worked the time stated.

The defence was that the award did not apply to plaintiff, who was manageress of the hotel. It was also contended for the defence that plaintiff was precluded from seeking redress in this court, as she had already instituted proceedings in the Supreme Court in respect of the same claim.

His Honor dismissed the case.

BAKING BOARD.

It was reported that Mr. John Lamb had resigned his membership of the Baking (Newcastle Bakers') Board, and that Mr. James Scott had been nominated in his place.

His Honor accepted the nomination.

DISTRICT COURT.

(Before Judge Backhouse.)

DISPUTE ABOUT FODDER.

Gray Brothers, Ltd., v Dalton Brothers.

Mr. Pickburn, instructed by Messrs. Sly and Russell, appeared for the plaintiffs; and Mr. Harry Stephen, instructed by Messrs. Curtiss and Barry, for the defendants. This was an action brought by Gray Brothers, of Sussex-street, against Dalton Brothers, of Day-street, to recover £25 for alleged breach of agreement for the delivery of 300 bales of fodder at £58 12s 6d. Plaintiffs' case was that defendants had delivered 83 bales short of the quantity stipulated for in the contract, and that they had been deprived of the profits which would have accrued to them by the sale of the quantity short delivered.

Defendant company did not deny the existence of a contract, but said it was not as stated by the plaintiffs, and that plaintiffs were not ready and willing to carry out their part of the contract.

His Honor reserved judgment.

THE CONDUCTOR AND THE MOTOR-CAR.

Clark v Hasforth.

Mr. Hammond and Mr. Perry, instructed by Mr. P. K. White, appeared for the plaintiff; and Mr. W. A. Walker, instructed by Mr. E. R. Abigail, for the defendant. This was an action brought by Alfred George Clark, tram conductor, against Louis Hasforth, described as a butcher, to recover compensation for injuries sustained by plaintiff through being knocked down by a motor car driven by the defendant. The case for the plaintiff was that on the morning of November 16 last he was in charge of a tram bound to Waterloo from Sydney, and upon reaching the stopping-place at the corner of Wellington and Elizabeth streets, Waterloo, he got down in order to ring the "bundy" clock. Immediately afterwards a motor car driven by the defendant came up on the wrong side of the road and struck him, knocking him violently on to the roadway. He was badly bruised, and also sustained injury to the kidneys. He was laid up for some weeks, and said he was still suffering from the injury. He contended that the accident was due to the defendant's negligence, and claimed £100.

Defendant pleaded not guilty, and said that on the day of the accident he was running parallel with the tram, and was slowing down at the time, when the plaintiff suddenly jumped from the tram while it was moving, and the lamp of the motor car caught him in the back. At that time the motor car was not going more than five miles an hour, and he gave the usual warning as soon as he saw plaintiff. When the motor car struck plaintiff witness put on the brake, and stopped the car within 6ft. In cross-examination, defendant said that there was nothing to prevent him from passing the tram on his right side of the road, but there was more room on the other. Charles Miller, manager of the Sydney Soap and Candle Works, who was an occupant of the motor car at the time at the accident gave corroborative evidence, and said that when plaintiff was seen defendant sounded a warning, and he (witness) also shouted out. Witness stated further that he heard plaintiff say it was his own fault. A passenger who was travelling in the tram gave a similar account of the accident.

His Honor gave a verdict for the defendant.

CENTRAL CRIMINAL COURT.

(Before Mr. Acting Justice Ferguson and a jury.)

Mr. Herbert Harris, Crown Prosecutor.

CHARGE AGAINST A NURSE.

Maisie Richards pleaded not guilty to a charge of having on January 11 used an instrument to Bessie Williams, with intent.

Mr. J. C. Gannon, K.C., instructed by Mr. F. Gannon, appeared in support of the defence.

The Crown case was to the effect that Miss Bessie Williams, who was employed at Kensington, met the accused at a house in Victoria-street, Darlinghurst. She knew the accused by the name of Nurse White. The outcome of the visit was that an appointment was made, and on January 11 Miss Williams called at accused's house. On that occasion the alleged offence was committed. The next morning Miss Williams was seized with pains, and had subsequently to be removed to the Coast Hospital.

For the defence, accused said she had had a lengthy experience as a nurse. She had known Miss Williams for about two years. She denied in detail the accusations made in support of the prosecution. At no time had she used an instrument or in any way interfered with Miss Williams. On the night of January 11 she was at Watson's Bay with some friends, and did not see Miss Williams. When she was consulted, she advised Miss Williams to go to a doctor.

The jury, after an absence of about a minute, returned a verdict of not guilty. The foreman said that the jury was of the unanimous opinion that there was not the slightest doubt or suspicion of a stain on the good character of the accused.

His Honor said he was quite in accord with the verdict.

The accused was acquitted.

QUARTER SESSIONS.

(Before Judge Murray and a jury.)

Mr. C. A. White, Crown Prosecutor.

A MIDNIGHT EPISODE.

Joseph Fitch, a young man, pleaded not guilty to a charge of having, on February 18, broken and entered the dwelling-house of Emily Patterson, at Sydney, with intent to steal.

Mr. James P. Jones appeared for the defence.

Evidence was given in support of the Crown case by Mrs. Emily Patterson. At the time of the alleged offence witness was nursing her husband, who had been seriously ill for about five weeks. He was sleeping in a front downstairs room of their residence, 115 Abercrombie-street, Redfern. Some time after midnight on the day in question witness was asleep in a chair by the bedside. She was suddenly aroused by a man entering the room through the window. As soon as he was in the room another man outside closed the shutters of the window. Witness was at first too frightened to speak, but, overcoming her fears, she asked him what he wanted. He made no reply, but rushed towards a waistcoat that was hanging up, in the pocket of which was a watch and chain. Witness then caught hold of him. He struggled, and hit her on the chest. Immediately afterwards he got through the window. Going to the front door, she saw a man like accused standing on the street with another man.

At the time he entered the room a dim light was burning, but it was quite sufficient for witness to distinguish the man's features. When he first got through the window he walked on his toes towards the door, as though intending to lock it. Her husband had suffered from a weak heart for years.

For the defence, Fitch made a statement from the dock to the effect that he was not near the place at the time of the alleged offence. He recounted in detail his movements from the time he had left work at 5 o'clock until he went to bed at 11.30 p.m. From the time till 5.30 o'clock the next morning he did not leave the house. He had lived in the district nearly all his life, and it was not reasonable to suppose that he would commit such an offence.

The jury returned a verdict of not guilty.

A PLEA OF GUILTY.

Cyril Wyman pleaded guilty to a charge of having, at Auburn, on February 12, broken and entered, in company with another person, the shop of Norma Brampton, and stolen 100 packets of cigarettes and other articles.

Mr. Murray Prior, instructed by Mr. A. H. Delohery, appeared for the accused. Evidence of character was called.

Accused was sentenced to six months' imprisonment with hard labour in Goulburn Gaol. The sentence was suspended on accused entering into recognisances in £10 to be of good behaviour for 12 months. He was ordered to pay, by way of compensation, the sum of £4 4s, within six months in default, imprisonment with hard labour in Goulburn Gaol for two months.

LAND APPEAL COURT.

(Before the President, Mr. H. A. G. Curry, and Commissioners Brandis and Houston.)

The Court was held at Commercial Bank-chambers, George-street. Mr. Hanbury Davies appeared for the Minister.

Decisions were reserved in the following conversion applications:—G. U. Styles, A. Allen, J. G. Beddie, T. A. Turner, and C. Bauert.

E. J. Murray's appeal against the Molong board's decision in respect of his application for permission to fulfil the condition of residence attaching to his h.a. No. 1910-8 on his father's freehold portion, No. 132, was dismissed. There was no appearance for appellant.

The Court delivered its reserved decision in the reference by the Minister in respect of Walter Stanley Hay's application to convert his s.l. No. 904 Armidale into an c.c.p. and a.c.l.

The respondent held a s.l. of 6610 acres, and applied to convert 6015 acres into c.p., and the balance into c.l. holdings. The s.l. was taken up at 10s per acre capital value, but at the date of the conversion application it was valued at 13s 4d per acre. At the latter rate 4500 acres represented the area which, under section 5 of the 1908 Act, might be converted into c.l. land. The board allotted this area as a c.p., and 2110 acres as a c.l., but it happened that 4468 acres were measured for the purchase. The applications were confirmed for these areas. The board defined the c.l. area convertible into a c.p. land at 1532 acres. The Minister referred the case to the Court, claiming that the value of the land at the date of conversion application was in excess of the value at which it was set apart for settlement lease, and submitted that the board should not have held that an area of 1532 acres of the c.l. might be converted into a.c.p. land. The President said that the Court held that the rate at which the land was originally set apart with not the governing rate, and that although an area under c.p. and c.l. might be held, although exceeding £3000 in value, the area that could be obtained by c.p. original and additional must be kept down to £3000 in value. The provisions of section 25 of the 1889 Act must be read as affected by those of section 5 of the 1908 Act in a case arising under the latter section. The reference must be sustained, and the case remitted to the board for reconsideration.

In a reference by the Minister for determination respecting an application by E. H. J. Stevenson to convert his s.l., No. 605, Dubbo district, into a c.p. and a c.l., the Court said that the Minister's grounds of reference were that the 2400 acres allotted by the board in satisfaction of the c.p. and c.l. was at the rate of 25s per acre, which was the price at which the s.l. was notified, whereas the value at the date of the conversion application was in excess of that amount. The merits seemed to the Court to depend on the interpretation to be placed on the board's finding. The Court took it that the board meant that the whole of the c.l. could be converted into a c.p., and the Minister claimed that it was wrong, as the evidence justified an appraisement at 27s 6d per acre. The case should be remitted to the board for appraisement and reconsideration. The whole matter might come up when the applications came on for confirmation, but in the meantime the board's decision, if the Court interpreted it correctly, should not be taken as settling the two questions at issue:—First, what was the capital value at the date of the conversion application; and second, what quantity of the c.l. could be converted into an a.c.p.? Mr. Coffey, instructed by Messrs. Booth and Samuels, of Dubbo, appeared for respondent.

The Minister referred to the Court an application by Matthew Ingle Browne to have added to improvement lease No. 866, Coonabarabran, an area of 399¾ acres. Mr. Pike, instructed by Mr. Rogers, of Coonabarabran, appeared for respondent. The Court said that inasmuch as the final decision rested with the Minister it would be in the interests of all the parties to return the matter to the board, but, having regard to an expression of opinion by the chairman, that the case should be so returned, the Court would suggest, without reflecting upon the chairman, that another board should deal with the case.

J. B. Meppem appealed against the decision of the Narrabri Board in respect of his application to acquire by transfer Miles Coleman jun.'s s.l., No. 1908-6. Mr. Pike, instructed by Messrs. Stirton and Moodie, appeared for appellant. The appeal was sustained, and the board directed to grant the application.

POLICE COURTS.

WILFUL RETENTION OF REGISTERED PARCEL.

William Taylor, 28, was charged at the Water Police Court on Wednesday, before Mr. Love, S.M., with having wilfully retained a registered parcel, the property of the Postmaster-General. Detective Mitchell, of the Postal Department, stated that on March 22 last the accused called at the G.P.O. and inquired if there was any registered article there for William Taylor. A parcel was then handed to him, containing a pair of lady's combs, sent from Melbourne. A trap was then laid by addressing another article to William Taylor. When accused next called it was discovered that his right name was Ford. Accused said that he was expecting a registered letter, and when he got the parcel he thought it was for him. On the application of Detective Mitchell sentence was suspended, though accused was convicted of the offence, to enable further inquiries to be made concerning accused.

EMBEZZLING SHIPS' STORES.

Charles Barrow, 34, and Carl Frederickson, 51, were charged at the Water Police Court on Wednesday, before Mr. Love, S.M., with having, while engaged as seamen on the steamer Georgic, embezzled a quantity of ship's stores, including 5cwt of white zinc, 5cwt of white-lead, 5cwt of stone lead, and a coil of Manilla rope, valued in all at £29 12s 6d, the property of John Roberts, the master of the steamer. After the accused were handed over to the police by the chief officer Barrow said to Senior-constable Harold, of Pyrmont, that he was responsible for the job, and that Frederickson had had no hand in it. It was stated that Frederickson had charge of the ship's storeroom, where the lead and zinc were kept. A quantity of lead and zinc was missed, as was some rope. Other evidence was given that when taxed with the offence Barrow said that his wages were not sufficient, and he took the articles because he wanted extra pocket money. The stern of the vessel was examined, and clots of whitelead and zinc were noticeable, and the rope was there. A pulling-boat with two men in it was noticed pulling away in the darkness. Accused Frederickson, the storekeeper of the vessel, denied all knowledge of the articles enumerated in the charge. He took no part in removing the articles from the store, the key of which at night-time was left in the lamproom, which was open to anyone. Accused Barrow, boatswain on the vessel, said that he knew nothing about the lead or zinc, but admitted that he said he intended to pass the rope over the stern to add to his pocket money, as his pay was small. Both were convicted, and each was sentenced to eight weeks' imprisonment, Barrow being ordered to forfeit £3 11s 5d, and Frederickson £2 14s 6d from their wages.

SLY GROG-SELLING.

Before Mr. Love, S.M., on Wednesday, at the Water Police Court, Cecil Parker, 38, was charged with having, not being the holder of a license under the Liquor Act, nor the agent of the holder of a license, sold beer at 128 Dowling-street on Sunday last, contrary to the provisions of the Act. Accused pleaded guilty. It was stated that the police instructed a man to visit the premises to see if he could buy some beer, and gave him money for the purpose. Later he returned with a bottle of beer. When the premises were searched 32 bottles of beer were found there. A fine of £30 was imposed, or in default two months' imprisonment with hard labour.

PIGS IN A BACK YARD.

Daniel Brebston, a resident of Chippendale, was on Wednesday at the Central Summons Court, before Mr. Barnett, S.M., proceeded against, at the instance of Inspector Lloyd, of the City Council, for permitting matter to remain on his premises from which an offensive smell arose. The evidence was that defendant kept seven pigs in a kind of woodhouse in the back of his premises. There were about two inches of filth on the floor, and the pigs were covered with it. The premises were a private dwellinghouse. Defendant pleaded guilty, and was fined 20s, or seven days.

THE CASTLEREAGH-STREET DISTURBANCE.

At the Central Police Court on Wednesday, before Mr. Maitland, D.S.M., Arthur Murphy, Alexander Fulton, and Robert O'Neil, three young men, were charged with having behaved riotously in Castlereagh-street on March 31. All three pleaded guilty. Constable Thorpe informed the Court that on the night in question a free fight was in progress in Castlereagh-street. Murphy was very excited, and in the scuffle witness was struck several times by Murphy. It was not a serious assault. Fulton and O'Neil were also charged with having used bad language on the same occasion. Both pleaded guilty.

Sergeant Mankey informed the magistrate that Murphy had been previously fined for assaulting a constable, but he did not know anything against the other accused. Each accused was fined 2s for riotous behaviour; Fulton and O'Neil were each fined 40s, or 21 days, for the language, and Murphy £10, or two months, for the assault.

Mr. Maitland remarked that the assault on the constable under the circumstances might have been a more serious matter, and had it not been for Sergeant Mankey giving Murphy an otherwise good character accused would not have had the benefit of an option.

CHRIST CHURCH, SYDNEY.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—The wise man has remarked, "There is a time to speak, and a time to observe silence." To please Archbishop Wright, churchmen have observed a rigid silence concerning the affairs of this once peaceful but now unfortunate parish.

From October last the important position of rector has been vacant. The parochial nominators have used all honourable methods to appoint a London priest of very great ability a rector, but alas! the parochial nominators are unable to meet the diocesan nominators. Two of the latter appear to be unable to attend. More recently the two diocesan nominators have resigned their position, and with the practical result it has never been possible to form a quorum. It now becomes the duty of the standing committee of the Sydney synod to appoint two diocesan nominators. It is easy to name the class of men they will appoint; hence it is probable the Archbishop will within two months become sole patron of Christ Church, and of a necessity his appointment of rector will be somewhat deplorable. Happily the people provide the stipend.

For a period of 25 years three months, ended Lady-day (March 25), the lawful vestments as mentioned in the Book of Common Prayer have been in use at Christ Church, and with the sanction of Bishop Barry, and the great scholar Archbishop Smith. The use of the authorised vestments at the Holy Eucharist represents a very great principle. Indeed, the principle is so vast that the future priest at Christ Church who declines to make use of the lawful vestments will receive grave tribulations.

Unless Archbishop Wright is prepared to recognise his grave error, the early morn of Wednesday in Easter week (April 19) will be the last time in the diocese of Sydney when the services of the Church of England will be performed in this city in strict accord with the direction published in the Book of Common Prayer. The outlook is very sad, and of a necessity the diocese will greatly suffer. Some six months back the Archbishop enforced a like policy on a certain church in this diocese, and with the logical result, the church is on a rapid decline. The former zeal has departed. The authorities are not happy.

If the policy of Archbishop Wright is correct, very certain his predecessors, Bishop Barry and Archbishop Smith, committed error by giving their sanction to the use of proper vestments at Christ Church.

The public will decide who acted fairly, and when vestments depart from Christ Church the diocese will sustain a loss. Orthodox churchmen are now about to prove their strength. On our side we have devotion and also learning. I am, etc.,

PILES CURED.

Mr. F. W. Martin, Hastings, Despointes-street, Marrickville, says:—"For about twelve months I was tortured with Itching Piles. The pain and irritation nearly drove me mad. I consulted a doctor, and used Pile remedies, but could not get permanent relief. I heard that Doan's Ointment was good, and decided to try it. After a few applications I felt better, and when the third pot was finished I was perfectly cured. I recommend all those who suffer with Piles to use Doan's Ointment, as I am sure it will cure in every single instance." For sale by all chemists and storekeepers at 2s 9d per pot, or will be posted by Foster-McClellan Co., 76 Pitt-street, Sydney. But be sure you get DOAN'S.—Advt.

How Do You Judge a Flannelette?

By the appearance, the feel—and the price? Very good. But, unfortunately, few women are sufficiently acquainted with the technical details of cotton manufacture to rely on their own judgment alone. This emphasises the necessity of buying according to standards THAT ARE KNOWN TO BE ACCURATE, backed by a trade-mark that guarantees quality and ensures the best that can be woven. This unfailing guide is the stamp of OSMAN, which appears on the selvedge of the best flannelette.

"Osman" Guarantee.

Flannelette bearing the "Osman" trade-mark on the selvedge is guaranteed, and should your purchase not prove satisfactory we authorise the merchant who sold it to replace the material used in any garment free of cost, provided the damage has not been caused by unfair treatment.

"Osman" Flannelettes

are sold by the leading drapers and storekeepers everywhere. Always insist on getting them, and be careful to see the name "Osman" on the selvedge. Should you have any difficulty in procuring locally, write to "Osman," Box 480, G.P.O., Sydney, and patterns will be immediately sent you.

"OSMAN" NEEDLEWORK COMPETITION.—282 PRIZES—VALUE OVER £350. Send us your name and address. Everybody has a chance of securing a valuable prize. There are various classes, including one for girls under 16 years of age. Send a postcard to-day to "Osman," Box 480, Sydney, saying: "Send particulars of Osman Needlework Competition." Write NOW.

LOCAL GOVERNMENT.

OUR STATE SYSTEM.

MUNICIPALISM AT WORK.

THE MINISTER AND THE SHIRES.

The new Minister for Works has been talking plainly to some of the shires which have approached him for endowments. It seems a singular thing that shires which have not exhausted their own rating powers should seek to milk the State cow, while their own reserves are not drawn upon. It is a remarkable throw-back to the old system of roads and bridges politics, when the departments in Sydney were regarded as an inexhaustible reservoir of borrowed money, which could be tapped at will by an adroit roads and bridges member of Parliament. The visit of a Minister was, in the old days, an orgie of request and promise. The residents of the districts through which he passed dined and wined him, killed their fattest turkeys, and brought out their oldest vintages; then, while the local member stood smilingly by, they preferred their requests, which varied from a culvert to cost £30 to a railway or a breakwater to cost a couple of millions sterling. As the Minister was supposed to be the guardian of a store-house of borrowed money—those were the days of enormous loans—the local gifts were believed to be bestowable at his caprice, or according to the influence brought to bear upon him by the local member.

A CHANGED SPIRIT.

It would appear that Mr. Griffith declines to revive this system of patronage. He showed that one shire, which rated itself one penny in the £ to bring in an income of £1500, received an endowment of £8500. As the shire rating limit is 2d in the £ on the unimproved capital value, what more natural than that the Minister should point out that the imposition of another penny in the £ would double the funds available for local requirements? Its present fund, from rates and endowments, is £10,000 per annum, and this could be made into £20,000 if the council had sufficient enterprise to rate the residents of the district up to the amount of the limit. The plea put in by one representative that the rate of 1d really meant more comparatively because the land was overvalued could not be considered a valid one. The owners whose lands are valued have the right to appeal against the valuations before the proper assessment courts. It must be presumed: (1) If they did not do so they were satisfied with their valuations and their properties; or (2) if they did appeal, and the court fixed the assessments, then, there could not have been an over-valuation. This is the first time that there has been occasion in this column to criticise the attitude of a shire. Hitherto the shires have been extolled for their independence, their self-respect, and their initiative. The present instance is one which cannot be considered representative of the feeling in the shires generally, and the Minister was, therefore, justified in using the harsh terms which he applied to the deputation from the Hastings Shire.

• • • • •

A NEW SYSTEM OF VALUATION.

The proposal which will shortly come before Parliament, in the shape of a provision for the creation of a general valuation department throughout the State, will deal with the troubles referred to above. If there is a separate and independent State department valuing lands scientifically, and without regard to local or individual interests, then its valuations can be availed of by all who have the right to seek knowledge of land values. Thus, when once the books of the State Valuation Department are made up, the valuations will be available for State, Federal, municipal, shire, and other purposes. Private speculators seeking to buy lands will be able, doubtless, to refer to the official valuations, and check the demands of sellers. The various tenants of the Crown will be placed in a far better position than they are to-day by having a proper scientific valuation of their lands; for under present conditions provision appears to be made for the increase of land values, but there is no provision to allow for decrease of such values where it occurs. Nevertheless a decrease can often be shown, owing to the peculiar circumstances of the case. This is one of the most useful proposals made in the municipal sphere since the Local Government Act of 1906, and its benefits are wider than merely the ambit of local government.

• • • • •

THE CITIZENS' CONVENTION.

The Greater Sydney proposal has now been definitely adopted by the State Government, and this has given much satisfaction to those who have felt for years that Sydney should adjust its civic government to its altered conditions, and realise its commercial greatness and the obsolete civic machinery which operates on the area. One question is now occupying the minds of the citizens, and that is—are the citizens to be consulted and allowed to thresh out the problems, or will the Government impose a cut and dried scheme upon the city without a discussion in a properly elected convention? The matter is important. Of course, the final settlement rests with Parliament; but Parliament would, it might naturally be expected, seek light and leading from the citizens themselves. After years of discussion it has been recognised that the convention of citizens, to discuss all phases of the question, such as powers, finance, extent of territory, form of constitution (whether unified or federal), ought to be called together. Behind the convention movement stand the press and the public, so far as the public have manifested any interest in the subject. To ignore this feeling and deny the citizens the right to consult on the matter would be a mistake which would bring a storm of criticism upon the Government. It is therefore to be hoped that the universally accepted convention idea will be applied to both Sydney and Newcastle before Parliament pronounces on the question finally.

• • • • •

THE HARD-WORKED CLERK.

In appears that, in addition to the herculean labours of the shire and municipal clerk, which have often been enumerated herein, that useful functionary often has to put up with a considerable amount of hectoring from some aldermen or councillors. After he has carefully attended to the administration of his office and to the points in connection with the numerous Acts of Parliament which concern the government of his area, he then has to be something of a diplomat in his relations with the Mayor and aldermen. It can safely be said that the relations of the aldermen with the staffs are almost invariably warm and friendly, but there are instances in which an individual alderman has taken it upon himself to "bait" the officials, and this has led to resignations in more than one case recently. This attitude by individuals should be resented by the general body of members of the councils, as it is their duty to protect their officials from capricious treatment by any one of their number.

LOCAL GOVERNMENT STATISTICS.

This month, April, finds the local government statistics available from the Statistician's office; but again the complaint of former years must be made, viz., that the information is not up to date. The information given is no later than the 31st December, 1909. One naturally expects that the statistics of the year ended December, 1909, would be available and published by April, 1910; but here we are in April, 1911, and the 1909 statistics are the latest supplied to us. Although the information is stale, it is nevertheless interesting. For example, in a comparison of the progress of Sydney over a series of years, it is shown that the I.C.V. of the city of Sydney has advanced from £44,889,000 in 1905 to £50,948,340 in 1909; truly a splendid increase. The city fund (revenue) in the same period has increased from £208,000 to £360,000, while the sinking fund has been raised from £152,000 to £220,621. In the New South Wales municipalities the I.C.V. has increased in one year from £101,226,066 to £101,689,075. It is remarked in a report of the Statistician that the figures are incomplete, inasmuch as Balranald and Broken Hill have supplied no information during the period treated. It will be noted that while in the city of Sydney and in the country municipalities the assets exceed the liabilities by a substantial sum, in the suburban municipalities there is an excess of liabilities over assets of £434,172. The discrepancy was reduced by £24,600 during the year 1909, which is encouraging so far as it goes.

THE HEALTH SOCIETY.

The Health Society of New South Wales has long been noted for valuable work in regard to the spread of knowledge on the important questions of public health. The ladies whose membership is predominant in the management of this society act as honorary health inspectors, and as propagandists in regard to the health of the public generally, and in regard to mothers and children in particular. The society has done good work in pointing out to the local and Governmental authorities in city and suburbs ways in which public health and convenience may be served. It is thus responsible for more effective street watering, for better supervision of food; and a number of lectures on hygienic subjects had been delivered under its auspices during the year. Its efforts are worthy of praise, and have proved highly beneficial to the encouragement of the growth of a civic conscience in public health matters among a wider class of our citizens.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS.

Jas. A.: The question has been answered before, but it may be recapitulated again. Rates have to be made and levied during the first three months of the year, but the time may be extended in any area by the Governor, by proclamation, for valuations, estimates, or rates, on valid reasons being given. The procedure as to "making" the rate consists of (1) the passing of a resolution by the council fixing the amount of the rate; (2) the confirmation of such resolution by a subsequent meeting within a month. If there were irregularities you should consult your legal adviser as to the course which ought to be pursued.

On the same subject "Alderman" writes: In ordinance (Municipalities) No. 5, sec. 31, it is stated that: 'A resolution to make and levy a rate shall not be operative until confirmed at a subsequent meeting of the council, held within a month after such resolution is passed.' To confirm the resolution to make and levy a rate, is it necessary to pass a specific resolution to that effect, or is the ordinary confirmation of the minutes of the meeting at which such resolution to make a rate was passed sufficient? My council contends it is. I do not think so. It seems to me that the "confirmation" of the resolution to make and levy a rate should be something of the nature of a "second reading," when it might be again discussed if necessary. If the ordinary confirmation of the minutes be all that is required then this "second reading" is of no avail, as the minutes cannot be discussed, except as to their accuracy. It would interest a good many to see this question ventilated in your columns.

It is clear this correspondent is right, and the council wrong. A motion confirming the minutes means nothing more than that the council agrees that those minutes are a correct record of what transpired at the last meeting. To complete the "making and levying" of the rate, there must be a specific motion of confirmation. Somebody must move in something like this form:—"I move that the resolution of —— date be confirmed." A debate would probably be in order upon the general policy of the rate, on this confirmation motion being moved.

THE PORT OF NEWCASTLE.

QUARTERLY TRADE RETURNS.

COMPARISON WITH STRIKE PERIOD.

NEWCASTLE, Wednesday.

The returns supplied by Mr. W. Bethune, Sub-Collector of Customs, showing the trade at the port of Newcastle for the quarter ended March 31, indicated increases on the figures for the same period of last year. Comparisons in this respect, however, do not indicate the true progress of the port, as the big coal strike did not terminate until March 14, 1910. The coal export for the quarter this year shows an increase of 624,226 tons, representing a value of £313,292. When it is understood, however, that the mines were idle most of the quarter last year, and that the total export for that period was only 177,009 tons, it is evident that the figures do not allow of a satisfactory comparison. The stoppage of the mines affected the whole of the trade of the port, and this accounts for the increase in the returns.

The total value of exports from the port for the first quarter of the present year was £505,442, as against £169,573 for the same period last year. The total value of exports, other than coal, in 1911 was £87,619, as against £65,042 in 1910. Preserved meats and timber showed the biggest increases. In the first quarter of 1910 no preserved meats were exported; while for the same period this year the total export was 289,880lb. The export of timber this year was 925,229 superficial feet, as against 186,340 superficial feet last year. There were decreases this year in the bullion exported, a fact which is due to the recent strike at the sulphide works at Cockle Creek. The figures were: Gold, 1157oz 1911, 2962oz 1910; silver, 20,728oz 1911, 41,572oz 1910; lead, 6040cwt 1911, 14,150cwt 1910. The return of the coal exports for the quarter showed that 801,235 tons, valued at £417,822 were exported this year, as against 177,009 tons, valued at £104,531 last year, giving an increase this year of 624,226 tons, valued at £313,292.

The coal was taken as follows:—Victoria, 131,279 tons in 1911, and 46,292 tons in 1910; South Australia, 143,465 tons 1911, 27,787 tons 1910; New Zealand, 75,682 tons 1911, 8906 tons 1910; Tasmania, 32,519 tons 1911, 8600 tons 1910; Western Australia, 25,985 tons 1911, 7502 tons 1910; Queensland, 18,035 tons 1911, 100 tons 1910; Chili, 115,557 tons 1911, 21,427 tons 1910; United States, 67,131 tons 1911, 20,696 tons 1910.

The number of vessels entering and departing from the port for the quarter showed that in 1911 373 vessels, of a total of 689,938 tons, entered the port, as against 171 vessels, of 204,150 tons, in 1910. In 1911 351 vessels, representing 646,521 tons, left, as against 137 vessels, of 259,291 tons, in 1910.

The returns of revenue collected during the quarter showed a total of £53,190 15s 5d in 1911, as against £41,572 18s 11d last year.

The return showing the value of oversea imports for the quarter gave a total of £226,215 for 1911, as against £163,779 in 1910, the increase being £62,436.

THE BONDI CASE.

DEATH OF A WOMAN.

"SURROUNDED WITH GRAVE SUSPICION."

The inquiry into the circumstances attending the death of Mary Langley, or Mary Lane, 25, who died at Rockley, Imperial-avenue, Bondi, on February 12, was concluded at the City Coroner's Court yesterday. The police had asked for an order to exhume the body, which had been interred on February 14. The request was granted, and exhumation was made on the day after burial.

Mr. Mant, of the Crown Law Office, appeared to watch proceedings for the police; and Mr. J. W. Abigail, for Dr. Hargreaves Harris Halls Hanson.

Mr. William [illegible] Hamlet, Government Analyst, said that on March 3 Detective Roche handed him various documents. One was a medical certificate, consisting of written and printed matter. The former was written with a steel pen and ink containing aniline green. Another document was a prescription, with both written and printed matter. The writing was done with a steel pen and a blue-black ink, similar to Simpson's or to Stephen's. The two inks compared were certainly dissimilar.

The Coroner, in summing up, said that the evidence of Dr. Hanson that he did not thoroughly examine deceased while living was in his opinion very unsatisfactory. He had had the opportunity of examining the body after death, and before giving a certificate, but did not avail himself of it. Moreover, the certificate attributed death to a disease of which she did not die. The whole case was surrounded with the gravest suspicion, and the principal witnesses had contradicted each other in important particulars. He found that deceased died from septicaemia, following a certain event, but more than that the evidence adduced did not enable him to say.

LAUNCHING OF THE WARREGO.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—Senator Pearce is reported to have said, at the above function, that "Australia is faced with the responsibility of manning the fleet." Now, in case of emergency or trouble, pending the efficient manning of the fleet, and even afterwards, who will be called upon to do so? The firemen and sailors of the Seamen's Union of Australia. Then would it not have been a decent thing to invite the officers of that union to the luncheon? But it is always the way. We seamen are soon forgotten, no doubt owing to not having a fighting representative in the State Parliament. I was dumbfounded to find that both a Federal and State Labour Ministry should have overlooked us, but they didn't forget the Public servants and their wives, who apparently got the day off without any trouble. I am, etc.,

JOHN SCOTLAND,
Secretary F.S.U., N.S.W. Branch.

Dr. Sheldon's New Discovery quickly relieves Bronchitis and all Throat and Chest troubles. Obtainable everywhere. Price 1s 6d and 3s.—Advt.

THE BILLENBAH TRAGEDY.

TWO YOUTHS ON TRIAL.

HAY, Wednesday.

At the Circuit Court this morning, before Mr. Justice Gordon, two youths, William Francis Millar and Reginald Clare, each aged 17 years, were charged with having, at Billenbah, on January 28, feloniously and maliciously murdered Sarah Warby. Mr. J. F. McManamey, instructed by Mr. J. Hanlin, of the Crown Solicitor's Office, appeared for the Crown; and Mr. George Martin, instructed by Mr. Alexander, for Millar; and Mr. Sydney Mack, instructed by Mr. Wilkinson, for Clare. The accused challenged seven jurors.

The Crown Prosecutor, in opening the case, stated that the accused were employed at Billenbah, a farming and grazing property, near Whitton and Narrandera. Millar was engaged principally in rabbiting, and Clare principally with work about the homestead. On the day in question the two accused, Mrs. Warby, her daughter, and an employee named John Dunn had been together at the homestead. Dunn left shortly before 2 o'clock, and remained at his work ploughing some distance from the homestead until Clare came running to him about 3.30 o'clock, and told him a story. Each of the two accused had made statements, and each of them accused the other. When the Sub-inspector of Police arrived with a doctor from Narrandera they found the body of Sarah Warby under circumstances which the Crown claimed was murder, and murder by the two accused acting in concert. There were shot wounds in the head. Some evidence would be called to show that the accused came to an understanding as to how the murder was to be committed, and that both were present.

The first witness was Sub-inspector Somerville, of Narrandera, who stated that he went to Billenbah with Doctor Lethbridge on January 28, reaching there at 8.55 p.m. He saw the dead body of Amy Emily Warby, 111ft from the front garden gate, and the body of Sarah Warby in the back garden. There was a bullet wound in the centre of Mrs. Warby's forehead. After the doctor had examined the bodies, witness went to the room where Clare was, and, after cautioning him, took a statement from him, which he reduced to writing. Witness took similar action with respect to Millar. Afterwards he read the two statements to the two accused, and each said the other's statement was untrue. Next morning he took the two accused into a room where the dead bodies were, and after each had identified them as the bodies of Mrs. and Miss Warby, he charged them with the murder of Mrs. Sarah Warby, and also with the murder of Amy Warby. Accused made no reply. Clare, when first spoken to, gave witness 25 cartridges, saying that Millar had obtained 50, half of which he kept, and half he gave to him. Clare added, "I want you to see that I have not used any of mine. I never fired out of my gun, after it was cleaned." Afterwards, he (witness) asked Millar where his cartridges were, and Millar said he had thrown them away in the sorghum paddock. He asked Clare to show him where his rifle was, and Clare took him to a sugar box, but the rifle was not there. It was subsequently found in the water-closet. The other rifle was found under the bed in the room in which he took Millar's statement. The first rifle had a broken stock, and was clean. The other rifle had been fired through since it was previously cleaned. He afterwards went with Millar, and they found 20 bullet cartridges scattered as if they had been thrown.

Cross-examined, witness said that it would be impossible for Millar to see Mrs. Warby fall from the spot where he said he was standing. It would be possible for Clare to see Millar standing with the gun to his shoulder from where he said he so saw him.

Dr. Lethbridge stated that he found two distinct bullet wounds on Mrs. Warby, and recovered one bullet from the brain, and part of a second bullet from a wound below the right eye. The bullets would have fitted the rifles produced. The firing, in his opinion, had been done at a very close range, under a yard, and caused practically immediate death.

Senior-constable Toohey stated that he found 12 cartridges in the sorghum paddock three-quarters of a mile from the house. Millar said he had thrown them away because he was afraid they might go off in his trousers pocket. Millar told him that he was standing near the white hut, and he saw Mrs. Warby going by. Clare followed her with a rifle. He heard a report, and saw the shadow of Mrs. Warby falling. He afterwards stood where Millar said he was standing, and another constable was placed where Mrs. Warby was said to have stood, and he found it would be impossible to see anyone falling as stated by Millar. Clare stated that he and Millar were down at the washhouse, when Mrs. Warby came out of the house. Millar picked up his rifle and followed her. He (Clare) also picked up his rifle and went to the house, and put it on the sugar box at the pantry door. He looked from the pantry window and saw Millar with his rifle to his shoulder, waiting for Mrs. Warby to come out. He (Clare) then turned, rushed into the hall, where he saw Amy Warby scrubbing, and said to her, "Millar is going to shoot your mother, and then shoot you." She replied, "Oh, can't you stop him?" and he (Clare) said, "No, he is too big for me." Miss Warby then said, "Run and tell Jim," meaning Jim Warby. He went to the men's hut to get a bicycle, but found the tyre was down. He then got a bridle and ran across the paddock. He heard someone calling out "Oh" several times, and looked in the direction, and saw Miss Warby running through the garden. When she got a little way through he saw Millar fire into Miss Warby's face. She staggered. Millar reloaded and fired again, and she dropped. He (Clare) then ran to Jack Dunn, the ploughman.

Constable Mullins, of Whitton, stated the accused Clare and Miss Bornholt came to him and Clare said that Millar had shot Mrs. Warby and intended to shoot Amy, who would be dead before they got back. He arrested Millar, and charged him with the murder of Mrs. and Miss Warby. He found a book on Australian bushrangers in the hut where the two accused slept. Both accused said they had read parts of it.

Jessie Bornholt, residing near Billenbah, said that Clare went to her father's house about 4 o'clock on January 28, and said, "Mrs. Warby and Amy are shot." She drove Clare to Whitton, and on the way there he told her that Millar was about two yards off Amy when he fired, and that they intended to put the body in the house and burn it down. That Millar had said to him, "Whatever you do, don't get any blood on your clothes. If you do, change them or wash it off straight away." Clare also said to her that he and Millar were playing cards about a quarter to 12 to see who would do the shooting.

Accused Millar went into the witness box and gave evidence substantially the same as the statements he had made. He stated he was 16 years and 11 months old, and had been 11 weeks in Mrs. Warby's employ. He went there under the name of Rowe, but had told Mrs. Warby his right name. He, Clare, and Dunn were in the men's hut on the 28th January, and about 2.10 o'clock Dunn went to his work. He was going rabbiting that day, and asked Clare to go up to the house for a rifle and cartridges from Miss Warby, which he did. They divided the cartridges, each getting 25. He fired a shot out of the good rifle after he had cleaned it. He was fixing the harness on his horse, when he looked up and saw Clare, who had both rifles, going towards the garden gate, through which Mrs. Warby had previously gone. He saw Clare with the rifle to his shoulder, and saw the shadow of Mrs. Warby falling. He got a saddle and bridle to go for a saddle horse, and was passing the garden gate when he heard a bullet pass him. He looked round, and saw Clare kneeling, with the rifle pointing through the fence. Clare then ran after him, and said, "I'll go and tell Jack Dunn that you did the shooting," and then went back to the garden. He caught a horse after three-quarters of an hour. Witness then went to M'Crae's, where Jim Warby was, and on his way he threw out two handfuls of the cartridges he had in his pocket. Witness did not shoot either of the murdered women.

Cross-examined, witness said he came from Double Bay, Sydney, and before going to Billenbah he was in the outdoor department of the Sydney Hospital. He never had any quarrel with the Warbys, nor did Clare that he knew of.

Reginald Clare, the other accused, stated that the statement of Millar that he (Clare) shot Mrs. Warby was not true. He was feeding the pigs at 11.45 o'clock, when Millar asked him to play cards. After the first game Millar said to him, "You have won, and you must do the robbery." Jack Dunn then came home, and they went to dinner. After dinner Millar said, "Have another game," which they did. Millar won that, and then said, "I have got to do the shooting." Dunn came in then, and nothing more was said. After Dunn left Millar counted some cartridges out on the table, saying, "Two for the old woman, and two more for Amy. If they won't act, one more for the old woman, and one for Amy. If they are no good, one more for the old woman and one for Amy." Millar then put the cartridges in his pocket. They then went up to the house, Millar having the good rifle. they both went to the washhouse, taking a gun each. While there Millar said, "Now we will plan it up. When the old woman comes down you know she is sure to speak to me or you. You run out, and I will keep talking to her. Take good aim at the back of her head, and then I will step aside, and fire for the back of her head. But don't get blood on you, or you will have to either burn or bury your trousers. I will go up to Amy, make her sign the cheques for £10 each, then do something, and shoot her afterwards. Then we will go out rabbiting; come home about half-past 6 or 7. Jack Dunn is sure to be home then. He will find out about it, and the police are sure to blame him." Witness said, "Are you going to shoot Mrs. Warby?" and Millar replied, "Yes, and Amy, too." Witness said, "Don't be talking such trash." Witness did not take Millar seriously. Later Millar said, "We will drag the bodies into the house. You know where the kerosene is. Sprinkle it on the floor and set fire to the place with the bodies in it, and then go out rabbiting." He told Millar that he didn't know where the kerosene was, although he did know. Millar also said that when Dunn came home he would get the blame, and that they could catch a train at Narrandera and spend their money in Sydney. If James or Arthur Warby came back they would shoot them too. Witness did not offer to assist Millar in any way. Mrs. Warby then came out, and Millar followed her with his gun. He then realised that Millar was in earnest. He went into the pantry, left his rifle there, opened the window, and saw Millar pointing to where Mrs. Warby would pass. He then went and told Amy that Millar would shoot her mother and then shoot her. Amy begged him to stop Millar, but he replied he could not, he was too big. She then sent him for her brother. As he went through the garden he heard a rifle shot. He ran and jumped the gate. Witness gave an account of his movements similar to that he had given to the Whitton constable.

This concluded the evidence, and the Court adjourned at 6.45 p.m. to 10 a.m. to-morrow, when counsel will address the jury.

VAUCLUSE SEWERAGE.

TROUBLE FROM SCOUR.

A deputation led by Lieutenant-Colonel Onslow and Mr. W. M'Court, Ms.L.A., and supported by the mayors and aldermen of Vaucluse and Woollahra, waited upon the Minister for Works yesterday to ask for the extension of sewerage reticulation to the municipality, and that trouble caused by the scour through dredging at Camp Cove, under the Harbour Trust, should be minimised by the construction of a retaining wall. It was pointed out that many landowners were ready to build directly sewerage work was started. The Mayor of Vaucluse made passing reference to the new cheap bricks the Minister was going to have produced in State brick works.

Mr. Griffith pointed with pride to a brick behind him, and interrupted the speaker with the remark, "There's the first of them now."

The Mayor used as an argument in favour of the proposition for sewerage facilities a statement that a Tory like Colonel Onslow was in favour of it.

Colonel Onslow: Who calls me that?

The Mayor: I do.

Mr. Griffith: That's one of the most flattering terms I ever heard applied to the Colonel. (Laughter.)

Mr. Forsberg stated that the scour at Camp Cove would probably result in the demolition of certain premises, and Mr. M'Court pointed out that the residents were prepared to do their share by accepting taxation to cover the interest on the capital cost of sewer reticulation. Three-quarters of the land at Vaucluse was unoccupied, and the owners of it should contribute to the cost of the work.

Mr. Griffith prefaced his reply to the subject matter by referring to Mayor Johnson's remark concerning Colonel Onslow. He said that the question whether a man belonged to a particular party made no difference in his dealing with applications in the public interests. In any honest administration and he claimed that he was honest in his administration of the affairs of the department—such a consideration would never colour Ministerial action. Respecting the erosion at Camp Cove, and the possibility of people finding their land carried away, he would point out that the matter was out of his hands. When the Harbour Trust Act was passed the control of the harbour and its foreshores was vested in the Commissioners. He understood that a deputation had waited upon the Commissioners, and they had refused to help. He could only throw out the suggestion by way of advice that they should now go to the Treasurer, satisfy him of the justice of their case, and ask him to put a sum of money on the Estimates to prevent the land being carried away. If the Treasury would give him the money, or, better still, give it to the Harbour Commissioners, the work would probably be put in hand at once. With regard to the sewerage, he was quite in sympathy with people who evidenced their intentions of taxing themselves to help defray the cost, and he would therefore put the proposition on the business paper when the House met. The work would cost £35,000. As soon as it passed Parliament he was prepared to have the work proceeded with.

HOSPITAL SATURDAY.

Ten thousand pounds is the objective this year of the Hospital Saturday Fund Committee, and the stand-holders and executive are determined to use their best endeavours to realise this sum. The suburban committees are getting together, and indications go to show that the same efficient organisation which has prevailed in previous years will be again in evidence. The Bank of New South Wales has placed the whole of its staff and offices at the disposal of the committee, in order to relieve the pressure at the head office, and the committee is of opinion that collections should cease, except in the busiest quarters, such as the Railway and Circular Quay, at nightfall.

METER RENTS FOR SMALL GARDENS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—Your correspondent, "J.W.B.," is very much astray, and has entirely missed (or desires to misrepresent) the purport of my resolution abolishing water meters for small gardens. I am inclined to believe that he has some ulterior motive or object in view in writing so disparagingly, and making extravagant statements altogether at variance with the facts of the case. If it were not so, common honesty would have induced him to make full inquiries before rushing insultingly into print on a mere assumption of his own. If he understood he would see that, instead of trying to penalise holders of small gardens, I have for many years been trying to relieve them of what I consider an irritable and unjust burden. Experience, which is the best teacher, tells us that these meters can be done away with, and without any loss of revenue to the board, and to a great public advantage.

"J. W. B." has jumped to a most erroneous conclusion when he says I propose to charge a minimum garden-watering fee of 5s, regardless of the small areas that now pay 6s for a meter rent, but use no water in excess of that allowed by assessment. The total upkeep of meters averages more than 10s per annum, and although we only charge in a direct way 6s, the public per general way charges, make up the difference in an indirect way.

We have at the present time nearly 21,000 meters fixed to gardens, which proves that the amount allowed on assessment is sufficient for all purposes. I therefore propose that a fair average of these areas be taken, and although they may use stand-pipe and hose, the area be exempted from any charge whatsoever, which will at least save them the meter rent now paid, viz., 6s, and also save the board an almost equal amount. For larger areas above that exempted I propose to do away with the cumbersome, annoying, and expensive method of measuring by meter, and substitute therefor surface measurement, with a minimum of 5s per annum. I am unable to state what area will be exempted, or the charge that may be made per 100ft above that. These matters are now down for report, and the board will decide at an early date. Now, let us take your correspondent's own case. He proves himself not only capable of ladling out any quantity of abuse on my misunderstood proposal, but starts to enlarge upon it, and most selfishly asks that a uniform fee of 5s be charged for any size area—that is to say, he wants the small garden holders to pay for the large ones, a proposition which no sane man could entertain. I (like him) would like to do away with the whole 24,350 meters now affixed to gardens, and so get rid of all the complaints about fast and slow meters, and the cost of repairs. But it must be done on sound, business lines, and in accordance with the experience gained by meter measurement. Let me show now how "J. W. B." will benefit by surface measurement. He says his metered records show that he uses, on an average, 17,000 gallons of water in excess of that allowed him by assessment, for that he pays the board 15s 7d. Now, the instrument that measures that water costs over 10s a year to maintain, so that only 5s is the net revenue received for all that water. If the meter is withdrawn, and he pays a surface fee of 10s per annum, he will save 5s, and the board will get an extra 5s for the water; and he will again benefit indirectly as well as directly. The water supply belongs to the public. There are no dividends to pay, other than the interest on the capital invested; so that the most economical method of delivering the water, and one that will remove the numberless complaints about the irregular working of meters, must be for the public good. I am extremely anxious to encourage everybody to grow flowers, etc. The people that do are among our best citizens, and I am not afraid to trust lovers of flowers with a stand-pipe and hose in their front gardens when I know we have 120,000 houses with taps in bath and wash houses unmetered, and away from public gaze. I am, etc.,

NEAVE'S
MILK FOOD (FOR BABIES FROM BIRTH).
This is a new preparation quite distinct from the well-known Neave's Food for Infants, and has been introduced to meet the requirements of those who prefer a Milk Food for very young Infants. It contains no starch, is easily assimilated, and where mother's milk is not available this preparation should be used, as it very closely resembles it. This Milk Food has an advantage over fresh cow's milk, as it is unaffected by the weather, and its absolute purity can be relied on.
A Doctor (M.D., Lond., etc.) writes:—"I gave a sample tin to the mother of a baby where it seemed indicated, and the result was all one could wish. I told her to order more at once, and gave her a second sample tin to tide over the succeeding few days, with equal satisfaction. The baby recovered. They tried barley water, but that is insufficient, also ———, but I much prefer your new preparation."—17th June, 1910.

PIG-BREEDING INDUSTRY.

Attention is repeatedly drawn in these columns to the opportunities offering in the pig-breeding industry, and it is satisfactory to note a tendency to advance in this direction. Our statistics show that the industry has not attained anything like the dimensions it should in this country. Indeed, there is a pronounced shortage in numbers now as compared with 1904, but there is a better type all-round now in evidence, and difficulty in obtaining good stud stock was for a long time a handicap, but the position has improved immensely in that respect, thanks largely to the Government importations in addition to the enterprise of private breeders. Still, there is a substantial increase on the whole of late years in the number of pigs slaughtered annually, and the output of bacon. But, as Mr. H. W. Potts points out in his recently-published book, "Pigs and Their Management" (one of the most useful publications issued by the Department of Agriculture), "notwithstanding the increased production, the net imports are larger than ever, and the increased local demand for bacon and ham is proportionately greater than the increase in population. Not only in this State, but all over the Commonwealth and throughout the world, there is observed an almost incredible increase in the consumption of pig products. There is an unlimited and expanding market for bacon, ham, and pork in Great Britain, which now imports 250,000 tons of bacon annually, and whose total purchases, including pork, lard, and other pig products, exceed a money value of £26,000,000. . . . The general conclusion to be arrived at is that there is ample room for the expansion of this important industry. Our natural conditions lend themselves pre-eminently to the rapid growth of a healthy and palatable form of flesh."

Properly carried out, there is no question of the profit in the pig-raising business. But it must be properly carried out. The pig is a wonderfully prolific animal, and responds liberally to care and attention, but he is not going to be profitable if that care and attention are lacking. Good food, accommodation, and management are essential, and in any enterprise, private or public, in this connection, this has to be remembered. The great inducement to-day is the good market offering. There is an enormous shortage in the world's herd, it is estimated at something like 9,000,000 head—in America alone the decrease has been over six millions—and the demand is consequently strong. At the same time that fact is concentrating attention on the industry, particularly in America. Consumption, however, is an increasing factor, and the export trade alone opens up enormous scope for business. Both in Victoria and New Zealand attention is being given to the industry of late, and several companies have been started in the southern State. What is wanted here more than anything else is increased attention to pigs by the farmers, dairy farmers particularly. The best facilities are then available under such conditions. In that connection there is every hope of a solid development, judging from the demands on the stud-breeders.

Given sound management, the industry also affords a good field for the investment of capital, and it is interesting to note that a local company has been floated to take up pig-breeding on a stretch of country near the Hawkesbury River, up Gosford way. Fodder crops to provide a balanced ration will have to be raised, and it is claimed that "pockets" within the area suitable for cultivation will cover this factor. The project is certainly on somewhat new lines, and as the country to be utilised is of a sort that is generally looked upon as waste land, its progress will be of public interest. Meantime, it is a good thing to see attention being paid to this industry, as its development by the investment of capital should prove not only very profitable to those immediately concerned, but would be a very good thing for the State. Steps are being taken to form another company, working on the same lines, and nothing is more to be welcomed than the investment of capital in the rural industries, especially when comparatively new fields are opened up, and such a promising one as this.

Providing that the pigs can be raised successfully, however, there should be handsome returns in pork products handled in an up-to-date and sound manner. The cost of establishment in comparison with returns is considerably lower than in most commercial ventures, and few animals are as valuable and profitable as the pig where good management is in evidence. In addition goat skins, the tallow, and other by-products are all in strong demand; but this is a field so far badly neglected in this country. It is a promising scope for investment and development. In past years the uncertainty of the pig market was a great drawback, but to-day the shortage of supplies has altered that position. To-day the demand is here, and likely to last. The British trade is turning attention to this country, in the hope of making up the shortage, and it is to our interest to take advantage of the opportunity of securing a share of the English and Continental trade.

ITEMS.

At the last meeting of the Young Fruitgrowers' Union a motion to amalgamate with the Fruit and Vegetable Growers' Union of New South Wales was lost.

During the discussion, the urgent necessity for combating the demands of the Rural Workers' Union was touched upon, and it was pointed out that it is unwise to submit quietly to these demands, especially in regard to paying high wages for inferior services.

Mr. Sidney Humphries, one of the leading flour-millers of Bristol, England, says that, if Australian wheat was shipped direct to that port, the consignments would make better prices than are procurable in London. Bristol has a very large area of distribution.

In agitating for compulsory spraying, as regards apple, pear, and quince for codlin moth, the Young Fruitgrowers' Union considers that three sprayings should be enforced—just as the bloom falls, a fortnight and also a month later.

It has been decided by the Melbourne Royal Agricultural Society to eliminate the classes for milk and butter tests at the shows in future. The contention is that these tests are not always a true reflex of what the cow is, as it depends entirely on temperament whether she will redeem her dairy yard character.

There seems to be a movement on foot in Yass for the acquisition of some of the sheep prize money for distribution amongst other sections, or for new features likely to attract a big gate. As the best feature of the show is the sheep exhibition, there must come a cry of "hands off" the sheep prize money. If more attractions are required for the public the remedy lies in the committee raising more funds, or perhaps the sheep-breeders may hand over a large share of their prize money to the society.

What is regarded as an important feature of the past year at the Roseworthy (S.A.) College was an investigation into the effects of superphosphate on the germination of rape and other cruciferous seeds. The principal regards it as one of the most brilliant features of research work ever submitted as a thesis for the University degree in agricultural science. It was carried out by a Roseworthy-trained student at the college, Mr. Birks.

FRUITGROWING INLAND.

MATTER OF RAILWAY FACILITIES.

Our Young correspondent writes that the leading orchardists in that district heartily endorse the recent article in the "Herald" on the urgent necessity for better railway facilities in connection with marketing fruit. They declare that every word of the article might be applied with equal truth to Young. The local Fruitgrowers' Union has, ever since its inception, been strenuously urging reform. Numerous letters have been written the authorities, and deputations have visited the metropolis and interviewed the Commissioner, but all without any tangible results. The reply ever is that parcels rates, which are, of course, prohibitive, are available.

The difficulty is more with cherries, and, of course, other soft fruits in almost equal degree. These fruits reach Sydney just in time to miss the sales, and, even worse still, the departure of the New Zealand boats. With the immense area now planted in this district, it must be clear, even to the most short-sighted, that a very important industry is being seriously handicapped by what should be preventable causes.

Recently the Young Fruitgrowers' Union petitioned the Under-Secretary for Finance and Trade for better facilities for the carriage of fruit by rail, and pointed out the disabilities, as against Orange and Junee. At the last meeting of the union a reply was tabled to the effect that the Commissioner had replied that such arrangements were governed by circumstances; that the fruit from Junee was carried by express goods train, which was the same train that the Young fruit went by as from Harden, prior to special arrangements recently made to give mail-train transit at double goods rates; that soft fruit is carried from stations west of Orange in the brake-van of the mail train at ordinary goods rates; but in this case there is not the same facility in regard to suitable goods trains as obtains on the Southern line; that the ordinary rate for conveyance of fruit by passenger train is half parcels rates, and it is only where suitable goods train services are not provided that ordinary goods rates are charged. The Commissioner added that it was with the special desire to meet the requirements of Young fruitgrowers that mail-train transit was arranged at double goods rates, which, he considers, is, under the circumstances, most liberal, and a further reduction is unwarranted.

BANDAGING FOR CODLIN MOTH.

"Reform" writes agreeing with the contention raised that bandaging for codlin moth is not only unnecessary but a danger now that spraying with arsenate of lead is adopted:—"I have found the spray referred to very effective, and would certainly not run the risk of using the bandages but that the law compelled me to do so. With hundreds of apple and pear trees it is simply impossible, even at great expense, to properly look after the bandages and destroy the grubs, and if this is not done every ten or twelve days you are simply aiding the codlin moth to increase. Then, again, the inspectors cannot tell whether the bandages have been examined or not. They can only see that they are round the stems, and many growers leave them without examination during the whole season. It is difficult, I admit, to enforce spraying by law, but it is not impossible, and there is little doubt that by this means the codlin pest could be reduced to a minimum. We have proved it on our orchards, and only wish that all growers of apples and pears would persevere with this method."

AYRSHIRE HERD BOOK.

MEETING DURING SHOW WEEK.

Definite steps are now being taken to establish an Ayrshire Herd Book for New South Wales. A meeting has been arranged to be held at the Sydney Show Ground on Wednesday, April 12, at the office of the Royal Agricultural Society, at 3 p.m. Mr. F. S. Morton, of Nowra, has the matter in hand, and it is to be hoped that there will be a good attendance of breeders. The breed has long been one of the most important of dairy strains, and now that the importance of pure-bred stock is becoming generally realised, the importance and value of a reliable register of studs must commend itself. The time fixed for the meeting is most convenient, as the Royal Show brings breeders together as well as it practically demonstrates the scope of the Ayrshire interests in this State.

GRAPES FOR JAVA.

TRIAL SHIPMENT.

Messrs. Scobie Bros., Aberfoyle vineyards, Wedderburn, have shipped 22 cases of grapes to Java by the steamship Guthrie. The grapes were packed in cork dust, each box holding about 15lb, and are carried in cool storage. This shipment is the outcome of a paragraph that appeared in the "Herald" some time ago, which showed that the Government had experimented with grapes to Ceylon, and advising growers to try this and other Eastern markets. It will be interesting to learn the result of this shipment.

WHEAT STANDARDS.

NEW SOUTH WALES STRONG WHITE.

The "Agricultural Gazette" writes:—At the request of the Sydney Chamber of Commerce 80lb sampes of comeback wheat, grown at Bathurst, Wagga, and Cowra experiment farms, and Bobs from Cowra and Wagga farms, were supplied by the Department of Agriculture, and weighed by Mr. F. B. Guthrie in the presence of some members of the grain trade section of the chamber, on February 14, 1911. The samples were weighed on beam scale with M'Guirk's patent attachment, exactly as in the calculation of the f.a.q. standard. The results were as follow:—

| Variety. | Farm. | Weight per imperial bushel. lb. oz. |
| Comeback | Bathurst | 66 8¾ |
| Ditto | Wagga | 66 3¾ |
| Ditto | Cowra | 66 6¼ |
| Bobs | Cowra | 65 4 |
| Ditto | Wagga | 65 5¾ |

The average weight is 66lb per Imperial bushel.

The f.a.q. weight for west and south wheats of various kinds grown was arrived at under similar conditions on February 13 as 62¼lb.

The chamber states that the considerable difference in weights shows the advantage of growing these hard, white wheats.

The officers of this department consider that in fixing the standard upon the principle of the heavier the wheat the better the quality the chamber is adopting a trade convenience which is not sound. As Mr. Sutton pointed out at the wheatgrowers' conference last year, Allora Spring is one of the heaviest wheats, but one of the worst from a milling point of view. Still, the weights given show that our strong, white wheats are heavier per bushel than the f.a.q. standard, and that even if weight per bushel is to determine the market value of wheats, they are well in the lead. The department wishes these wheats to be regarded as of greater value than those more generally grown, because they yield flour of better strength. When their greater value is recognised and paid for, they will be extensively grown, and will enhance the reputation of New South Wales wheats. That is why it is desired that they should be kept apart from the f.a.q. standard, and known as New South Wales strong white.

DRYING PERSIMMONS.

Messrs. Ray Bros., of Epping, have submitted to the Department of Agriculture a sample of dried persimmons of excellent quality. As this fruit does so well on our light coastal soils, the "Agricultural Gazette" gives a description of the method of drying adopted by Messrs. Ray, at the suggestion of Mr. M. F. Vollmer:—"The fruit was taken from the trees while still quite firm, with portion of strig attached. It was then peeled, leaving the strig and a small surrounding piece of peel intact. It was suspended by string attached to strigs, and placed in the sun until dried so that no moisture would exude upon pressure between the fingers. The fruit was then placed upon trays and dusted very lightly with castor sugar and placed in the sun. The next day it was turned and dusted with sugar on the other side. The drying process was then continued for a time, but not until it became hard and leathery. It was then packed in shallow boxes, and has kept splendidly. It is necessary that each fruit hang quite free whilst drying, for if placed upon trays in the first instance that part which comes into contact with the tray remains moist."

Judging by the sample submitted, Mr. W. J. Allen, fruit expert, considers that the persimmon when dried in this way is very much better than either figs or dates, and should command a high price in the market.

IRISH BLIGHT.

POTATOES IN SYDNEY.

"IN A SHOCKING CONDITION."

PERTH.—The Minister for Agriculture (Mr. Mitchell), referring to Irish blight, said: "I saw potatoes in the Sydney market which were said to have been passed by inspectors seven days previously on their entry from Tasmania. They were in a shocking condition. We were told that these potatoes could be bought sorted, apparently sound, at 52s 6d per ton. At the same time potatoes from clean districts were worth for local use in Sydney £7 per ton."

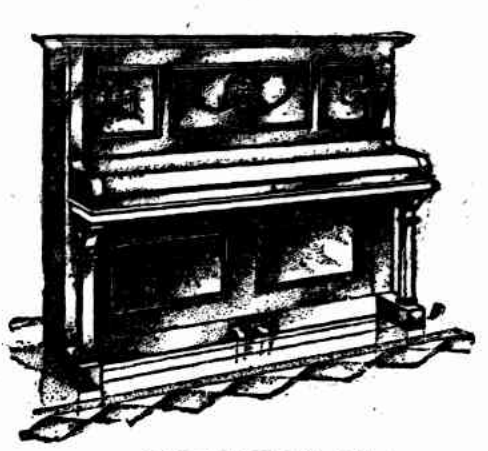

INCREASE IN VICTORIA.

MELBOURNE.—Irish blight continues to spread throughout the potato-growing districts of Victoria. At Tuesday's meeting of the State Executive Council the following parishes were added to the already long list of districts which have been quarantined:—Jeetho West, Mineroo, Mirboo South, Yarram Yarram, Devon, Dumbalk, Toora, Tambo, and Sarsfield.

AUSTRALIAN APPLES IN LONDON.

LONDON, March 5.

The Australian apples by the Orontes arrived in good condition. The Tasmanian consignment, however, proved variable. Many of the ribstones were over-ripe and spotty. The market was excellent at Covent Garden, and the following prices were realised:—

Western Australian.—Jonathans, from 14/6 to 24/; Cox's, 16/ to 24/ (with a few from 31/ to 32/). Pears, from 8/6 to 15/.

Victorian and South Australian.—Jonathans, 12/6 to 14/; Cox's, 21/ to 24/; Cleopatra's, 12/ to 16/; Wellingtons, 25/; others 9/6 to 13/6. Pears, 8/ to 10/.

SALES OF STATIONS.

ADELAIDE.—Mr. M. S. Harker, a well-known sheepbreeder, of North Bungaree, has purchased Tolarno station, on the River Darling, from Chaffey and Dunn.

BRISBANE.—Dillalah station, with all its stock and plant, owned by Peterson and Relf, Melbourne, has been sold to R. Spence, Longreach district. Delivery will be given in about a fortnight's time.

INTERSTATE TRADE.

PERTH.—The Minister for Agriculture (Mr. Mitchell), who has returned from the conference of Ministers of Agriculture in Melbourne, says that as Western Australia is free from codlin moth, and practically free from Irish blight, he was unable to agree to the proposals put forward at the conference in regard to interstate trade conditions. "Inspections," he added, "will never be made less rigid than at present, and I think in the case of codlin moth there should be total prohibition of the importation of apples into Western Australia."

VICTORIA'S WHEAT YIELD.

MELBOURNE.—Since the grain carriage season commenced, 4,879,979 bags of wheat have been transported over the railways to the seaboard. At a similar juncture in the season last year the total was 5,031,500 bags. There are at present stacked at stations, however, 3,065,564 bags.

DAIRYING.

BERRY.—The Berry Co-operative Dairy Company took over the Berry Central Butter Factory on April 1 from the trustees of the Hay Estate, and are now running it on co-operative lines, thus linking up the South Coast.

WYONG.—Wyong Co-operative Dairying Company, Limited, manufactured for March 22,030lb butter, being an increase of 2064lb over February and 5330lb over March, 1910. The amount of second-class was only 260lb. The price paid suppliers for the month was 8¼d, and the total pay £777, constituting a record since the company started operations.

PASTURES BOARD.

BEGA.—At the monthly meeting of directors of the Eden Pastures Protection Board Mr. C. O. Furness, Inspector of Stock, reported that grass and water are plentiful throughout the district, and stock in splendid condition. Rabbits are very numerous, though few are seen on account of the long grass. They ceased breeding for about two months during the wet weather. Poisoning with cart has not been generally successful. Hand-poisoning has been tried with somewhat better results. Farmers are greatly handicapped in the work of destruction owing to the shortage of labour. The rate of assessment for the year was fixed at 3d per head on large stock, and 4s 3d per 100 sheep. It was decided to co-operate with Bombala Pastures Protection Board in endeavouring to have the Act amended, making it compulsory for the ears to be left on all slaughtered sheepskins.

LAND BOARDS.

MILTON.—The local land court concluded its sittings on Tuesday. An application by Mr. Guy for exclusive rights over a timber area of 4000 acres near Termeil created a lot of interest. Evidence was given showing that already the area was being worked for timber without undue expenditure in the construction of roads and bridges, both by mill-owners and sleeper-choppers. The applicant's contention was that the area was rugged and precipitous, and to remove the timber would necessitate an outlay of close on £200 per mile in roads and culverts. Further opposing evidence was to the effect that the area was easily worked from the western side, though to work it from the side necessary by the applicant may necessitate more expenditure. The Court decided not to recommend the application on the grounds that the area did not come under the terms of the Act justifying exclusive rights.

FREEZING WORKS.

GULGONG.—At a meeting of prominent townsmen, held at the Town Hall, the Mayor, (Alderman A. E. Brigden) presiding, the following resolution was unanimously passed:—"That a committee be formed to collect information as to the starting of freezing works, and the best method of disposing of the output."

CLOSER SETTLEMENT.

TAMWORTH.—For seven homestead selection blocks thrown open near Manilla, 226 applications were received by the Tamworth Crown land agent. The Tamworth Land Court will hold a sitting at Manilla on Thursday to conduct a ballot.

MEETINGS OF FARMERS.

HILLSTON.—Mr. A. M'Arthur, the organiser appointed by the central executive of the Farmers and Settlers' Association, addressed a large meeting of the Hillston branch on Tuesday evening, and urged the branch to maintain the position that it was impossible to fix arbitrary hours or rates of wages for the farming industry. A resolution was carried.—"That whereas the Rural Workers' Union is trying to invade our farms and destroy the existing harmony between employers and employees, this branch of the Farmers and Settlers' Association is of opinion that a fund should be established by such branch to be called the district fund; that all landowners and others interested be asked to contribute to the fund; the president and secretary of each branch be requested to collect such funds and pay them into a trust account at the local bank; the funds to be used in defending landowners and farmers before the Arbitration Court or wages board."

NOWRA.—At the annual meeting of the Shoalhaven Agricultural Society the committee's report showed that the revenue had been £781 19s 8d, and the expenditure £770 3s 6d, leaving a profit of £11 16s 2d on the years' transactions. The membership increased to 381. The report recommended either a curtailment in the amount of prize-money, or the adopting of some method of securing increased revenue. A motion to have polling for the annual election of the committee at booths, other than at Nowra, as the committee might determine, was carried. Mr. P. Hayles was elected treasurer. The old committee was reelected, with four exceptions, the new members being Messrs. T. Marriott, E. Begbie, Humphery Henry, M. H. Yam.

DISTRICT ITEMS.

BARMEDMAN.—Ploughing is proceeding vigorously throughout the district, but rain is urgently needed, not only to soften the ground for the farmer, but to supply water for the town. It is unfortunate that more was not conserved during the rainy weeks in summer. A new wheat, the Bunyip, is being tried here for the first time, and seems to give every satisfaction. Manure is being extensively used in a quantity more than double that of last year. A far larger area will be put under crop this year than any previous season. Rabbits are numerous, but are being kept down by phosphorous poisoning. At a recent sitting of the Court, seven large landowners were fined, some of them heavily, for not keeping enough poison carts going. The trappers will probably commence operations early in May.

COROWA.—The fruit fly is very prevalent in the late varieties of peaches. Earlier fruits escaped this pest, which, by its speedy reappearance, is causing fruitgrowers some concern. The vintage is in full swing, and despite losses from the wet, which is also responsible for a reduction in the sugar proportions, it is expected that some fairly good wines will be made.

FORBES.—On Monday the Forbes Freezing Company's works at Daroobalgie were officially opened.

SINGLETON.—Messrs. H. York and Son have sold Mr. George Harris's property at Myall comprising 925 acres 1 rood, with cottage and other improvements, to Mr. Fenwick, of Tarro, at £2 13s per acre. The total purchase money was £2466 9s 6d.

THE ROYAL SHOW.

A THOUSAND MEN AT WORK.

OVER 8000 ENTRIES.

Preparations for the Royal Show, which will begin on Tuesday next, are now well advanced. Fully a thousand men are at present working on the showground. Most of these are engineers, fitters, carpenters, and other skilled workmen. The ground presents a most animated appearance. Stands are going up in all directions, and engines, machinery, and implements are pouring in at the gates all day long. Large numbers of live stock have already arrived, and many of the horses and cattle are settled down in the boxes and stalls they will occupy during the show.

The society has a very large staff at work finishing up buildings and roads, and fitting interiors for exhibits. Owing to the wet weather in the earlier part of the summer much of this class of work was very seriously delayed, and the management has been very hard pressed to get everything in readiness for the big exhibition.

Over 8000 entries have been received for the show. A very large proportion of these are in the live stock sections, but the farm produce, dairy produce, and other departments representing purely agricultural exhibits have all increased considerably since the 1910 show. The farm produce pavilion will present a very striking interior at this show. Two large district exhibits will be set up, one by the South Coast and southern tablelands, and the other by the Western districts. In the same building the Queensland Government has secured a space equal in size to one of the district exhibits. Here a splendid display of the products of the northern State will be made. Two single farm trophies occupy 70 feet of space, and will be a fine show in themselves. Poultry has overflowed out of the large pavilion, and accommodation has been found under another roof outside.

The soceiyt has, at the last moment, run up a lot of extra accommodation for horses and cattle. Some 80 horse stalls are being erected, and sheds for 60 head of cattle.

The new buildings, which have already attracted a great deal of attention, will all be finished, and the ground will present a most attractive appearance to the public.

DORRIGO SHOW.

DORRIGO.—The second annual show was opened on Wednesday in fine weather. The attendance was large, being well up to the previous year. Entries showed a slight falling-off in some sections; but horses and cattle were fully represented. The cattle show a big improvement. The day was given over to judging, and interest was well maintained throughout. The pavilion has been greatly enlarged, resulting in a better display of exhibits.

SUBSIDISED SCHOOLS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—I venture to write, in order to ascertain if possible the correct method of calculating the average daily attendance—for any month—of pupils at a subsidised school.

In September my total subsidy was £4 3s 4d, but being absent two days through illness the sum of 10s was deducted. There were 17 school days during that month.

In October I was absent—still through illness—10 school days (I had been granted exemption for half a day, which left nine and a half school days), and taught school on 11 school days, which, with the half-day just mentioned, made 11½ school days. The total subsidy was again £4 3s 4d. I received £2 0s 4d, and was mulcted £2 3s. I was further informed that I would not be paid for the half-day—which the department had previously accorded me to enable me to record my vote. I asked to be informed by what method I was to calculate the average attendance, as the two results just mentioned appeared irreconcilable. Under date December 2 I was promised the requisite information, but have heard nothing since, and my four subsequent applications have been ignored. Our district member regrets he cannot assist me, as he has "not the power." I therefore trust, Sir, that you will give publicity to these lines. It must be apparent to the veriest tyro that special knowledge is required to calculate averages of attendance at subsidised schools.

I am, etc.,
TEACHER.

ALLEGED SHORTAGE OF LABOUR.

THE ASSERTION DENIED.

DISCUSSION AT THE WATER BOARD.

At a meeting of the Water and Sewerage Board yesterday a letter from the Under-Secretary for Works was read regarding the report as to a shortage of labourers for the board's works. The Under-Secretary stated that if an undertaking was given by the board to employ men from Newcastle for at least a month a number of the most suitable would be selected and placed at the disposal of the board or the board's contractors. If the offer was accepted it would be necessary for the Government to assist the men with railway passes.

The Engineer in Chief (Mr. J. M. Smail), reporting on this letter, said he thought the board should not commit itself to employing men they had not seen. All the board could do was to place the letter before the contractors.

The secretary (Colonel Holmes) said this had already been done, and the contractors generally replied that they had had experience of the Newcastle coal-miners, and had found them unsuitable for sewer mining. One contractor, however, was willing to take six or eight men for pick and shovel work.

Alderman Henley, M.L.A., said in the future he would oppose giving contractors an extension of time to carry out their contracts if it could be shown that there were sufficient men available.

Alderman Evan Jones said it would be a good thing to employ some of the men if possible. Every week contractors were asking for an extension of time.

Alderman Barlow was perfectly satisfied that concerted action was being taken by the contractors not to employ the men available. The cry about the scarcity of labour was entirely wide of the mark, because whenever the City Council advertised for men it was overrun with applications.

Alderman Evan Jones: Yes, and of the right sort, too—the men that are wanted.

Alderman Barlow did not believe the contractor who said there was a shortage of men. Under the circumstances he was determined to oppose extensions of time to contractors, unless some more valid reason was given.

Alderman Griffin remarked that if the contractors would not carry out their contracts the board should put on gangs of men and do the work themselves.

Mr. Jacob Garrard was of the opinion that if the contractors were anxious to get the work done they would give the Newcastle men a chance.

The president (Mr. W. J. Millner): The Newcastle men are not used to working for bosses. They want to work for a while and sit down for a while.

Further discussion ended in the matter being left in the hands of the president.

OPEN BEACHES.

Newport Beach, which was recently resumed by the Government, will be officially opened on Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Mrs. Nielsen, wife of the Minister for Lands, will perform the ceremony. The beach will then be placed in the control of the Warringah Shire Council. Newport is one of the famous tourist resorts in New South Wales.

The Manly Council at a recent meeting passed resolutions to approach the Government through Dr. Arthur, M.L.A., with reference to resuming Little Manly Beach and Forty Baskets Beach, lying in the vicinity of Manly Cove. At present the foreshores at these beaches are locked up, and the council is desirous of placing them in the hands of the people.

TOMMY BURNS,
THE GREAT BUCKJUMPER,
TO BE RIDDEN ON MONDAY NIGHT
BY THE NEW ZEALAND CHAMPION ROUGH RIDER.

Skuthorp wishes to let all lovers of a good exhibition of buckjump-riding know that Jack Biddy, the Champion Rough Rider of New Zealand, has accepted the challenge to ride the renowned outlaw, Tommy Burns, in his own hunting saddle, at Rawson-place, on Monday night next, for the £50 cheque lying at the "Referee" office for the man who can ride him for five minutes. Biddy has arrived from New Zealand with a great reputation, and should put up a good exhibition.
Doors open at 7 p.m.; first horse saddled at 8 p.m.—Advt.

IN MEMORIAM.

BRADFORD.—In sad but loving memory of my dear son, George (Curly), who passed to a higher life April 6, 1906, at Prince Alfred Hospital, through an accident at Nelson-street, Annandale, aged 15 years and eight months.

Dear Curly, we think of you often,
How you bore up and tried to get well;
The blow we received on that morning
Is fresh in our memory still.
Just as life's day was the fairest,
While flowers were laid on his breast,
Just as his hopes were brightest,
He was laid for ever at rest.

Inserted by his loving mother.

BRADFORD.—A tribute of everlasting love of our dear brother, George (Curly), who died April 6, 1906, through injuries received at Nelson-street, Annandale, on March 5, aged 15 years and 8 months.

Five years have passed, dear Curly,
We miss you more and more;
Your loving smile and willing hands,
We'll see on earth no more.

GREAT BRITAIN AND EGYPT.

The cables of to-day contain, in the few words relating to Sir Eldon Gorst, suggestion of impending change in the representation of Great Britain in Egypt. It is an announcement which will create widespread interest, and not least in Imperial circles. For in the government of Egypt, for which Sir Eldon Gorst as Consul-General has stood for some years, is wrapped up an Imperial problem exceeded only by that of India. It is a similar problem, less complex no doubt, but sufficiently difficult none the less. It is the problem of the government of native races by those set in authority over them. Sir Eldon Gorst began his official career in Egypt in 1890, and was a trusted lieutenant of Lord Cromer, so that in Egyptian affairs he possesses authority. In following Lord Cromer Sir Eldon Gorst was faced with the disadvantage that his predecessor had proved himself in Egypt to be one of the greatest pro-consuls Britain ever sent out to a subject territory. It is a commonplace of the history of the past quarter of a century that Lord Cromer effected a miracle in Egypt. He found it a bankrupt, hopeless country; its people sunk in misery and squalor; its lands famine-stricken, fruitless, abandoned. He left it a monument of good government; its finances restored, its people set upon most of the beneficence of civilisation, its lands for hundreds of miles smiling under the unfailing harvests urged from them by the harnessed Nile.

Lord Cromer had one method of handling the native problem. For nearly the whole extent of his term of twenty-four years in Egypt he ruled with a hand of iron. Towards the end of his life there he relaxed his grip, enlarged the possibilities open to the native, gave him even the latitude of appointment to public offices. Sir Eldon Gorst, following a great predecessor, adopted his methods, at least so far as to continue the prevailing leniency with the subject race. That way, as the world knows, came the hopes of the Nationalists, and their dreams of self-government, their arrogance, their assassination of the Premier—and their discomfiture. The hand had been too generously relaxed. It had to be clenched again, and clenched it was. But for a time Sir Eldon Gorst paid the penalty always ready for the man whose handling of a great problem goes awry. It was expected that he would be recalled, but after much controversy, and some pro-Nationalist fervour, the matter ended with a strong statement by Sir Edward Grey to the effect that Great Britain was in Egypt, was determined to stay there, and intended to govern the country, peaceably if possible, but at all events sufficiently. That statement effectually quelled the Nationalist ardour, and rehabilitated Sir Eldon Gorst. If he should now retire the British Government will be faced with the task of selecting a pro-consul able to carry on a very difficult work. There is always chance of Nationalist bubblings of activity. Great Britain is not infrequently urged to carry out her original intention—that, namely, of evacuating Egypt when she had given it renewed life. But thirty years of British rule has not sufficed to transform the degraded Egypt Lord Cromer found into a nation capable of self-government, and however much has been done by financial genius, by engineering genius, and by education, the great work remains in its essentials. No nation can do it better than the nation which has inaugurated it. Great Britain will remain in Egypt. But she needs as her representative there no ordinary man.

DEFENCE A REALITY.

The deputation that waited on Senator Pearce the other day to advocate a more vigorous defence policy, and the immediate extension of some parts of what is now being done, was a useful index to the alertness of public opinion on the defence question. There is fortunately every indication of an awakened sense of responsibility in this direction, and Senator Pearce need have no fear of lack of public support in carrying out the schemes so far decided on. The beginnings of an Australian fleet have excited extraordinary enthusiasm all round the continent, and the inauguration of the compulsory service scheme has been admirably received in all the States. It is part of the work of such deputations as the one to which we refer to see that this enthusiasm reaches its right point of application, and that it is not allowed to wane. We are making an excellent beginning now in defence, but we must not forget that, after the beginning, there must come a long period of sustained effort. Effective defence is not within our grasp; it is barely within sight. We must be prepared to make sacrifices before we can reach it, and we must be prepared to make it an individual duty in the first place to see that Parliament is kept up to the mark, and in the second to encourage by all means in our power the growth of a healthy ideal of defence. Meetings like that represented by the deputation serve a very useful purpose in their way; for we must have all the time a steady and sustained force of public opinion.

As regards the special points raised by the deputation, we are inclined to admit the claim of Senator Pearce that his policy is well in line with public opinion, so far as this last has yet developed. The deputation was quite rightly regarded as a friendly act, and it was certainly intended to strengthen the Minister's hand. But it seemed to think he was going a bit too slow, and that matters might reasonably be accelerated. There is no doubt that the application of some labour ideals has caused delay, but not, we think, to any very serious extent. On the whole the present administration is to be heartily congratulated on its defence work. There is sure to be difference of opinion about detail just as there are always sure to be people with a grievance. But we must have patience to allow the little wrongs to right themselves, and the rather blurred outlines to become well defined. We may anticipate many troubles during the next year or two, both with our land and sea forces, but it would be unfair to blame Senator Pearce or any other Minister for them. They are the inescapable accompaniment of a new regime, and we must co-operate to cope with them as best we can. Senator Pearce has justice on his side when he remarks that just now the Commonwealth has rather more on hand than it can carry through, and it will be wise not to add to the immediate burdens, however largely we plan for the future. Finance, of course, is a controlling factor, but even were we able to make much fuller provision in that respect we need the experience we are now about to gain before we try to extend operations. We shall be working on quite a large enough scale to be able to learn from the mistakes we are almost bound to make. Few people realise the extent to which we are already committed, or the magnitude of the task which is being undertaken with a minimum of ostentatious display. So long as we see the work earnestly taken in hand we should rather praise than censure those upon whom the immediate responsibility rests.

GOLD AND RESPONSIBILITY.

Australian stocks of gold are beginning to attract attention abroad. A leading London financial authority recently pointed out that at the time of writing there was more gold in the Australasian banks than in the Bank of England itself, which is regarded as the ultimate repository of the Empire; that there was more than in the Imperial Bank of Germany, in the whole of the United States national banks, and in the Bank of Japan. In fact, nowhere in the globe could such hoards of the precious metal be found, except in the Argentine Caja de Conversion, where gold is being saved up with the view of redeeming depreciated paper money; in the Bank of France, where it is held against a huge note liability; in the National Bank of Italy; and in the State Bank of Russia. Nor is this all. Besides the actual gold which the Australian banks have locked up in their vaults, they have some twenty millions of gold, or its equivalent, invested in short-dated securities in London. Thus we have this peculiar spectacle of a young and only partially-developed country assisting the mercantile classes of the world's metropolis to finance their trading operations by discounting their bills. Sending capital to London savours of sending coals to Newcastle. Yet the operation is one that pays our financial institutions, and is preferable to their hoarding still more gold here unused in their vaults.

What a contrast with the pre-crisis days! Then the Australian banks were largely indebted to London. They had taken millions sterling of deposits upon which they had contracted to pay stiff rates of interest. Now London is the debtor, we the creditors. From some view points this is a satisfactory enough change. It impresses those on the other side who can influence our national credit for good or for ill. It proves that we have not been so spendthrift as some of our critics have been urging. It must satisfy even the most sceptical that our vaunted prosperity is real and not fictitious, and, what is more, it proves beyond a doubt that whatever we have suffered since 1893 is now a thing of the past, and that we are decidedly on the up-grade once more. There is, however, another side to the story. These huge amounts of practically uninvested capital go to show that wealth is accumulating at a greater pace than enterprise, and our shrewdest critics will not unnaturally ask themselves why this is so. Is it the result of over-conservatism on the part of the bankers to whom this money has been entrusted? Can it be that an unduly tight brake is being kept on our captains of industry, which, were it removed, would enable this country to forge ahead? Some here in Australia really believe this to be so, but the better opinion seems to be that those who have legitimate undertakings, that bear the impress of inherent soundness, do not long seek in vain for the accommodation they need. What holds us back is the political uncertainty, which makes investors dread putting their money into enterprises in which labour is an important factor. Were the cause of this nervousness removed there would be no need for the Australian banks to look to London as a field for the investment of their surplus funds.

CHRIST CHURCH, ST. LAURENCE.

A letter published this morning draws attention to a position of affairs in the life of the Anglican Church of this diocese which well deserves the serious thought of all concerned in its welfare. They will be many, because the Anglican Church retains the affection of a great body of the community. They will be fewer than they should be, because for too many years now the Anglican Church in this diocese has been, to use a phrase from its own ancient liturgy, sore let and hindered by internal dissension. For the case of Christ Church is, as the similar case of St. James's recently was, not so much a new and unpleasant public development in Sydney Church life, as an acute manifestation of symptoms long existing. For many years past, that is to say, the two outstanding schools of thought in that Church have lived and worked side by side in a condition of antagonism, sometimes decently veiled, sometimes abjectly open. The basic fact of the matter seems to be that the long episcopate of Bishop Barker imposed a tradition of Low Church thought upon the diocese. Sydney, on that account of Bishop Barker's long occupancy of his office, never really came within range of the High Church renaissance by means of which the Oxford Movement revolutionised the Church life of England. That basis of reasoning, at any rate—coupled with thought of the "moderate" episcopacy of Bishop Barry, and the "low" tendencies of Archbishop Smith's episcopacy—will account both for the school of thought of the great majority of the Sydney clergy, and, consequently, for the school of thought of the bishops elected by them. The few clergy, comparatively, of the High Church school have, as a consequence, been compelled always to work in the light of knowledge that they were hopelessly outnumbered in any clash of argument.

They are still hopelessly outnumbered. The synod responsible for election of an episcopal head has been careful enough to see to it for years past. The Church in Sydney is thus assured of the ascendancy of the Low Church idea. But even in matters of State, party ascendancy does not imply a despotism in which the opposing argument is tyrannically trampled underfoot. Still less should it imply despotism in a Church which has had for one of her boasts a capacity to envelop, and assimilate, and use, qualities and gifts widely diverse both in impulse and manifestation. And, least of all, should the ascendancy of a Church party imply despotism when the opposing argument involves tender memories, and affectioned associations, and vital experiences, and supreme issues of conscience. We believe the opposing argument at Christ Church to represent all those things, and we question very seriously the right of a dominant party in the Church to crush them. For, what advantage can compensate this congregation—long established, patiently taught, notably devoted to its worship—for the loss of the things it so cherishes? Certainly not the uniformity of method which the Archbishop and his party appear to regard as the mark of their high calling. The chief inspiration of life is in its variety, and it has long been the glory of the Anglican Church that its own variety of effort towards a common ideal has given it vitality. Christ Church for years has stood for that temperament which demands certain ceremonial accessories to worship. It has been served by a succession of able and devoted men, whose work lives after them. Now, apparently, the congregation which represents the latter day of that work is to be split asunder, in order that Christ Church may more nearly conform to what a majority in synod imposes upon the diocese as the one and only manifestation of the Church of England. We are not advocating the principles of the High Church party as such. But for the sake of the Church in this diocese generally, we trust the Archbishop will not allow himself to be ill-advised in a matter which is worth his most urgent personal concern.

THE EVILS OF STATE CONTROL.

The devotees of the fetish of State control over every public utility would read themselves a salutary lesson, supposing they are capable of taking it in, were they to glance at the story told of the purchase of the telegraphs by the British Post Office, and what followed thereupon. The matter is referred to at length in a recent number of the London "Spectator," wherein a writer discusses the untoward experiences of the British Government as the purveyor of telegraphic conveniences to a long-suffering public. It appears that from the financial standpoint the whole transaction was one prolonged blunder. From the very first the estimates of capital value and working expenses were hopelessly inaccurate. Commencing with a modest £2,000,000 as the price of the plant of the two telegraphic companies which maintained the service in 1866, the capital account when finally dealt with ran up to £11,000,000. As regards the commercial failure of the concern, the statement is made that, except for the first and second years, interest on capital has never been paid out of profits, but has become a charge upon the taxpayer. The situation is thus summarised: "The aggregate commercial loss to the country by the State purchase of the telegraphs is not less than £35,000,000. Nor can we console ourselves with the reflection that for this £35,000,000 the State has a valuable asset, for that asset, such as it is, involves every year on its working an additional loss of over £1,000,000. If it were claimed that the country can afford to pay this sum, in view of the more efficient and cheaper service, the answer, which ought to be convincing to the true democrat, is supplied by the fact that the great body of taxpayers are simply subsidising the minority who make use of the telegraphic system." Thus far Great Britain, and the case is bad enough, and there is certainly very little sense in repeating in the telephonic service the failure so abundantly manifest in that of the telegraphs.

We in Australia are wellnigh driven to despair of being able to secure a telephonic service that is not calculated to drive commercial men into lunacy. There is no need to reiterate the endless complaints of the utter inefficiency and exasperating inadequacy of that utility, that should be of incomparable value to the public. The same story must be told of the telegraphic service, though in a modified form. It is high time, therefore, that the Federal Government set itself seriously to consider what to most ordinary people is obvious enough, that in the telephonic and telegraphic services we have departments which ought first and last to be under control of experts, entirely dissociated from political influence. As in the case of railways, here is the sphere of the specialist, both in respect of the scientific nature of the plant and its working and in the commercial problems involved in the transactions between the department and the public. As in England, so here, we have learnt by sad experience only by creating some new authority independent of political influence can we hope to escape the consequences of that most unbusinesslike of all propositions blindly accepted by so many that Governments are capable of conducting commercial enterprises.

Cabinet and Caucus.—State Ministers are spending much time in Cabinet, considering the terms of bills to be submitted to Parliament next session. Their work in this direction was yesterday submitted to a meeting of the party at Parliament House, and, after considerable discussion, decisions were arrived at as to the final form several of the measures should take.

Military Leave.—Cabinet has given consideration to the question of military leave to members of the service who desire to take an active part in the defence movement. It was decided that those who are members of the militia or volunteer forces should be granted leave to attend the Easter encampment without having either their salary or annual leave interfered with. So far as leave to attend schools of military instruction is concerned, Ministers agreed that men must choose between loss of pay for the time they are absent from duty, or having the period of absence deducted from their annual leave. As to the annual prize meeting of the Rifle Association, it was decided to continue the practice of allowing public servants to take part in the competitions, provided they could be spared from duty. Neither their pay nor their annual leave will be touched.

Dreadnought Farm Boys Coming.—By the last mail the Acting Premier received from the Agent-General a communication stating that 12 youths, the first to leave England for New South Wales under the Dreadnought farm scheme, sailed by the Tainui on March 2. The boys will land at Hobart and be transhipped to Sydney. An agreement has been come to between the Government and the trustees of the Dreadnought fund whereby the Government will undertake the training of the boys with a view to fitting them for rural life. Those arriving by the Tainui will be trained on Pitt-town farm. An assurance is given that the Dreadnought lads will be of a very desirable class. The Agent-General has received special instructions to exercise every care in the nomination of lads, and to give preference to those who come from the rural districts of Great Britain. All boys sent out under the Dreadnought scheme must be between 17 and 21 years of age.

The Thanks of the Government.—In connection with the work of the Special Local Option Courts in the metropolitan district (ten in number), which have just terminated, the Attorney-General and Minister for Justice has caused to be conveyed to Judge Backhouse and his colleagues the thanks of the Government for their expeditious discharge of the important duties attaching to these courts.

Savings Bank for Sailors.—The Commissioners of the Government Savings Bank have made arrangements to open a receiving office at the shipping master's office, Sydney, in the interests of sailors. A month ago attention was drawn to the presence in the vicinity of the shipping master's office of undesirables intent upon "taking down" sailors who had been paid-off. A police report was called for, and in this the opinion was expressed that the establishment of a branch savings bank at the shipping master's office, as was done in some of the English towns, would be an excellent thing, provided the fact of its advantages were pointed out when men were being paid-off. Sometimes men with a considerable sum of money in their possession went to have a parting glass with their shipmates with disastrous results, which would be obviated if their money were placed in safe custody. In a letter from the Savings Bank Commissioners, it was pointed out that a few years ago agencies were established at the shipping offices both at Sydney and Newcastle, but were availed of to such a small extent that it was found necessary to close them in October, 1908.

Soldiers as Immigrants.—A few weeks ago the Director of the Immigration Bureau suggested to The Premier that steps be taken to bring under the notice of time-expired soldiers in India the attractions and advantages of New South Wales as a place of residence. Cabinet gave consideration to the suggestion yesterday, and decided to put it aside for the present. During Mr. M'Gowen's stay in England he will make inquiries into the general question of immigration, and his colleagues took the view that the suggestion with regard to the time-expired soldiers might be considered in conjunction with any immigration proposals that the Premier might have to submit to them upon his return.

Political Rights of Civil Servants.—A letter from the Under-Secretary for Works suggesting that the Water Board's regulation regarding the political rights of their servants should be revised, in order to bring it into harmony with regulations recently adopted in connection with the Public Service of the State generally, was read at the board's ordinary meeting yesterday. The secretary (Colonel Holmes) explained that the existing regulation of the board provided that no officer in the employment of the board shall hold the position of presiding officer or poll-clerk at any election, or take any active part in any political election other than by recording his vote. The new Government regulation provides that no Civil servant shall publicly comment on the administration of any department of the State, or use for any purpose, other than the carrying out of his official duties, any information gained in connection with his public duty. The board decided to comply with the wish of the Works Department.

Court Martials.—Two court martials were held on H.M.S. Powerful yesterday. In one case a stoker was charged with desertion. He was found guilty, and sentenced to six months' "detention." This was stated to be the second case against the same man, who hailed from H.M.S. Prometheus. In the other court martial a Royal Marine from H.M.S. Cambrian was charged with wilful disobedience, and with striking a superior officer. In this case the Court found the accused not guilty.

Riflemen and Horse Racing.—In his report to the N.R.A. respecting the annual meeting of the Far-Western Rifle Association, Mr. R. W. Holt said that in his opinion riflemen in the far western districts do not appear to be suffering from any excess of enthusiasm. "In fact," he said, "on one of the days of the meeting one thing that was of greater interest was a notable race run between two horses for £100, and several riflemen preferred to attend this event." On the motion of Captain Beardsmore, Mr. Holt was thanked for his report. "But," added the captain, "the report is incomplete in one respect. Mr. Holt does not tell us whether he managed to pay his expenses"—presumably as a result of the notable horse race.

Platypus and Lizard.—One of the most interesting specimens ever exhibited to the Naturalists' Club was a live platypus, which was shown to the members on Tuesday night by Mr. A. S. Le Souef, Director of the Zoological Gardens. During the progress of a lecture delivered by Mr. Le Souef the platypus showed its activity and dislike of light. It was kept in a box of grass, to which was attached a small water tank, and the creature went from one to the other as it pleased, making some little noise while doing so. Mr. Le Souef explained that for its size the platypus was the most expensive animal the society had ever kept. It devoured in a day nearly its own weight of prawns, bull-frogs, and water grass. Many of the naturalists present had seen platypuses alive in the waterholes of the country, but had never observed one at such close quarters alive and contented. It has been for nine weeks at the Zoo. Then Mr. Le Souef showed a live tuatara lizard from New Zealand. None of the ladies present exhibited any desire to get on a chair. The lizard was freely handled by several members, and proved that it was quite peaceful. Yet its appearance would cause most boys to stone it if they met it in the bush. Its folds of shrunken skin, and unhandsome head and limbs, were belied by its bright, bead-like eyes, which gazed with cold contempt on the humans who held it in their hands. It was explained that the species was rapidly becoming extinct.

Island Trade With Sydney.—The steamer Fiona, which arrived yesterday from Fiji, brought news to the effect that it had been raining almost incessantly in that island for weeks before she left. This class of weather however, does not appear to have had any effect upon the banana trade. It might probably have come too late. At all events, the destruction by the hurricane of many months ago has been got over. The steamer Suva, which arrived yesterday, brought over 28,000 bunches and 200 cases. Another A.U.S.N. liner, the Levuka, which was built specially for this trade (having insulated chambers), will make her maiden trip to Fiji on Wednesday. There is substantial food in bananas for those who like them, and if quantity should bring about cheapness, the Levuka's large space (following the Suva's cargo) should give relief to pockets that are pinched. The Levuka, on this occasion, will go to Noumea, but it is not yet known whether, in her subsequent trips to Fiji, she will make this French possession one of her ports.

The health and bylaws committee yesterday recommended the adoption of Dr. Armstrong's (the city health officer) suggestion that the lowering of brewers' casks into hotel cellars from the footpath be prohibited over an extended area.

PERSONAL.

VICE-REGAL.

Their Excellencies the Governor-General and the Countess of Dudley gave a dinner party at Government House last night, at which the following were present:—Adeline Duchess of Bedford, the Lord Mayor and the Lady Mayoress, Colonel the Hon. Rupert Carington, Mrs. Wade, Mr. Walter Callan, Captain Rome, and Sir Alexander Napier.

Captain Siemens, of S.M.S. Cormoran, and the German Acting Consul-General paid an official visit to the Governor-General at Government House on Wednesday morning.

The Prime Minister (Mr. Fisher), who is leaving Melbourne to-morrow for England, was entertained by the Victorian Scottish Union yesterday, and presented with an address.

Sir William Cullen, Chief Justice, was entertained at a banquet at Dubbo on Tuesday night by the magistrates and legal profession of Dubbo, Wellington, Gilgandra, Coonamble, Narromine, and other centres. The police magistrate (Mr. Oslear) occupied the chair.

Mr. W. A. Mackenzie, of Messrs. Dalgety and Co., Ltd., was entertained at dinner on Tuesday, by the members of the Sydney Bonded and Free Stores Association, of which he has been chairman since its formation, to wish him bon voyage prior to his departure for England by the R.M.S. Mongolia. Amongst those present were Messrs. John Upward, C. C. Jack, S. S. Dingle, L. F. G. Oswald, Captain Williamson, and W. H. Perry.

Yung Liang Hwang, Chinese Consul in New Zealand, will leave the Dominion at the end of this month for Australia to take up the position of Acting Consul-General for Australia.

Mr. J. Edward Sykes arrived in Sydney yesterday by the Morea. His brief trip to France and England was much enjoyed, and he has returned in excellent health.

Mrs. King Hall, wife of Vice-Admiral King Hall, arrived in Sydney yesterday by the R.M.S. Morea, from London.

Sergeant M'Cole, of the Newtown division, who is retiring from the force after 37 years' service, was yesterday presented with a gold chain and pendant by Sub-Inspector M'Crimmon, acting on behalf of the men attached to the Newtown station.

The remains of the late Major C. A. Wilson, V.D., Grand Secretary of the United Ancient Order of Druids, were laid to rest at the Rookwood Necropolis yesterday afternoon. As the funeral left the deceased's late residence, Macdonald-street, a large number of Druids, including Grand Lodge officers, members of the Board of Directors, the Royal Arch Chapter, and officers and members of the various lodges, as well as representatives of the Manchester Unity, I.O.O.F., Ancient Order of Foresters, Hibernian, and other societies, in regalia, preceded the hearse to the Mortuary Station, where the procession was met by another large instalment of representatives. The service at the graveside was conducted by the Rev. H. E. Hyde, and Grand President P. J. Paterson read the Druidic form of burial service. Among many beautiful wreaths forwarded were those from the Grand Lodge of N.S.W., from Bro. H. Alexander, on behalf of the Grand Lodge of England, and from Bro. Fricke, for the Imperial Grand Lodge of Germany.

The will of the late Mr. Frank Stuart, late of Flinders-street, Melbourne, warehouseman, and formerly a member of the firm of Messrs. Lincoln, Stuart, and Co., who died in England on October 16 last, was filed in the Victorian Probate Office yesterday. Testator left real estate valued at £150 and personal property valued at £30,444 to his widow and children.

The death is announced from New Zealand of Mr. James Gear, a very old resident of Wellington, and founder of the Gear Meat Preserving and Freezing Company, aged 75 years.

Probate has been granted of the will of John William Elliott Heriot, of Thugga, near Albury, grazier. Testator, who died on December 27 last, appointed his sons, John William Elliott Heriot and Archibald James Heriot, of Thugga, graziers, and John M'Hardy M'Laurin, grazier, of Yarra Yarra, the trustees and executors of his estate, which he left to his widow and children. The net value of the estate for probate purposes was sworn at £20,430, and consists mainly of real estate.

THE DRAGNET CLAUSE.

SCOOPING IN THE MUNICIPAL COUNCILS.

SIDELIGHT ON THE REFERENDUM.

The first referendum question—dealing with corporations—would virtually place municipal councils under the control of the Commonwealth; it would, at all events, place them within the power of the Federal Parliament.

That is the effect of legal opinion obtained in Victoria.

Last night the committee of the Local Government Association had to deal with the matter, and it managed, without committing itself to a definite expression of opinion, to pass along an important communication from Victoria.

The Municipal Association of Victoria forwarded a circular in which it was pointed out by the secretary, Mr. C. H. Meaden, that if referendum No. 1 be carried, and the Constitution be altered as proposed, the Federal Parliament would have much larger powers, and would be empowered to make laws with respect to the creation, dissolution, regulation, and control of corporations, and corporations formed under a law of a State (except any corporation formed solely for religious, charitable, scientific, or artistic purposes, and not for the acquisition of gain by the corporation or its members), including their dissolution, regulation, and control.

With regard to this amendment of the Constitution, Mr. E. F. Mitchell, K.C., had recently stated:—"The effect of the proposed law would be that as regards every corporation (with the exceptions) the Federal Parliament could pass any law it pleased. That is to say, any corporation or company formed under the law of a State, even though not engaged in trade and commerce, and including as I read the words of the amendment, the city of Melbourne, and all other municipal corporations throughout the States—would be entirely subject to the regulation and control of the Federal Parliament, which could pass laws directing them to carry on their business in an entirely different manner to that in which their competitors were to carry on theirs under the laws of a State, and could direct them to do or restrain them from doing any particular act or class of acts."

The circular added:—"The municipalities of Victoria are formed under the law of a State, and are now subject only to control by the State Parliament, but if the Commonwealth Constitution be altered, as proposed, the Federal Parliament could at any time alter the powers, liabilities, and privileges of councils. For instance, the franchise might be altered in such a way as to give a vote to every adult resident of a municipal district, instead of an elector being required to have the qualification prescribed by the Local Government Act. The Federal Parliament could even dissolve all existing municipal corporations, and bring into existence local governing bodies constituted and managed on an entirely different basis, and absolutely under the control of the Federal Parliament. The executive committee considers it to be its duty to draw attention to this municipal aspect of the question, so that the matter may be discussed by councils immediately, and in that way publicity be given to a phase of this important question, which should receive the earnest consideration of all municipal ratepayers when they are deciding whether they will answer "Yes" or "No" to referendum No. 1.

Alderman J. A. I. Perry expressed the view that it would be more in keeping with the objects of the association merely to receive the circular. They had no right to drag the association, or rather elevate it, into the arena of politics.

Alderman Perry was alone in this opinion. Alderman Davis expressed the majority view, that the circular should be received, and copies of it sent to the councils without comment. He pointed out that in local government matters they were compelled to venture into the political sphere, as the former were a necessary part of the latter.

It was decided, Alderman Perry alone dissenting, to send out the circular without comment.

Alderman Perry: "That makes it worse."

CYCLE THEORY EXPLODED.

MR. HUNT GIVES THE FIGURES.

NOT APPLICABLE TO THE EASTERN COAST.

SEVENTY YEARS' OBSERVATIONS.

The Commonwealth Meteorologist, Mr. Hunt, says that the theory of weather cycles is altogether out of the question as a basis for forecasting weather.

He has compiled particulars of the monthly rainfall of Sydney and surroundings covering a period of 70 years—from 1840 to 1909 inclusive—with which he illustrates the argument.

In constructing the graph a curve of the monthly means was plotted in each year space, and this curve is distinctly noticeable throughout the series. All the monthly totals in excess of the average rainfall are shown, extending above the mean line, such extension equalling the overplus. The deficiency in rainfall is estimated by the departures below the mean line. The most cursory glance at the diagram, he says, will convince the most ardent believer in the statistical basis for seasonal forecasting that such a method at all events cannot apply to Sydney or the coastal districts of New South Wales, which it represents.

He goes on to say:—"During the whole period covered by the graph there is barely a single instance where a single month's rainfall, much less that of a season, coincides with the average. In fact, it would almost appear as if the line which represents the average were designed in many cases to avoid the actual totals registered. Those who are wedded to a belief in weather cycles or recurrence of seasons may also be convinced that if such exist the period over which our climate history extends is undoubtedly too short to yet establish one of any practical use.

"The theory that the rain characteristic of any past season is an indication of what the following will be is also dispelled. For we find as many instances of dry following wet seasons as of dry or wet following either kind, and we may also note that several excessively dry seasons are sandwiched in between those of the opposite kind. The most notable instance of this was the year 1888, one of the dryest on record, preceded and followed by two of the best the State has ever seen. The most protracted drought in the climatological history of the Sydney metropolitan districts was that of the 20 consecutive months dating from November, 1848, to June, 1850, inclusive, during which time the shortage of rain amounted to 44.60in, or very little less than a depth of 4ft of water. The following in chronological order were excessively dry periods.—

"Nine months in 1862, with a loss of 25.44in.

"Nine months in 1865, and a deficiency of 20.15in.

"Ten months beginning in July, 1875, and terminating at the end of May, 1876, with a shortage of 22.61in.

"Eleven months (January to November) in 1885, with a loss of 29.28in.

"In 1895 the rainfall from March to August, six months, was 21.79in short of the average.

"The most recent disastrous drought started from the beginning of September, 1901, and terminated at the end of June, 1902, or 10 consecutive months, with 22.85in below the normal.

"The most remarkable and prolonged wet periods were.—

"1. From December, 1859, to April 1860, inclusive, with 24.91in in excess of the average.

"2. From February to July, inclusive, 1861 with 25.55in in excess of the average.

"3. From October, 1872, to February, 1873, inclusive, with 15.92in in excess of the average, and

"4. From January to March inclusive, 1890 with an excess of 25.76in.

"On a graph carefully compiled by Mr. John Barling of the Sydney daily rainfall the following interesting marginal notes were given.—

"In 1888, during six consecutive months, a total of but 6¼in of rain fell.

"In 1862, during nine consecutive months, a total of but 12¼in of rain fell.

"In 1905 only 7¼in of rain fell in six consecutive months.

"1901.—In this year, from November to July, 1902, during seven consecutive months, a total of but 8¼in of rain fell. Water level in Prospect reservoir alarmingly low in 1902, its lowest being on October 15.

"1875.—From June of this year to March of 1876, in eight consecutive months, a total of but 10¼in of rain fell.

"1887.—From November of this year the water supply of Sydney has been entirely drawn from Prospect.

"The following interesting note on the weather in Eastern Australia in 1858 is given in a letter from Mr. R. Copland Lethbridge, of Forest Vale Station, Richmond, Queensland, under date October 13, 1910:—'In 1858 A. C. Gregory passed over this run, and he describes the country as very bare, and the river dry. When he got to the Victoria River (now the Barcoo) the drought had been of such a long continuance that the whole of the vegetation had been destroyed, and he describes the trees as having been killed; and on the Thompson River their horses eagerly devoured the thatch of some old native huts. In May, 1858, I went from Sydney out to the Castlereagh River to inspect a station near where Coonamble now stands. A little rain had fallen by the time I reached there, but before that there had been a terrible drought. I rode for two days over the run, which I went to inspect, and saw no grass at all, and only about 50 head of cattle. The stock had all been taken out to the Warrumbungle Mountains to save their lives. My horse had nothing to eat during the three days I was there, except sprouts of saltbush; and evidently it was a drought of unusual severity, and covered a large area of country. I experienced none like it again until 1902.'

"Half a century ago rainfall records were only made at a comparatively few and scattered stations in Southern and Eastern Australia, and it is, therefore, all the more desirable to have placed on record for future reference all reliable information concerning the past weather conditions, and the Meteorological Department will very gladly receive and publish, with due acknowledgment, any rainfall records, notes, or extracts from pioneers' journals of the weather conditions in the early years of settlement."

FEDERAL LAND TAX.

SOME BIG PAYMENTS.

MELBOURNE, Wednesday.

Between 16,000 and 17,000 of the returns furnished to the Federal Land Tax Commissioner (Mr. G. A. McKay) show that the landholders furnishing them are liable to taxation. There are still a considerable number of landholders who have been granted extension of time to furnish their returns; but the Commissioner has not had reason to recast his estimate published a little while ago that 20,000 would be about the limit of the number of taxpayers. He expects that most of the assessments will be in the hands of landholders by April 14. He finds it impossible at the present stage to estimate the probable receipts upon a basis of the number of taxpayers, as the taxable value varies so enormously with the different estates. For instance, one estate was liable to a tax of £12,000. The next schedule showed that the owner would only have to pay 8d; and a little further on another return showed that £10,000 would be payable by the landowner.

TO VISIT PAPUA.

LEGISLATORS' TRIP.

SPECIAL STEAMER CHARTERED.

MELBOURNE, Wednesday.

After much delay the Department of External Affairs has published the names of the Parliamentary party proceeding to Papua for a six weeks' trip. The names of those who have signified their intention of going are as follow:—Messrs. Mahon, Palmer, Finlayson, McDonald, Laird Smith, Riley, W. J. Johnson, Catts, Wise, Matthews, Cann, Howe, Ozanne, Parker, Moloney, Deakin, Hans Irvine, Jensen, F. J. Foster, Chanter, West, Roberts, Green, Chapman, Salmon, Sampson, and Watkins, and Senators Blakey, McDougall, Ready, Givens, Chataway, Rae, Barker, Russell, Buzacott, De Largie, O'Keefe, Stewart, and Keating.

The difficulty of providing transport has been got over by chartering the steamer Matunga from Burns, Philp, and Co. The Matunga is to leave Sydney on May 30, and will make a call at Thursday Island to enable members to see the conditions under which the pearlshell industry is carried on. She will visit different ports in Papua.

BOYS FOR FARM WORK.

TRADES COUNCIL'S PROTEST.

WELLINGTON (N.Z.), Wednesday.

The Wellington Trades Council waited on Mr. Millar, Minister for Labour, protesting against the importation of boys for farm work. Mr. Millar said that the boys brought out by Mr. Sedgwick were doing well. He intended to give the present experiment a year's trial before the Government assisted any more.

CAMPAIGN NOTES.

The creation of monopolies as Aunt Sallies will be easy for the caucus if the referendum proposals are carried.

The caucus will simply have to meet and decide that such and such a concern is obnoxious to it and must go. The proposal will come before Parliament, as a matter of form, and machine politics will do the rest.

The troublesome question is how far, under such circumstances, the caucus would allow its animosity to outrun its reason. Is it worth while taking the risk by voting "Yes?"

During the recent State election campaign Mr. Wade repeatedly challenged Labour leaders to suggest openly to unionists the abolition of wages boards. No one ever had the courage to take up the challenge. But such a proposal is insidiously sandwiched into the referendum proposals.

The immediate result of abolishing wages boards would be a return to the heartburnings and delays of the old Arbitration Court.

Note carefully in this respect what Mr. Justice Higgins said in Melbourne the other day upon being asked when he could take the shearers' case. "I am sorry that I can give no idea when the case will come on for hearing. It will depend on the engine-drivers' case. We have been a week on that, and are not yet past the technical details.

"The unionist electors are being treated more like African hirelings than white men in a free country."—Mr. Deakin.

"The trade unions are in the hands of political adventurers, who are making the workers suffer, and are gaining at their expense."—Miss Cameron (secretary Women's National League, Victoria).

Mr. King O'Malley at Port Melbourne the other day delivered himself thus: "I don't want the people to think with their toes or elbows, but with their heads. Then they will not be content to remain hewers of wood and drawers of water." The Minister followed this up by having an interrupter ejected, because he made him "lose the thread of his argument."

The nationalisation powers and the trade and commerce powers, so Mr. Fisher says, are only to be used with discretion. But even Mr. Fisher has never set limits to the future activities of the Federal Arbitration Court.

"A country is not civilised if in it men are blacklisted and denied work because of a difference of political opinion."—Mr. King O'Malley. The Home Affairs Minister here, oddly enough, voices the chief complaint against the unions.

Here is one of Mr. King O'Malley's recent utterances at a Port Melbourne referendum meeting:—"I have introduced a system into my department, and now sit at my table and know everything that is happening in Australia, like Von Moltke when the German army was marching through France."

Mr. Fisher seeks to destroy the Federal principle by assuming every power over trade and industry whether federal or local.

A novel method was hit upon by Labour officials in Ballarat to keep an audience in good humour till the arrival of Mr. Hughes. The big speech was preceded by a cinematograph performance instead of the usual dull, dreary, fill-up speeches of nonentities.

"Mr. Fisher has said that Parliament is the worst court in the State in which to settle the wages of employees. Yet he has left this worst court in the world with power to tear up the decision of the Arbitration Court."—Mr. Deakin.

CENSUS COLLECTORS' WORK.

LEAKAGES IN THE SYSTEM.

RAILWAY PASSENGERS NOT ACCOUNTED FOR.

SHORT SPACE ALLOWANCE.

There were still a number of calls yesterday at the Census Bureau from those who had not been supplied with cards. As far as can be gathered, however, there does not appear to have been any serious shortage in the distribution. Where in a number of instances, houses were overlooked, the collectors are doing their best to remedy matters. It is not anticipated that anything like the hitch that occurred in Melbourne, where hundreds of complaints of "no cards" were received at the central office, will be reported.

In one suburb of the Victorian capital on Sunday streams of people called at the houses of the enumerators from morning till night, asking for them, the possibilities of a fine looming ahead in their minds. Dozens of houses were stated to have been overlooked, even though the distribution was carried on till late on Sunday afternoon.

Deficiencies are, of course, being found in Sydney, but the census collectors are provided with stocks of spare cards with which to supply the needs of the householders.

Trouble is being experienced in many houses on account of the arrival of visitors from the country after cards were distributed. As the census man will not call at some of the places until the end of the week, the visitors will occasionally be found to have gone elsewhere, and in the end no return perhaps will be made at all. However, it is inevitable that in a work of such magnitude, slight misadventures will occur.

A correspondent yesterday estimated that in the express arriving from Brisbane on Monday morning about 200 persons, who had joined the train during the night, were unaccounted for. All passengers from across the border were duly recorded. They were supplied with the cards at Wallangarra. How it was that those who came from this State beyond Newcastle were not provided with the means to place themselves on record is unexplained. It appears that it was the duty of the enumerators in the vicinity of the railway on the Northern line, to send a quantity to each station, the railway officials to give them to the passengers. Either the enumerators or the railway officials would seem to have failed.

There are numerous complaints concerning the short space allowed on the cards for name. "How is it," said one citizen, "that we couldn't have on the face of the card even as much space as there was on the back, where the sample was printed." He averred that he had measured each, and that there was actually one fifth of an inch less on the front than on the back. The reports of the enumerators as to their difficulties in deciphering the particulars filled in will probably be heard of later.

BRITAIN'S DEFENCE.

LORD ROBERTS' MOTION.

CARRIED BY THE LORDS.

LONDON, April 4.

In the House of Lords last night the debate was resumed on the resolution moved by Lord Roberts, as follows:—

"That in view of the altered strategic conditions on land and sea in Europe, this House views with grave and growing concern our inadequate naval and military arrangements."

Viscount Haldane, Secretary of State for War, said that command of the sea must be the first concern.

He said he would gladly join with Lord Roberts in providing better physical and intellectual training for youths between the ages of 14 and 17.

April 5.

Viscount Midleton (Conservative), Lord Lucas (Parliamentary Under-Secretary to the Colonial Office), the Duke of Bedford (Liberal-Unionist), the Earl of Derby (Conservative), and Lord Curzon (Conservative) took part in the debate.

Lord Roberts's motion was agreed to, the voting being:—

|---|---|
| For the motion | 99 |

SOME COMPARATIVE FIGURES.

THE SHADOW OF 1914.

LONDON, April 5.

In the House of Commons last night Mr. R. McKenna, First Lord of the Admiralty, in replying to questions, said that in April, 1914, the Triple Alliance (Germany, Austro-Hungary, and Italy) would possess 21 pre-Dreadnoughts under 12 years old, and 33 under 15 years, compared with Britain's 12 and 23 respectively.

He also stated that in the spring of 1913 Britain would have 129 completed destroyers under 12 years old; whereas Germany would have 108.

During the six years ending 1911-12, Britain provided for 90 destroyers and 17 protected cruisers, whereas, for the same period, Germany provided for 72 destroyers and 12 protected cruisers.

DEFERRED INCOME TAX.

MR. LLOYD-GEORGE'S CRITICS.

AN OFFICIAL EXPLANATION.

LONDON, April 5.

Much comment has been aroused by the fact that a number of the largest railway companies and business houses did not receive income tax demands in time to pay during the last financial year.

This is attributed to Mr. Lloyd-George, who, knowing that a surplus was assured, desired to prevent the proceeds of the tax in these instances going automatically to the old sinking funds.

Questioned on the matter in the House of Commons last night, Mr. C. E. Hobhouse, Financial Secretary to the Treasury, admitted that the demands had not been sent out in time, but stated that the omission was due to an oversight on the part of a subordinate official.

CANADIAN BUDGET.

A SATISFACTORY POSITION.

SURPLUS OVER SIX MILLIONS.

OTTAWA, April 5.

In the House of Commons last night Mr. W. S. Fielding, Minister for Finance, delivered his Budget speech.

He pointed out that Canada was in a satisfactory financial condition. The great tide of immigration was increasing the revenue, while not increasing the taxation. There was also a large inflow of British capital.

The surplus revenue over the ordinary expenditure exceeded £6,000,000.

Mr. Fielding argued that reciprocity with the United States would be certain to expand Canada's evergrowing markets.

STEAMER BERGEDORF ASHORE.

AT CAPE COMORIN.

COLOMBO, April 4.

The steamer Bergedorf is ashore at Cape Comorin, the most southerly point of India.

It is reported that the vessel's back is broken.

The crew were saved.

The Bergedorf is a steamer of 4499 tons, owned by the German-Australian S.S. Co. She left Sydney on March 11 for Hamburg, via Colombo and Port Pirie. The cargo carried from Australia included 2501 tons concentrates from Port Pirie for Antwerp.

LUNATIC IN THE BASILICA.

SHOOTS AT A GROUP OF PRIESTS.

ROME, April 5.

Disanti, an Austrian, shot at a group of priests in the Basilica of Saint Peter's. He also wounded a policeman before he was arrested.

Disanti states that he was long imprisoned for two murders, and that he has been in Rome since August awaiting an opportunity to shoot the Pope. He is believed to be insane.

"THE DUBLIN PATRIOTS."

EFFECT ON PREMIER'S VISIT.

LONDON, April 5.

In reference to the rejection by the Dublin Corporation of a motion to present an address to King George on the occasion of his forthcoming visit to Ireland, the "Irish Times" writes:—

"It has not occurred to the 42 patriots of the Dublin Corporation that their conduct has made the visit of the colonial Premiers to Dublin impossible. They will now find that the Premiers have no use for a welcome which has been refused to their King."

SIR ELDON GORST.

ATTACK OF PARALYSIS.

ALEXANDRIA, April 5.

Sir Eldon Gorst, British Agent and Consul-General in Egypt, is suffering from an attack of paralysis, supervening on a sunstroke, sustained while shark fishing.

Sir Eldon is going to Italy, and it is reported that he is not likely to return to Egypt.

RUSSIAN POLITICS.

ST. PETERSBURG, April 5.

M. Rodsianko, an Octobrist, has been elected President of the Duma.

THE VETO BILL.

CONSIDERATION IN COMMITTEE.

AN UNEVENTFUL SITTING.

PARTY SYSTEM UNDER FIRE.

LONDON, April 5.

The House of Commons last night further considered the Parliament (House of Lords Veto) Bill in committee.

The sitting was uneventful. The Liberals were practically silent throughout.

Colonel Arthur Griffith-Boscawen (Unionist) moved an amendment to provide that the third reading of money bills should be taken by ballot.

Lord Hugh Cecil (Unionist) incidentally attacked the party system, and characterised the House of Commons as "a corrupt assembly." He declared that intimidation by caucus was such that it required the reintroduction of the ballot.

The leader of the Opposition, Mr. A. J. Balfour, made a spirited reply to Lord Hugh Cecil, during which he was loudly cheered by the Liberals. Mr. Balfour declared that he did not believe that the House of Commons had undergone any deterioration within living memory. The evils of the party system would be surpassed by the evils that would arise if it were abolished.

Colonel Griffith-Boscawen's amendment was negatived by 263 votes to 84.

HOUSE OF LORDS REFORM.

SETTLEMENT BY CONSENT WANTED.

LONDON, April 5.

Lord Balfour of Burleigh, in a speech at Edinburgh last night, stated that the House of Lords was insufficiently representative, but if the Government pressed their numerical advantage they would not get a durable settlement of the problem.

A settlement by consent was wanted, he said, not the defeat of one party.

MEXICAN REVOLT.

INSURGENT LEADER'S ATTITUDE.

DIAZ MUST RESIGN.

CHIHUAHUA, April 5.

On being interviewed, General Madero, the insurgent leader declared that he would not lay down his arms until President Diaz resigned, and he would not accept any peace proposals unless they were officially addressed to himself or to his confidential agent in the United States.

The rebels are confident of ultimate success, declaring that followers are flocking to their standard.

A PEACE MISSION.

EL PASO, April 5.

Senor Madero, sen., with Gustavo Madero, father and brother of the insurgent leader, have departed on a peace mission to the insurgents.

SHOT FROM AN AMBUSH.

MEXICO CITY, April 4.

Mr. George Chritchfield, a New Jersey politician, was fatally shot from an ambush near Tuxpam by Mexican soldiers.

AUSTRALIAN NAVIGATION BILL.

ANOTHER PROTEST.

LONDON, April 5.

The Liverpool Chamber of Commerce has unanimously agreed to a resolution stating that the Australian Navigation Bill is not in conformity with the resolutions agreed to at the Colonial Shipping Conference of 1907, and urging the Prime Minister, Mr. Asquith, to impress upon Mr. Andrew Fisher the necessity for amending the measure.

THE DARTMOOR SHEPHERD.

AGAIN IN TROUBLE.

LONDON, April 4.

Davies, "the old shepherd of Dartmour," who was recently released by the Home Secretary, Mr. Churchill, from Dartmoor Prison, where he was serving a long sentence for a petty theft, has been arrested on a charge of housebreaking at Oswestry.

Members of the House of Commons last night ironically cheered Mr. Churchill while making a statement respecting the Dartmoor shepherd.

KING EDWARD MEMORIAL.

LONDON, April 4.

The Mall as a site for King Edward's memorial has been abandoned for another site.

GENERAL CABLE NEWS.

LONDON, April 4.

The estate of the late Hon. Henry Lorton Bourke has been valued at £500,000. He bequeathed £200,000 for the foundation of a residential club for poor naval and military officers.

[The Hon. Henry Lorton Bourke was a son of the Earl of Mayo, and was a well-known member of the London Stock Exchange.]

Lord Wolverhampton's estate has been valued for probate purposes at £94,522.

LONDON, April 5.

A fire broke out in Roseneath Castle, a residence of the Duke of Argyll, and included in the damage that was occasioned was the destruction of the studio of Princess Louise.

The members of the Pilgrims' Club will entertain the Colonial Premiers at a banquet at the Savoy on May 25.

PARIS, April 5.

A well-dressed kleptomaniac was arrested in a large store yesterday. She refused to give her name, and during the night she hanged herself from the grating of her cell with her waist-belt.

The dirigible balloon Ville de Pau has made 141 ascents since the middle of December, and has travelled 2000 miles, carrying in all 706 passengers.

BRINDISI, April 5.

The German Crown Prince and Princess arrived here to-day on their return journey from India.

KANSAS CITY, April 4.

Mrs. Ella Wilson has been elected Mayor of Hunnewell.

PORTLAND (O.), April 4.

Submarine mines are to be placed at the mouth of the Columbia River. No explanation is offered.

NEW YORK, April 5.

NEWARK (U.S.), April 4.

Fifty children were safely rushed from a burning building by adopting fire drill for their exit.

AUSTRALIAN DEVELOPMENT

CAPTAIN COLLINS' PAPER.

DISTINGUISHED GATHERING.

LONDON, April 4.

Captain R. Muirhead Collins, official secretary in Great Britain of the Commonwealth, read a paper before the Royal Society of Arts to-night on "Australian Development."

Lord Denman, Governor-General elect, presided, and among those present were:—Sir George Reid, High Commissioner for Australia; Lieutenant-General Sir Edward Hutton, ex-Commander-in-Chief of the Commonwealth Forces; Sir Francis Hopwood, Acting Under-Secretary of the State for the Colonies; and Sir Ernest Shackleton, the Antarctic explorer.

Lord Denman, during the discussion on the paper, expressed his pleasure at going to Australia. He said he was conscious of the disadvantages of following experienced predecessors, but, relied on the proverbial cordiality of Australians.

Sir Edward Hutton, in moving a vote of thanks to Captain Collins, said that Australia had need to be proud of her military past. The late Mr. W. B. Dailey had pioneered the co-operative system of Empire defence. In conclusion he eulogised compulsory service.

Sir Ernest Shackleton appealed for assistance for Dr. Mawson's Antarctic expedition.

MASTERY OF THE PACIFIC.

JAPAN AND THE UNITED STATES.

FRENCH DIPLOMAT'S VIEW.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 5.

Baron d'Estournelles de Constant, a member of the Hague International Tribunal, in a speech, advocating the cause of international peace, ridiculed the possibility of a life-and-death struggle between Japan and the United States for the leadership of the Pacific.

Such a conflict, he declared, would not only be a crime, but absolute folly. It would be resultless, except in revolution and ruin.

Japan would antagonise Europe if she were victorious, and the United States if successful, would be unable to make her leadership of the Pacific effective.

PRIVY COUNCIL APPEALS.

N.S.W. COMMISSIONER OF STAMPS AND DUTIES V. BYRNES.

LONDON, April 4.

The Judicial Committee of the Privy Council has delivered judgment in the matter of the Commissioner of Stamps and Duties of New South Wales versus Byrnes, dismissing the appeal with costs.

The matter at issue, which was submitted to the Full Court by special case, arose owing to the Commissioner for Stamps charging probate duty, assessed at £513 18s 10d, which he said was payable in respect of two sums of £5772 and £1266, being moneys paid by the testator in the purchase of certain lands standing in the names of his sons, Charles Julian Byrnes and John David Lionel Byrnes. The contention of the Commissioner was that the transfer of this property to testator's sons was not bona-fide, and that it really remained legally with the testator at the time of his death. The Court, however, held that the transfers were bona-fide, and not for the purpose of evading probate duty, and directed that the amount overpaid should be returned to the executors. The Commissioner than desired to appeal to the Privy Council.

WILLIAMS V. GIDDY.

In the matter of Williams versus Giddy (N.S.W.), the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council has dismissed the appeal with costs.

With reference to this case, the point at issue was argued before the Full Court in August last. The plaintiff, Haines Thomas Giddy, sued James Leslie Williams (as nominal defendant), to recover from the Government the sum of £129 19s 3d, balance of moneys claimed by him in respect of retiring allowance payable on his retirement from the Public Service. The points to be determined were:—(1) Whether the plaintiff's services in respect of which the gratuity was payable should be computed up to December 22, 1895, or August 16, 1902; and (2) whether, if the gratuity was payable in respect of services between the dates mentioned, the Government was entitled to assess the gratuity payable in respect to the services at the sum of 7d. The judgment of the Full Court, before which the matter came by special case, was delivered on October 26 last. The Acting Chief Justice (Sir George B. Simpson) and Mr. Justice Cohen found that plaintiff was entitled to the amount claimed, but Mr. Justice Pring took the opposite view. The last named Judge was of opinion that plaintiff was not entitled to the full amount of the gratuity mentioned in section 4 of the Public Service Superannuation Act of 1902, namely, one month's pay for each year of service, and that the Government had absolute discretion as to the gratuity to be paid under that section, subject only to the maximum therein expressed. The Crown then took the case direct to the Privy Council.

SYDNEY MUNICIPAL COUNCIL V. FLEAY.

In the matter of the Municipal Council of Sydney versus Fleay the appeal was allowed, but no costs.

This was an appeal by the Municipal Council of Sydney against the decision, in Equity, of Mr. Justice Street, in September, 1909. In the statement of claim the plaintiff municipality asked for a declaration that they were entitled to a first charge on land, being Nos. 20 and 22 Castlereagh-street, for £610 17s 6d, and to a first charge on land numbered 5 and 5 (a), marked on the municipal plan, for £816 9s 9d, further, that if such charges were not paid, sufficient of the lands might be sold to pay the rates due upon them, or that it might be declared that the defendants and the estate of the late Harriett Amelia Fleay were liable for the annual payments accruing during the period the defendants and Harriett Amelia Fleay were in possession of the rents derived from the lands. His Honor, in the course of his judgment, said that one objection taken by defendants was that the council was not entitled to recover contributions in respect either of No. 20 or No. 22 Castlereagh-street, inasmuch as no separate assessment had been made of each property, and therefore the amount of the contribution payable by the owner of each property had not been ascertained. He thought this objection was good, and was supported by reference to section 6 of the Moore-street Improvement Act. He was also of opinion that plaintiffs' claim failed in respect of the property numbered on the plans as 5 and 5 (a), and leased by Fleay to Backhouse. The council, notwithstanding that its mistake was pointed out to it in ample time to permit of a correction before the assessment book was prepared, deliberately persisted in its error, and deliberately assessed Mr. Backhouse as the owner; and he did not think it could now turn round and sue the successors in title of an owner who was never assessed, and who was, therefore, never concerned to test the fairness of an assessment in fact made on someone else. The suit was therefore dismissed with costs, and plaintiffs appealed.

GOLDEN HORSESHOE ESTATES V. THE CROWN.

Judgment was reserved in the matter of the Golden Horseshoe Estates versus the Crown.

MORMONISM.

GENEVA, April 4.

During the past five years Mormons have secured the annual emigration of 150 Swiss girls for Utah.

A strong anti-Mormon agitation has been started.

RECIPROCITY.

SPECIAL AMERICAN SESSION.

AN UNPROMISING OUTLOOK.

WASHINGTON, April 4.

The special session of Congress was opened this morning.

Mr. Champ Clark is the new Speaker of the House of Representatives.

The Canadian Reciprocity Bill was introduced.

An ambitious programme is outlined.

April 5.

President Taft announces the abandonment of the projected tariff commission measure in order to free Congress to deal solely with the Canadian Reciprocity Bill.

The Democrats have decided to urge forward the Tariff Revision Bill, which the Senate strongly opposes. The Democrats declare that they will withhold the Reciprocity Bill unless the Senate agrees to the Tariff Revision Bill, and a deadlock is probable.

In consequence of this, the chances of the Reciprocity Bill are not considered to be bright.

REFERENCE IN THE COMMONS.

LONDON, April 5.

In the House of Commons last night, Sir Edward Grey, Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, in answer to a question, said he was unable at present to state what steps were necessary or desirable to obtain an extension to other parts of the Empire, the reduced duties on Canadian goods included in the reciprocity agreement between Canada and the United States.

CAPTAIN AMUNDSEN.

EXPLAINS HIS CHANGE OF PLANS.

LETTER TO THE FRAM COMMITTEE.

STOCKHOLM, April 5.

Captain Amundsen has written to the committee of the Fram expedition apologising for not communicating his changed plans to them.

He gives as the reason for his secrecy an apprehension that the committee would endeavour to dissuade him from carrying out his intentions.

He states that his motive in changing his plans was the hope that by the discovery of the South Pole he would induce his countrymen to accord sufficient financial support for his North Pole expedition.

BRITAIN AND JAPAN.

THE TREATY OF COMMERCE.

TOKIO, April 4.

The Anglo-Japanese treaty of Commerce has been signed.

The Anglo-Japanese Treaty of Commerce, which the one mentioned in the above cablegram is to supersede, came into force 12 years ago, and, in the ordinary course, would expire on July 17 of this year. There are similar treaties between Japan and France, Germany and the United States. In each case the provisions of the treaty are similar, but the British, French, and German treaties contain an additional Convention dealing with the Japanese tariff. When these treaties were negotiated Japan sought to obtain the abolition of extra-territoriality, and was ready to make counter concessions in other directions. This being so the Conventional Tariff, which was then agreed upon, was entirely one-sided. Japan desired that the new treaties should be of a more reciprocal character, and the negotiations for the treaty mentioned in the cablegram had this in view. With regard to the new tariff which has lately become law in Japan, according to the Japanese Constitution, this may be superseded by special treaty with foreign Powers without the consent of Parliament, although the law itself remains unaltered. The new Commercial Treaties will in the main follow the lines of those shortly expiring, but with this important addition, that in certain cases there will be added a new special tariff.

THE HOUNDSDITCH MURDERS.

COMMITTED FOR TRIAL.

LONDON, April 4.

Peters, Dubof, Rosen, and the woman, Lena Vassilieva, have been committed for trial in connection with the murder of three policemen at Houndsditch at the end of December last.

The remainder of the accused were released.

THE CLAPHAM MURDER.

POLICE INQUIRY ENDED.

LONDON, April 4.

The inquiry regarding the conduct of the police in the Clapham Common murder case has concluded. The Commissioner will decide whether it is necessary to see the condemned man Morrison before he arrives at a decision.

GERMAN NAVAL ESTIMATES.

ENGINE-ROOM HANDS.

BERLIN, April 4.

Against the advice of Admiral von Tirpitz, Minister of the Navy, the Reichstag, by 162 votes to 116, adopted an amendment to the naval estimates, moved by the Socialists, restoring stokers and engine-room hands in the navy to higher rates of pay.

TALLOW SALES.

LONDON, April 5, 1.20 p.m.

At the sales of Australian tallow to-day 973 casks were offered, and 810 sold. The prices were:—Mutton, fine 35/, medium 33/, beef, fine 34/, medium 32/6 per cwt.

STATE BANK.

LEGISLATION NEXT SESSION.

MELBOURNE, Wednesday.

In giving a general indication the other day that the business of the next session of the Federal Parliament would be largely financial, the Prime Minister (Mr. Fisher) suggested the probability that the national banking legislation promised in the platform of his party would be introduced. To-day Mr. Fisher was asked if he could definitely say whether the Banking Bill would be among the measures to be submitted to Parliament. It is very likely, he answered. The Prime Minister was then asked if he had settled the general terms of the bill. He said that he had not done so, but that he would have the bill when he came back from England. Among the officials who will accompany Mr. Fisher on his visit to England will be the Secretary to the Treasury (Mr. Allen), and it is hoped that the voyages to and from London will give some opportunity for the Treasurer to consider the drafting in the rough of the measure for submission to the Cabinet before it is put into shape for presentation to the caucus, and then to Parliament.

DYNAMITERS AT GRENFELL.

GRENFELL, Wednesday.

The safe at the railway station was blown open last night by burglars, and £18 taken. The stationmaster had taken the numbers of the notes the previous evening, and on finding the safe blown open this morning informed all business people of the numbers of the notes. A man has been arrested.

THE COAL VEND.

WILL IT DISSOLVE.

TENSION IN COLLIERY CIRCLES.

MR. FORSYTH'S RETURN.

NEWCASTLE, Wednesday.

The affairs of the coal vend are said to be causing the coal proprietors considerable concern at present. The tension is very acute, and it is generally believed that something is going to snap. Undoubtedly the colliery proprietors are not the happy family that they recently desired to make themselves out to be. Mr. H. S. Forsyth, deputy chairman of the Colliery Proprietors' Association, has returned from England, and his arrival was as surprising as his departure was sudden a few months ago. A meeting of the proprietors was held to-day, concerning which an oyster-like attitude was adopted. Members and officers alike refused to say anything of the proceedings, apart from the statement that the meeting was quite an ordinary one. It is understood, however, that the meeting was of an opposite nature.

Some three or four weeks ago a meeting of the proprietors was held, at which the question of the dissolution of the vend was considered. Mr. Livingstone Learmonth then stated that there was no fear of the dissolution of the vend at that time. It is learned now, however, that to-day's meeting was a continuance of the previous one, and that Mr. Forsyth's presence was a considerable factor in the proceedings. Although no definite statement as to the real state of affairs can be gleaned from the sphinx-like officers of the proprietors' association, it is understood that when a certain company, which had exceeded its allotment of trade, refused to fall into line, and abide by the rules of the vend, Mr. Forsyth, who was then in England, was communicated with. It is said that he immediately proceeded to Glasgow, and interviewed the directors of the company at headquarters. His report made at to-day's meeting is believed to have pointed out that his mission had not been entirely satisfactory. This report will probably be particularly interesting in view of the fact that one of the members has moved that the vend be and is now dissolved. This motion has, of course, arisen over the attitude of the recalcitrant company. It was thought that this motion would have been either passed or rejected at to-day's meeting; but it is understood that a further adjournment has been made in order to allow of the company falling into line.

Mr. A. R. Cant, secretary of the Colliery Proprietors' Association, when seen after the meeting, would say nothing concerning the position of the vend. When asked if the resolution above mentioned had been carried, he replied, "I know what you are referring to." He could only be persuaded to say, however, that the meeting had been an ordinary meeting of the proprietors, and that nothing of a sensational nature had been dealt with.

Mr. Livingstone Learmonth, president of the association, said the meeting had been an ordinary one. Other members, when approached, also refused to say anything.

There is no getting away from the fact, however, that the position is acute. The prospect of a breakdown in the vend cannot be regarded with equanimity by those directly concerned. One member is said to have informed the gathering at the previous meeting that if the vend dissolved coal would almost immediately afterwards be sold in Newcastle as low as 7s per ton. Such a position as that would mean ruin to someone in the colliery industry, and the proprietors generally are anxious that it shall not be brought about.

LIVELY COUNCIL DEBATE.

DANGEROUS WATER BOTTLE.

"APOLOGISE, OR I'LL SMASH YOUR HEAD."

At Tuesday night's meeting of the Bexley Council a scene entirely new to the council took place.

Alderman Paine proposed "That this council petition the Governor to divide the municipality into four wards, in accordance with section 21 (1) of the Local Government Act, such petition to be forwarded under the common seal of the council, and that the clerk forward all necessary information." He said that three years ago there were eight representatives from the eastern side of Forest-road, while the present Mayor (Alderman Howard) was the only representative elected from the western portion. And, while the present representation was more equitable, the only safeguard against a repetition of the previous occurrence was to divide the municipality into wards. The expenditure on works during the past three years had been:—On the west side, 1908, £189; 1909, £347 18s 9d; 1910, £408 0s 4d; lighting for three years, £552; total £1496 19s 1d. On the eastern side, 1908, £1214 13s; 1909, £1661 8s 4d; 1910, £1232 12s 3d; lighting £1368; total £5576 14s 7d. He thought that by dividing the municipality into wards, the ratepayers would get an equal and just distribution of the council's funds. He did not think in the past that the west side had been treated fairly. The figures showed this. This was simply shameful.

An amendment was moved by Alderman Griffin.—"That the matter be referred to a referendum of the ratepayers for a decision." He said that he did not think the Governor would give his consent to the alteration unless the sanction of the ratepayers was first obtained. The question had not been made a public one, and Alderman Paine had not addressed a public meeting on the question.

Alderman Paine. It's a lie.

Alderman Griffin (excitedly, and grasping a stone water-bottle): If you say I tell a lie I'll hit you over the head with this.

Alderman Paine (moving his chair back): It is a lie.

Alderman Griffin: If you don't apologise I'll smash you over the head. It's damnable for a man to have to put up with a thing like this.

The Mayor and the rest of the aldermen seemed powerless in the matter, and Alderman Griffin appealed for protection from the chair, and demanded an apology.

Before the Mayor had time to call for order, Alderman Paine rose and said that if he had hurt the feelings of Alderman Griffin he would apologise, but stated that he had addressed public meetings on the question.

Alderman Griffin replaced the water-bottle, and continued by saying that as the ratepayers had not been given an opportunity of expressing their views they should be allowed to decide.

The amendment was lost, and the motion carried.

COLLISIONS AT BRISBANE.

BURRUMBEET DAMAGED.

BRISBANE, Wednesday.

Two collisions occurred in the river late yesterday. The Burrumbeet was lying at Norman Wharf, when the Flinders collided with her, cutting a hole about 5ft long and about 18in in width in the starboard quarter, and 11ft above the water line. The Flinders sustained slight damage to her stem. A patch was placed over the hole in the Burrumbeet, and she left for Rockhampton this morning.

Shortly before the collision the Konoowarra was caught by the tide, and squeezed the small river steamer Essex up against the wharf. The Essex's funnel was knocked out, and her deckhouse and awnings were put out of position.

"ASTOUNDED."

ANOTHER BARRIER RESOLUTION.

BROKEN HILL, Wednesday.

The Amalgamated Miners' Association on Tuesday carried the following resolution:—"That this meeting of the A.M.A. condemns the action of the M'Gowen Government in prosecuting, fining, and attempting to gaol the unionists at Lithgow and Carcoar under the infamous Industrial Disputes Act for refusing to handle 'scab' iron ore; and we are astounded at this act of class tyranny, seeing that the M'Gowen Government pledged themselves to repeal the said Act."

ROYAL VISIT TO AUSTRALIA.

HOBART, Wednesday.

The Governor (Sir Harry Barron), speaking to-day at the Tasman Peninsula fruit show, said he hoped that the King and Queen would come to Australia next year or the year after. Their Majesties were going to India this year. King George, being a sailor, loved to go about the world, and so he (the Governor) would not be at all surprised if his Majesty and Queen Mary came to Australia again shortly. These remarks were received with cheers.

THE BASS TRAGEDY.

INVOLVED POINTS OF LAW.

EXECUTORS PERPLEXED.

MELBOURNE, Wednesday.

The ghastly tragedy which blotted out the whole surviving family of the late Mr. Mark Blake Daley, of Bass, near Cape Wollamai, promises to provide an intricate problem on the civil side of the law. The matter was mentioned to-day to Mr. Justice a'Beckett, on a summons for directions. Mr. Daly, his son, Mark Blake, and his daughter, Irene Florence, were all found dead at their home early in November last, under circumstances which seemed to show that the son had shot first his father, then his sister, and then himself. The father left a will, by which he bequeathed his life insurance (£500) to his daughter, and left the rest of his estate, valued at £1500, to his son. The executor, Alexander Thomas M'Lean, has now taken out a writ, with a view of settling certain points. The defendants in the action are Denis Bowes Daly (a brother of the testator) and Wilhelmina Ryan, of Jerilderie (a sister of the testator's late wife). They are sued as representing the next of kin on the father's and the mother's side. In the writ administration by the Court is asked, and execution of the trusts of the will. The following directions are also asked:—(1) Whether Irene Daly survived the testator, whether testator survived her; or whether they are to be presumed to have died simultaneously. (2) Whether the son survived his father and his sister, or one, and which of them, or died, or is to have been presumed to have died, simultaneously with one, and which one of them? (3) Whether the benefits given by the will to the son have been forfeited by reason of his having killed the testator? (4) What persons are beneficially entitled, and in what shares, (a) to the moneys payable under the life assurance policy; and (b) to the real and residuary personal estate of the testator? An inquiry as to the next of kin of the son and daughter is also asked.

The position now is that if the father died last there is an intestacy of the whole estate, since the two beneficiaries had predeceased him. If the daughter died last, the whole of the estate would go to the next of kin, and would be equally divisible between the next of kin on the father's and the mother's side. If the son died last, it was claimed on behalf of certain beneficiaries that the whole estate reverted to the father, because, as a matter of law, the murderer could not receive any benefit under the will of the person he was assumed to have murdered. On that assumption, also, there would be intestacy. The authority put forward to support this view was a testamentary matter arising out of the famous Maybrick poisoning case. Against that view, however, it will be contended that if the son was insane he could not commit a crime, and, therefore, would not forfeit any of the benefits under the will.

Mr. Justice a'Beckett directed that the action be set down for hearing at the May sittings, before a Judge, without a jury.

CAIRNS FLOODS.

FAMILIES RESCUED.

BOATING IN THE STREETS.

CAIRNS, Wednesday.

The downpour continued on Saturday afternoon and night, and also to-day, there being no sign of abatement.

Police went down the Barwon River yesterday by boat, and succeeded in rescuing one family. They saw a number of Chinamen on the roofs of their humpies, but the Chinamen refused to come off.

The Cairns Esplanade suffered great damage through rain, portion of the street being washed right away. In another part big holes have been washed in the footpath. Twenty inches of rain were recorded for the 24 hours ended at 9 o'clock this morning.

HUGE LANDSLIPS.

MOSSMAN, Wednesday.

Cyclonic weather, with torrential rain, has been experienced since Thursday last, causing the largest floods ever seen in this district. The wind at times blew with hurricane force. The damage to the cane crops is great, acres being washed out. It is impossible yet to estimate the full extent of the damage. Buildings which were still roofless from the recent cyclone again suffered slightly from the wind, and were flooded by rain. Both branches of the Mossman River are overflowing their banks, and the surrounding country is one sheet of water. The streets in the town are submerged in some places three to four feet deep. Some people had to shift, the water coming up level with the floors. It is expected that the loss of live stock and crops will be heavy. Huge landslips are discernible in the surrounding mountains, a thing which never occurred before. Everywhere there is a scene of desolation and destruction. The rainfall for the three days ended at noon on Sunday was 59in 22 points. The total rainfall for the three months was 124 inches 32 points.

FEDERAL CITY CHURCH SITES.

MELBOURNE, Wednesday.

An early invasion of the Federal capital is in contemplation. The invaders will, however, have a peaceful mission, and they only expect a bloodless victory. They will represent the home missionaries of the Baptist Church. While viewing with grave disapproval the preparations being made for the defence of the Commonwealth against any hostile material foe, the delegates to the second Australasian Congress believe, as one of them put it yesterday that the "spiritual side" of the Commonwealth should be ready for the overflow of people from Europe. The Rev. L. E. Tranter, of New South Wales, when dealing with home mission problems before the congress to-day, said, "In view of the probable developments at the site chosen for the Federal capital, the problem of securing a church site or sites needs to be taken into early consideration, so that when the moment of need arrives we shall be in a position to erect a worthy edifice and plant a strong cause in the strategic centre."

CLAIM AGAINST PRISONER.

£100 DAMAGES AWARDED.

ADELAIDE, Wednesday.

In the local court, Adelaide, to-day, before the Chief Justice, James Amos, labourer, sued Patrick Mangan, a prisoner at Yatala Stockade, for £490, on the ground that defendant discharged a revolver at him on January 5, and the bullet struck plaintiff on the left side of the face, and was still lodged in his neck. It was set out that plaintiff had suffered great pain, and partly lost the use of his jaw-bone, and had forfeited three weeks' employment, and had incurred expense in the treatment of his wound, for infliction of which defendant had been sentenced to three years' imprisonment. Mangan pleaded that drink was the cause of the offence, and his counsel asked the Court not to strip him of all he had in the world, which was only £94. The Chief Justice awarded plaintiff £100, and said heavier damages would have been given if defendant had had more means. But it was the policy of the law not to send a man out into the world with a burden of debt.

AN ABORIGINAL'S DEATH.

PERTH, Wednesday.

On October 30 last an aboriginal took a quantity of liquor to the aboriginal camp outside Kellerberrin, and the consumption of the liquor led to a disturbance. A native named Nimo wanted to ride a horse belonging to an aboriginal, Billy Mooranoppin, and when the latter objected Nimo knocked him down and kicked him. Mooranoppin then secured a rifle, and fired it in order to frighten Nimo, who retaliated by throwing a boomerang. Mooranoppin then fired his rifle a second time, and the bullet took effect in Nimo's side, and he died next day. Mooranoppin surrendered to the police, and said he had not intended to kill Nimo. Mooranoppin was presented at the Criminal Sessions to-day on a charge of wilful murder. Judge Rooth reduced the charge to manslaughter, and subsequently directed the jury to find the prisoner not guilty, the Crown being unable to prove that the shot was fired with unlawful intent.

A LONDON EVANGELIST.

FREMANTLE, Wednesday.

Mr. Newton Jones, an evangelist, of the London Sunday School Union, arrived by the R.M.S. Omrah on Tuesday. Mr. Jones has been invited to the Commonwealth and New Zealand. His itinerary includes Adelaide, Melbourne, Sydney, Dunedin, Christchurch, Wellington, and Auckland.

BOVERIC ASHORE.

ATTEMPTS TO REFLOAT FAIL.

CARGO BEING DISCHARGED.

VALUE OF WIRELESS TELEGRAHPY.

News was received in Auckland by H.M.S. Pioneer by wireless from H.M.S. Encounter, stating that the Howard Smith steamer Boveric, 4445 tons, in command of Captain Harper, was ashore at Nukualofa, Tonga. This information was cabled from Auckland to Vice-Admiral King-Hall, who passed it on to Messrs. Howard Smith and Co. The vessel was stated to be in a bad way. Attempts to refloat her were said to have failed, consequently her cargo was being discharged.

The steamer left Sydney on March 18 for San Francisco, with 238 tons of general cargo, consisting of hides, hardwood, and other stuff. She also carried for the Tonga group 15 tons of general cargo for Nukualofa, 3½ tons for Haabai, and 1½ ton for Navua, for the Samoan group 100 tons for Apia, 17½ tons for Pago Pago. Her chief freight was 5000 tons of Newcastle (Caledonian) coal, for San Francisco.

The Boveric is a steel screw steamer, built by Russel and Co., of Glasgow, in 1906. Her dimensions are:—Length 385ft, breadth 49.8ft, depth 18.5ft. Her engines are of the triple expansion type, developing 410 N.H.P. She is a modern cargo carrier, owned by Messrs. Andrew Weir and Co. She is the second of the present-day 'Frisco liners to encounter trouble. The steamer Aeon was lost on Christmas Island some two years ago, whilst bound from San Francisco to Sydney. All hands were saved, their rescue from the lonely Pacific island being effected by a Canadian mail steamer.

Nukualofa, Tonga, 2300 miles north-east of Sydney, is the chief port of the Friendly Islands. The approach to the port is rendered difficult, however, by the reef that surrounds the island and a number of strong currents also endanger navigation. Vessels visiting the port can get alongside the long pier that runs out from the beach. The harbour itself is considered a safe anchorage under normal conditions.

AUCKLAND, Wednesday.

News has been received here that the steamer Boveric ran ashore near Nukualofa. Attempts to float her were unsuccessful. She is now being lightened.

CHARGE OF SHOOTING.

SENSATIONAL SEQUEL.

BROKEN HILL, Wednesday.

The case in which John Abrahams, miner, was charged with shooting at Albert E. Cameron, agent, with intent to inflict grievous bodily harm, has had a sensational sequel. Abrahams failed to appear at the sessions when the case was called on, and his bail was estreated, and a warrant issued for his arrest. The police, as the result of a search this morning, found Abraham's body in a culvert close to the railway line at the cattle yards. A bullet wound appeared in the right temple, passing through the brain, and a revolver and blood-stained razor were found close to the body. The body was very decomposed. Death apparently took place on Sunday.

INFLATED WAGES SCALE.

FEDERAL SADDLERY FACTORY.

MELBOURNE, Wednesday.

The Minister for Defence (Senator Pearce) made a reply to-day to the questions raised by private manufacturers of saddlery, who claim that the action of the Government in engaging men for the Federal factory at a higher wage than the ruling rate will increase their wage expenditure during the currency of contracts at prices based upon the awards of the wages boards. The Minister said that the Government was only doing what private employers themselves did. The Government wanted the best men obtainable. The Labour party had always contended that the wages fixed by wages boards were the minimum rates. Some of the employers, he knew, regarded them as the maximum wages. It was essential that the Federal factory should have some of the best tradesmen available, and, just as a private employer would do when he wanted good tradesmen, the department was offering wages somewhat above the minimum.

THE PLAGUE IN JAVA.

IS IT EXAGGERATED?

Seeing that Malang (Java) is inland some 200 miles to the south of Sourabaya, the representative in Sydney for the Royal Dutch Packet line of steamers states that he cannot understand the cables reporting the existence of plague there. He says this place is among hills, with plantations around, has a fairly large European population, and good sanitary conditions. Apart from this, he says there is no reason to suppose that there has been any communication between this place and the plague-infected parts of China and India. But, to have some sort of definite news, he cabled to Batavia inquiring if the published cables could be confirmed. He received a reply yesterday stating that the reports must be exaggerated. The reply went on to say:—"Some doubtful cases reported at Malang. Nature of disease not officially diagnosed, but it is confined to natives." A case of supposed plague on March 7 had upon examination, Mr. Stuart said, failed to disclose any germs of that disease. It is suggested that friends in Sydney of tourists in Batavia need have no apprehension of danger.

NAVAL DEFENCE.

MINISTERIAL ANNOUNCEMENT.

MELBOURNE, Wednesday.

The Minister for Defence (Senator Pearce) said to-day that his remarks in an interview in Sydney should not be taken to mean that all consideration of Admiral Henderson's report would be deferred until the completion of the fleet, in about two years' time. The steps so far taken by the Government had all been in connection with the provision of ships for the naval unit. In conjunction with that questions would shortly arise upon which Admiral Henderson's report touched, such as naval bases. When the time came for a decision upon these questions the Government would take Admiral Henderson's report into consideration. Obviously it was necessary that the work of preparing naval bases should proceed concurrently with the construction of the fleet unit. Proposals would be submitted to Parliament at its next session for naval defence, which would involve consideration of some of the recommendations made by Admiral Henderson.

DEMENTED MAN'S ACT.

INJURES BROTHER AND SISTER.

MELBOURNE, Wednesday.

As the result of an attack by their brother, a woman named Maggie Spring and Patrick Spring are inmates of the Hamilton Hospital. The parties reside at Bochara, about eight miles from Hamilton. The brother, Angus Spring, who had been subject to epileptic fits for some time, became demented last night, and severely gashed his sister on the back of the neck with a knife. Information was sent to Hamilton, and two constables proceeded to the house. They found Angus in a small room, which had been barricaded with a large quantity of wood. When the police approached he brandished a razor. The night was very dark, and the only lights available were a candle and some matches. Patrick Spring, who has only one arm, was holding the lighted candle in an endeavour to assist the police, when he was rushed by his brother. The light went out, and Patrick received severe cuts on the neck and other parts of the body. Subsequently more police were sent to the house, and Spring was arrested. The injured people were removed to the Hamilton Hospital, where they are making satisfactory progress.

ORGANISING RAILWAY MEN.

FEDERAL BODY PROPOSED.

MELBOURNE, Wednesday.

The final figures relating to the vote taken by the Amalgamated Society and the Transportation Association on the question of the advisability of railway employees joining forces in an organisation, to be called the "Victorian Railway Union," show that 5041 voted in favour of the proposal, and 166 against. A movement is on foot to arrange an interstate amalgamation, so that a Federal organisation may be established.

"ALL NATIONS."

GREAT HOSPITAL FAIR.

BRILLIANT SCENE.

OPENED IN TOWN HALL.

EFFORT TO RAISE £5000.

There never was such a fair. All fair authorities are agreed on that point. There never were such crowds, never such dainty stalls, such pretty dresses, such girls. It was the limit.

All nations. It is an "All Nations Fair." You will find Indian princesses there, geisha girls from Japan, Chinese ladies, squaws from America, Spanish grandames, French peasant women, Dutch cheese and butter girls, Grecian beauties and Alpine girls, to say nothing of "ye olde Englishe" maidens, Scotch lassies, and Irish colleens. And that's not half of them. All nations are there—all the world is gathered together in the Town Hall, except the Arctic and Antarctic circles. And our Australian girls, with their wattle-blossoms and their flags of the Southern Cross, look as fair and as proud as any.

It is a record fair, this. It has all been done in three weeks. For a long time past the nurses at the Royal Prince Alfred Hospital have been cramped for accommodation, and so acute has the position become that an effort is now being made to raise sufficient money to build an up-to-date nurses' home in the hospital grounds. The sum of £5000 towards this object has been voted by the Government, subject to a similar amount being subscribed by the public, and it is hoped that £5000 will be realised by the fair. There are 120 nurses on the staff, but there is only accommodation in the present nurses' home for 45. Counting other rooms connected with the hospital, 70 nurses can be properly accommodated, but the others have been cramped into unused wards, and the lack of proper accommodation has been a subject of complaint for the past two years. Ten years ago the daily average of patients at the hospital was 234; five years ago it was about 300; to-day it is from 270 to 280. The scheme for raising the necessary money by means of a great fair was proposed by Mr. W. Epps, the secretary of the institution, and he was a happy man yesterday when he saw the Town Hall crammed with a swaying mass of humanity. The success of the fair is assured.

It is estimated that it will cost at least £10,000 to build the nurses' home. To make the fair a success, it was necessary to secure the co-operation of the metropolitan districts, and Mr. Epps called upon 35 Mayors, practically all of whom heartily supported the idea. Then a meeting, over which the Governor presided, was called, and a large executive committee was formed, with the Lord Mayor as president, to carry out the details. The erection of the stalls, which for originality of conception and daintiness of execution, have never been surpassed in Sydney, entailed an expenditure of £400. It was necessary, owing to the scarcity of scenic artists in this city, to secure the services of a number of men from Melbourne and elsewhere. The whole thing had to be done in three weeks. Mr. T. Tidswell, who is a member of the decorations committee, acted as honorary architect, and he is entitled to no little credit for his work. The committee felt that it would be a mistake to leave everything to sentiment. Sentiment is a good thing, but it doesn't always go far enough. It will bring the first crowd, but after that there must be something else to attract the people. And the people are wanted every day for a week. There will be no dull moments; a programme has been arranged that will provide for one continuous entertainment every afternoon and evening.

AN INDESCRIBABLE SCENE.

The opening of the fair was remarkable for its brilliancy. Though it was advertised to open at 3 o'clock, thousands were waiting outside the Town Hall at 2. When, shortly after that hour, the doors were thrown open, there was a great rush inside. It was sale day, bargain day, and all the other shops in town were deserted. The ladies had come in their finest dresses, and their purses with them, from far and near. It was a beautiful day—Fair weather.

"A VERY BIG THING."

THE GOVERNOR'S SPEECH.

The Lord Mayor, on behalf of the executive committee of the fete, welcomed his Excellency. He was sure the efforts of the committee had been appreciated, and he hoped that the amount wanted would be secured, and more. (Applause.)

Lord Chelmsford, in declaring the fair open, said:—"This fete is going to be a big thing. (Applause.) It will be a very big thing, and, with your help, it is going to be the biggest Sydney has known for many a year. (Applause.) I have heard it sometimes said that this effort which is being made to-day is an effort on behalf of bricks and mortar, and that it is not for the patients, but only for the nurses. Now, please, do not make any such mistake. This effort is equally for the patients as it is for the nurses. (Loud applause.) You cannot get the best work out of the nurses unless you house and treat them well—(applause)—and if you do not get the best work, depend upon it, that it will be unfortunately the patients who will suffer. (Applause.)

"But I think, from this gathering to-day," continued his Excellency, "that you intend to rally round the nurses—(cheers)—and you have only to have a little personal experience of a hospital to know what their work is. And I have had during the past few weeks very ample evidence, through an unfortunate accident to one of my own household, to know what very ungrudging and unstinted work is done in the hospital. (Applause.) Now, good wine needs no bush, and I am not going to dilate upon the merits of this scheme this afternoon. But may I make to the stallholders one personal plea. We all of us ought to contribute as far as we can to this undertaking, and I have made my contribution to the honorary treasurer. But, as you know, I am about to leave shortly for the old country, and I have not yet paid for my tickets—(laughter)—and I am not going to adventure my life or my limbs or my purse in going round all these stalls unless I have a personal safe-conduct from the president of the hospital." (Laughter.)

"I have now very much pleasure," concluded Lord Chelmsford, "in formally declaring this fete open." (Cheers.)

A SPLENDID PROGRAMME.

DANCING AND OTHER ENTERTAINMENTS.

One of the principal items of entertainment was an exhibition of fancy dancing, showing the transition of dancing from the days of early Greece to the present day, arranged by Madame Boult. The dancing was particularly graceful and beautiful. The first dance was one from ancient Greece, the "Dance of the Flowers," and it was followed by another Grecian dance, known as the "Invitation to Apollo." Then came a Lydian dance of harvest thanksgiving, followed by an early French dance, and the early English sword and rose dance. Slightly more modern was the stately minuet that was fashionable in England in the days of the Stuarts. The "Flirtations Minuet," it was described by one of the onlookers. The performance was finished with a figure of the modern—but not kitchen—lancers.

There was more dancing later on when a Highland fling was cleverly and prettily danced by Miss Amy Rogers. Miss Rogers's pupils also danced Celtic reels. The musical programme included a number of selections by a fine string band under the leadership of Mr. W. Fowler, and organ solos by Miss Lilian Frost.

Other entertainments were provided in different parts of the building. In the vestibule, just outside the main hall, a laughable comedy sketch entitled, "Mystification," acted by Mr. Harvey Ward and Miss Evie Gwynne, provided amusement for a large audience that had escaped from the too distracting attentions of the stallholders inside. Then in the southern vestibule and the basement "Professor" Beckford attracted an audience of children, both old and young, with an old favourite—a Punch and Judy show, and later on he gave a clever ventriloquial entertainment. The string band also performed in the basement.

Among the visitors were Lady Cullen, the Lord Mayor and Lady Mayoress, Professor Anderson Stuart, Mrs. Wade, Colonel Macarthur Onslow, Mr. and Mrs. Percy Faithfull, Mrs. F. L. Cohen, Mrs. Trefle, Mrs. Garland, Captain and Mrs. Rolleston, Mrs. Pring, Mrs. Ashburton Thompson, Mrs. E. Knox and Miss Knox, Miss Fairfax, Miss Armstrong, Mrs. Brown, Miss Louisa Macdonald, Mrs. G. J. Cohen, Mrs. Hungerford, Mrs. and Miss MacCallum, Mrs. Barff, Mrs. Teece, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Dixson, Lady Miklouho-Maclay, Mrs. Ralston, Mrs. and Miss Liddell, Mrs. R. Rouse, Mrs. Jaques, Mrs. E. Scott, Miss E. Lamb, Miss Lorna Robinson, Miss Nina Balley, Mrs. Galbraith, Mrs. Bradford, Miss Hargrave, Mrs. B. F. Marks, Mrs. R. Faithfull, and Miss Curnow.

The rush was far greater than was expected, and in order to keep the body of the hall as clear as possible for the opening procession of the stallholders, the early comers were ushered up into the gallery seats. It mattered not. The people still came in. The galleries filled—not a seat was left vacant—and still the thousands came swarming in. Into the body of the hall they had to go. At 3 o'clock, when Lord Chelmsford arrived to formally declare the fair open, the galleries were crowded, the platform was crowded, the floor of the hall was crowded to excess. One could not move.

It was a pretty sight, as pretty as ever was seen. But it is indescribable. Looking down from the galleries upon the scene below, it was a Dreamland. The millinery, the moving picture, made up a garden of beauty, of flowers abloom. It was not only picturesque, it was quaint also. In the centre of the garden, studded with its flowers of purple and red and gold, were some wonderful black hats that looked like giant candle-extinguishers. The Welsh girls wore them on their hair, and one of the girls said, with a sly wink, that hers was a "hairloom," and had been in the family for a hundred years. Another wore a brooch and earrings which she said had been handed down from Anno Domini.

A GORGEOUS PROCESSION.

It was when the procession started that the full gorgeousness of the scene burst upon one. But it took some time to start it. How were five hundred girls—no less—going to march in procession around that hall? It was as densely packed as it would be possible to have it. Yet, somehow, it was done. Back—back—and yet back—till the people were crammed like sardines against the stalls; and in a narrow space the procession wended its way, under the direction of Mrs. Farmer, the while Miss Lilian Frost played Elgar's "Pomp and Circumstance" on the organ.

The costumes of the various nations represented were all carried out in a more or less correct manner. Some showed more accuracy of detail than others, but all lent beauty and brightness to the scene. The first to attract notice was the "Red Cross" stall, held by nurses of the Royal Prince Alfred Hospital "Past and Present," Miss Newill and her assistants all looking dainty in their "nurses'" uniform, and the committee wore as a badge a beautifully hand-painted waratah.

There were two sections representing "Australia," the most effective being those dressed in pale yellow (to represent wattle) and royal blue, with the Southern Cross in gold stars on a panel of blue on the skirt, and clusters of wattle and a band of blue ribbon in the hair, baskets of wattle and other flowers being carried. The second section was in white with blue sashes from shoulder to waist, and had the Commonwealth and State flags suspended from the shoulders, and the five stars of the "Southern Cross" arranged to form a coronet.

"England" was also represented by two sections, and those ladies dressed as Puritans, in pretty soft grey dresses, with white muslin aprons, collars, and caps with a touch of black velvet at the throat and round their white mob caps, looked particularly well. In "Olde Englishe" style were the other representatives of England, with fichus fastened with pink roses and pretty muslin aprons and mob caps.

Most effective were the "Stars and Stripes" of America with the golden eagle worn as a headdress. A child or two dressed as squaws attracted attention.

Canada was represented by a number of ladies dressed in cream trimmed with white fur, and a "maple" leaf on the corsage; their soft white toques were relieved with bunches of holly berries.

The "Welshwomen" attracted much notice by their quaint and picturesque headdress, and their blue linen dresses and black and white checked aprons and shawls; one at least of these costumes had been previously worn at a fair held in Wales.

The dresses of the girls representing "Ireland" were most effective, being of emerald green Roman satin, ornamented with large shamrocks in a darker shade. The bodices were of green velvet with white fichus and white aprons, and a band of green satin with rosettes was worn in the hair.

White, with tartan ribbons, was worn by those representing Scotland.

The girls of "India" were particularly pleasing as pretty Indian peddlers. They wore cream with gold trappings, and earrings, and their golden hair was hanging down their backs in plaits. One of the "Indians," a princess in a bright red costume, attracted much notice, because of the similarity of her skirt to the harem skirt.

In the "China" section the costumes were very successful, and some genuine harem skirts were worn.

The "Japanese" girls were sweetly pretty in their kimonas, and in their hair they all wore big chrysanthemums.

There were peasant dresses galore, all gaily carried out with the distinctive caps and colours characteristic of France, Germany, Italy, Spain, Switzerland, Holland, and Norway and Sweden.

Those representing Greece wore pretty cream and gold Grecian draped flowing robes.

And the dresses are made to go with the stalls. Great care has been taken in the erection of the stalls, and they are all most artistically designed to represent the different nations. "England's" stall with its trellis-work and climbing ivy and blooming roses, Japan with its wisteria, Canada with its snow-covered log-cabin, and all the rest of them.

The Lady Mayoress is the president of the refreshment and provision stall, and wore a handsome dress of black Spanish lace over black satin. The assistants in the refreshment room wore black dresses with white aprons, and white mob caps and aprons, or white dresses with mob caps and aprons. His Excellency the Governor was entertained at afternoon-tea by the members of the executive committee, the table being charmingly decorated with red cactus dahlias and greenery.

MONEY, MONEY, MONEY!

Lord Chelmsford had had something to do with this fair before yesterday, and, from information received, he knew that it was not safe to go too near the stall-holders. "I have given my contribution to the secretary," he said, "I will not adventure my life, purse, or limb, by going near the stalls." He was right. These girls will stop at nothing. They are out for plunder, come what may. But they are such adepts that the ordinary person falls an easy victim. They have a smile, a killing smile, and few survive it. To escape with your money is impossible; to escape with your life is cause for congratulation. They will tear you to pieces for love of money till not a sou remains to you—especially the ferocious Indians and Chinese. They will pin buttonholes all over you, and fill your pockets with chocolates and cigars, and raffle a doll for you—but they must have money. Even if you follow Lord Chelmsford's example and give your contribution to the secretary, they will still be after you. The Governor himself had scarce got down from the platform before a girl from a Scottish fishing village was wanting him to buy her caller herrin'. There are no Valentines in this Forest of Mantua—every man who enters it is attacked and robbed, and every woman, too.

But it is such sweet robbery. There are two thousand of the rarest and fairest robbers you ever saw—in relays of five hundred—nurses, University girls, and girls from everywhere. From the city and from every suburb they have come, two thousand girls to raise five thousand pounds.

THE FAIR AT NIGHT.

The crush that occurred at the opening ceremony was repeated in the early part of the evening. Crowds flocked in as soon as the doors were opened, and by 8 o'clock the building was packed from basement to gallery. The stallholders naturally did a splendid business, and the takings exceeded even the sanguine expectations of the committee. The enthusiasm of the attendants was contagious. Everyone who ventured in the hall succumbed, and even in the corridors and ante-rooms and other seemingly inaccessible places, purchasers for various articles, useful and otherwise, were waylaid.

An interesting programme of entertainments was provided in addition. A series of moving picture films, provided by Messrs. Gaumont and Co., was shown in the vestibule, and a fine concert programme was given in the main hall. Songs were rendered by Misses Dorothy Penfold, Mabel Marshal, and Madame Sara Lewis, and Messrs. Herbert Batchelor and W. J. Grieves, whilst the last-named also played a couple of violin numbers. Mr. G. C. C. Hellmann acted as accompanist. One of the most interesting items of the evening was an exhibition of fencing under the direction of Mr. G. Dumain, showing reposts and hazards by a number of ladies, and fencing bouts between ladies and gentlemen.

In the basement an entertainment that provided a good deal of novelty for the ladies and interest to the male part of the audience was an exhibition of wrestling arranged by Mr Sartorelli, wrestling instructor at the Sports Club. Bouts took place between Messrs. Sartorelli and Reg Wright, heavyweight champion of N.S.W. for 1910; H. Dargin, middleweight champion, 1908-9, and A. Cotter, lightweight champion, 1909; C. Smith, featherweight champion, 1910, and F. Williams, and W. and C. Scott, midgets. A contest is being arranged to take place on Saturday between H. Dargin and Smyth, 1910 middle-weight champion, who is going to England to represent the State at the Festival of Empire sports in connection with the Coronation.

A variety programme was given in the vestibule during the evening by a number of juvenile artists, including Cecil Bradley, Baby Gourlay, Baby Myrtle Hickey, Phyllis Craig, Cicely Pickering, Alan Hart, and Miss Cannon. The Police Band also rendered a fine programme at intervals during the evening.

The amount taken at the stalls was £729, which is regarded as very satisfactory.

TASMANIAN TRADE.

HOBART, Wednesday.

The shipping trade of the port of Hobart is increasing at such a rapid rate that its accommodation is being taxed to the utmost capacity. Already this year half a million tons of shipping has been berthed at the wharfs, and during the coming week 80,000 tons more is listed to arrive. Owing to the enormous expansion of the fruit industry the shed accommodation, which was thought two or three years ago to be ample for a considerable period ahead, is proving inadequate, notwithstanding that its capacity is equal to a quarter of a million cases. Within the next week 246,000 cases of apples and pears, besides other large lines of cargo, will be shipped to oversea countries. One steamer is to take 112,000 cases, and another 78,000.

WESTERN MINES.

LITHGOW, Wednesday.

The annual election of executive officers of the Western Miners' Association is now being carried out. For president, Mr. Brian Scully was elected unopposed. The following nominations have been received for the position of secretary:—Messrs. W. H. Delaney, F. Gregory, J. J. Griffiths, H. Langford, and E. Truscott; for treasurer, Messrs. D. Cullen, E. Fitzgerald, H. Morris, and J. Macarthur. The candidates for auditor are:—Messrs. R. Pillans, G. Purdie, H. Palmer, A. Schroeder, and J. Weston. There are two candidates for the position of check inspector—Messrs. G. Brown and A. Walker.

A report from Cullen Bullen states a shortage of trucks is again felt keenly. Electrical coal-cutting machines have been installed in the colliery, and were given a trial run last evening, when they proved satisfactory. The price for filling has not yet been decided. Mr. M'Leish, the manager, has gone to confer with the district officers concerning the price.

"Vanluic" suggests that country people leaving for the city by the excursion trains on Easter Saturday be allowed to return home by the ordinary trains on Easter Monday night without extra charge.

BAPTISTS' FEDERATION.

AGED MINISTERS' FUNDS.

"Are we ready for Baptist federation?" was the question which the Rev. J. E. Walton (N.S.W.), the Rev. A. Metters (S.A.), and the Rev. E. Harris (Vic.) set themselves to answer at the second Australasian Baptist Congress yesterday.

Mr. Walton, in his paper, said the subjects that appealed to the federal consciousness were an Australian Baptist weekly paper, an aged and infirm ministers' fund, and a uniform ministerial standard. He was reluctantly compelled to say, "We are not ready yet." At least they were not ready in New South Wales, and he presumed that in the other States it was much the same. It might be possible to make a start at once with what they were agreed upon. But for full federation they were not ready.

"South Australia is ready," said the Rev. A. Metters. He urged an indissoluble federation from the ministers' standpoint.

The Rev. E. Harris (Vic.) claimed that in all the vital and essential features the Baptists of Australia were practically of one mind. There were theological difficulties; but surely such differences could not stand in the way of fellowship or hinder the Baptist federation for a day.

After various proposals had been submitted it was agreed.—"That this congress is convinced that the time is ripe for the establishment of a federal weekly Baptist paper, and determines to appoint a representative committee, who, with the approval of the unions, shall arrange to publish such a paper as from January 1, 1912."

On the motion of the Rev. J. Barker (N.S.W.), seconded by Mr. S. R. Muller (N.S.W.), it was decided.—"That the congress earnestly recommends the Baptist unions of the States that have no aged ministers' funds to establish at the earliest opportunity funds similar to that in operation in South Australia, and further recommends that the Baptist unions of the States that have pension or annuity funds for aged and infirm ministers be asked to establish additional funds similar to the aged ministers' relief fund of South Australia, or to convert their funds into such a fund as that of South Australia."

The congress sermon was preached before a crowded congregation by the Rev. F. W. Boreham, president of the Tasmanian Union. The service brought the congress to a conclusion.

CASUALTIES.

HANGED IN HIS BEDROOM.

At the City Coroner's Court on Wednesday an inquiry was held concerning George Horatio Pearson, lately residing at 23 Oatley-road, Paddington, who hanged himself in his bedroom on April 3. Deceased, who was somewhat of a hypochondriacal nature, said several times that he was tired of life, but it was not thought that he was serious. He had at one time been a patient at Callan Park for some months. A verdict of suicide was returned.

DIED FROM HEART FAILURE.

At the City Coroner's Court on Wednesday an inquiry was held concerning the death of Isabella Williams, 42, formerly residing at the corner of 6th and 9th avenue, Campsie, who died at the Sydney Hospital on Monday last. A verdict was returned that deceased died from heart failure, accelerated by a surgical operation necessarily performed upon her.

FATAL FALL FROM A BICYCLE.

On Monday afternoon Mr. Burton Smith, D.S.M., held an inquest at Parramatta touching the death of John Jackson Waddell, who fell from his bicycle on March 28 on the Galston-road while returning from his work. The Coroner entered a finding of accidental death.

FATAL FALL FROM A BICYCLE.

On Monday afternoon Mr. Burton Smith, D.S.M., held an inquest at Parramatta touching the death of John Jackson Waddell, who fell from his bicycle on March 28 on the Galston-road while returning from his work. The Coroner entered a finding of accidental death.

FATAL RAILWAY ACCIDENT.

PERTH, Tuesday.

William John Green, who was run down by a train at Guildford on Friday, died on Saturday morning. Green was in company with George Richard Lovering, who was killed on the spot.

YOUNG MAN'S DEATH.

DUNGOG, Wednesday.

The death occurred at the hospital last night of the young man, John Kholoff, of Booral, who was admitted yesterday afternoon suffering from injuries received by the collapse of a building which he was erecting.

RESULT OF A BOLT.

BATHURST, Wednesday.

Mr. Shepherd, a driver between Bathurst and Kelso, had an exciting experience at the latter place. He had just seated a lady passenger in a buggy, and was about to drive away, when the horse became frightened and bolted. The vehicle was overturned, and the occupants thrown out. Both were more or less seriously injured.

FALL FROM A SULKY.

MANILLA, Wednesday.

Mrs. James Russell was thrown from a sulky on Rushes Creek-road, owing to another vehicle coming behind and upsetting the sulky in which she was driving. A wheel of the back vehicle passed over her face, causing nasty injuries, crushing the cheek bone and tearing the scalp. Mrs. Russell is now in the hospital.

FIONA FROM FIJI.

The Colonial Sugar Refining Company's steamer Fiona, which arrived yesterday from Fiji, had the experience of other vessels which were many miles off the coast. When near Middleton Reef she encountered a strong south-west gale, with very heavy rainsqualls and big seas. These conditions, however, were not alone the cause of her late arrival. She was detained for nearly a couple of days awaiting the tide to tow off the little steamer Rani, which, having been beached at Fiji for cleaning, was driven further ashore, and made fast there. Several attempts by the Fiona were futile. The Rani, which was built at Mort's Dock for the Fiji interisland service, might, however, be got safely off later on. The Fiona brought over 5000 tons of sugar and 1450 tons of molasses.

THE PIONEERS' CLUB.

GOVERNOR-GENERAL WILL OPEN.

It was yesterday announced that his Excellency the Governor-General has consented to perform the ceremony of officially opening the Australasian Pioneers' Club Rooms and Historical Portrait Collection on Monday next, at 5 p.m., and that Sir Edmund Barton will deliver a short address on the aims and objects of the club.

Membership is strictly limited to descendants of the early settlers in the different States, and the roll now contains about 225 names. The following additional members have just been elected, the date preceding each name being that of the year in which the founder of the family settled in Australasia:—

1808, Captain G. H. Allan; 1798, C. H. Badgery; 1798, W. T. Badgery; 1798, K. P. Badgery; 1806, D. Mackenzie Bell; 1806, R. Mackenzie Bell; 1798, Selwyn F. Betts; 1838 (Vic.), Rev. H. S. Buntine; 1793, R. R. Buttsworth; 1838 (S.A.), D. G. Gawler; 1788, R. C. Garland; 1788, E. A. Garland; 1788, F. C. Gibbes; 1829 (Vic.), E. T. Griffin; 1802, David Hall; 1790, H. R. F. Hume, W. G. Judd; 1788, G. M. Gidley King; 1788, Arthur P. King; 1788, P. M. Lethbridge; 1828 (W.A.), Mark R. Macrae; 1791, A. G. Milson; 1791, A. J. Milson; 1788, Norman H. Murray; 1805, F. N. Oxley; 1805, A. N. Oxley; 1788, Trevanion S. Rodd; 1810, H. S. Ryrie; 1836 (S.A.), A. F. Hindmarsh Stephen; 1800, R. Bowling Suttor; 1800, F. W. Suttor; 1800, C. N. W. Terry; 1792, J. R. Wilshire; 1792, A. P. Wilshire; 1841 (W.A.), H. N. S. Wollaston; 1836 (S.A.), Audrey H. Wilkinson; 1835 (Vic.), J. Batman Weire; 1807, J. F. Youl; 1788, H. E. Weston.

THE WEATHER.

Fine and warm conditions ruled generally over the State, with slightly warmer temperatures than had obtained for the past day or two. The highest readings were mostly in the north-west, Collarenebri and Cudgellico registered 92 degrees, Mungindi and Moree 91, and White Cliffs, Wilcannia, Mogil, and Walgett each 90. A thunderstorm threatened at Inverell during Tuesday afternoon, but no rain resulted, the only precipitation being 2 points at Newcastle and 1 at Moruya, the result of heavy fogs during the early morning.

QUEENSLAND FLOOD RAINS.

The following heavy rainfalls have been registered in Queensland:—

Cairns.—Sunday, 20.16; Monday, 5.11; Tuesday, 5.04; total, 30.31.

Cardwell.—Sunday, 6.30; Monday, 12.84; total, 19.14.

Innisfail.—Sunday, 15.00; Monday, 11.25; total, 26.25.

Kuranda.—Sunday, 28.80; Monday, 8.40; total, 37.20.

The heaviest fall in 24 hours for the whole of Queensland was 35.71 inches, which fell on January 31, 1893, at Crohamhurst, on the Blackall Range.

THE REFERENDUM.

THE LIBERAL CAMPAIGN.

Mr. Wade will finish his Northern tour at Manilla, where he will address a meeting. He speaks to-morrow night at the Record Reign Hall, Glebe, and also at the Redfern Town Hall.

Mr. Joseph Cook, M.P., will speak in the Petersham Town Hall to-night. To-morrow he will be at Beecroft, and on Saturday at Wyong.

Mr. Bruce Smith, M.P., has arranged to speak at Arncliffe to-morrow night, and later will go to Mudgee. Mr. C. W. Oakes will be at Bowral to-night. Mr. T. Henley, M.L.A., will address a meeting at Moss Vale to-morrow night.

Many meetings are being arranged by the general secretary of the Liberal Association, Mr. Parkhill, for next week, both in the city and country.

STRAINING ON THE LEASH.

MR. HOLMAN'S POSITION.

The Acting Premier, Mr. Holman, has arranged to address his constituents at Cootamundra on the 20th inst.

Seeing that several of his colleagues have unburdened themselves upon the subject of the referendum, it is not improbable that Mr. Holman will take his constituents into his confidence and explain the issues from his point of view.

WOMEN'S LIBERAL LEAGUE.

Mr. Bruce Smith delivered his final lecture to women on the referendum at the league rooms on Monday, and briefly sketched the history of federation. The Labour party, to a man, he said, stoutly opposed the federal principle, but the aim of the referendum was to destroy this principle, and to extend the powers of the Federal Parliament. Following the example of the United States, certain powers of a national character had been assigned to the National Parliament, and all the others left to the States. The referendum would hand over to the Federal Parliament the control of commerce, trade, and industry, and the regulation of industrial laws.

With respect to monopolies, Mr. Bruce Smith showed that no business open to opposition could be called a monopoly, and quoted Mr. Hughes, that technically no monopoly exists in Australia. A great business was the result of administrative ability, and as it permitted of buying in large quantities, could also sell cheaply. The public benefited when large companies were brought together, as there was greater economy in production and in labour. Gas was not a monopoly; there was nothing to prevent competition if the difficulty of taking up the streets and laying down the roads was overcome. Nor was the Sugar Company a monopoly, as anyone could start an opposing industry, and the sugar growers could buy shares themselves. The Federal Parliament would assume the power of declaring any great business a monopoly. As an example of the evils of Government monopolies, Mr. Bruce Smith cited the tobacco monopoly in France, which was "the dearest and vilest in the world."

SIR JAMES GRAHAM AT BALMAIN.

A public meeting was held in the Balmain Town Hall last night for the purpose of hearing an address on the referendum by Sir James Graham. Alderman W. J. Lawes presided.

Sir James Graham dwelt upon the attempt to get permission to take over the regulation of labour and industry, and the settlement of disputes all over the continent. That proposal seemed to him impracticable. But, apart from that aspect of the question, they had to consider that this meant, among other things, the regulation of the railway servants in the employment of the different States. We would have to remember that we had to go to the English market for money when we wanted to build new railways or tramways, and, as we had already at least £60,000,000 invested in the railways and tramways, the probability was that when we went on the market again the English money-lenders would want to know a lot of things. They would want to know how the railways and tramways were managed; and if the control of them was handed over to the Federal authorities, and they had the power of regulating the hours and wages of the men, where would the States be? If this power was given to the Federal authorities they might as well hand over to them the whole thing, lock, stock, and barrel. It would be absurd to give them this power, and there was no justification for such an attempt. He then dealt with the alleged sugar trust, and argued that there was no trust whatever, and that the profits of the local company during the last few years had been derived, not from profits in the ordinary sense, but from the results of the researches of scientists and chemists. He strongly argued against giving the Federal Parliament the powers sought. They had quite enough to do to attend to the national functions, and, he added, if these men were given more work to do, the chances were that they would say, "You must give us more pay." (Laughter.) If they did, there would be no referendum on that point—(laughter)—because the Act gave them power "to vote such sums as Parliament might determine."

Mr. W. T. Dick also addressed the meeting.

IN THE COUNTRY.

BARRABA, Wednesday.

Mr. C. G. Wade addressed the largest political meeting ever held here at the Mechanics' Hall on Tuesday night. He delivered a splendid explanation of the questions at issue, and pointed out what would happen if the proposals were carried. It is expected there will be a solid vote for No. Mr. Wade was listened to very attentively.

BLAYNEY, Wednesday.

Mr. Cohen, member for Petersham, addressed a meeting in the Town Hall on Monday night, dealing with the referendum proposals, in a closely-reasoned speech, which made a very good impression.

NARRANDERA, Wednesday.

Sir John Quick addressed a large audience in the public hall on Tuesday night, the Mayor, Alderman Elwin, in the chair, on the proposed alteration of the Federal Constitution.

MORUYA, Wednesday.

What were probably the best political speeches ever heard in Moruya were delivered on Tuesday night by Mr. Cocks, M.L.A., and Mr. Owen Gilbert, on the referendum questions. The Mayor (Alderman Flynn) occupied the chair, and the attendance was good. Both speakers were strong in their denunciation of the proposed amendments to the Constitution. At the conclusion a series of questions were satisfactorily answered, and both speakers were accorded enthusiastic votes of thanks.

TEMORA, Wednesday.

Colonel Ryrie addressed a splendid meeting here on Tuesday night, strongly advising electors to answer the referendum proposals in the negative. The Mayor, Alderman Nixon, presided. The speaker was vociferously applauded when he said that a good deal of the present fight was one between giants of the Labour movement—Mr. Holman and Mr. Hughes, and that voters should say "No" with the State Attorney-General. The meeting was the most enthusiastic ever held in Temora. At the conclusion, a vote was taken and carried overwhelmingly against the proposals. Colonel Ryrie addressed a good meeting at Grafton on Tuesday afternoon.

WOLUMLA, Tuesday.

Mr. Owen Gilbert, ex-M.L.A., delivered an address on the referendum in the School of Arts against the proposals.

It is felt that the chief danger to be feared in respect to the referendum is that of a comparatively small vote. Considerable activity is being displayed by a number of members, who are visiting not only the large cities but all the small polling places in their constituencies. Mr. J. Fallick, M.L.A., has completed a large number of centres in his electorate. Captain Millard, M.L.A., has arranged to speak at Narooma on Saturday next, and at Tilba Tilba, Central Tilba, Punkally, and Bodalla on the succeeding days.

Mr. Varney Parkes has just returned from a tour of several centres in the Queanbeyan electorate, whilst Mr. J. J. Cohen speaks this week at Blayney, Newbridge, Rydal, Gulgong, and Mudgee.

Mr. Downes is completing a tour of the Camden electorate. He and Mr. C. W. Oakes spoke at Liverpool on Friday last to a good meeting. Mr. F. J. Thomas has also a programme of meetings in his own electorate that will take him up to the date of the referendum.

Mr. S. R. Innes Noad is speaking at a number of suburban centres, and Mr. Bruce Smith will address a meeting at Arncliffe on Friday.

THE TEETOTAL RAILWAY STATION.

Travellers can always obtain FISHER'S FAMOUS "KOLA CUP" at HART'S Refreshment Rooms. By the glass 6d, large bottles 4s. Contains the finest wine, and is superior to spirits or beer for the weary traveller. It will sustain you through all the journey. Ladies especially find "KOLA CUP" a great advantage.—Advt.

THE MISSING YONGALA.

MORE WRECKAGE.

BRISBANE, Wednesday.

Inspector Malone, of Townsville, received a telegram from Halifax to-day stating that Mr. Robinson, of Halifax, yesterday found two cabin doors, one fancy door, hatchways, a pillow, drawers, kerosene tins, and cases of broken timber at Hinchinbrook, opposite Herbert River. He stated that there was a bad smell there, coming from Palm Islands. Mr. Wareham is trying to intercept the Pelican in order to have a search made of Palm Islands before she goes to Nares Rock.

LOCATING THE WRECK.

TOWNSVILLE, Wednesday.

Mr. M. O'Brien, a well-known Northern diver, has completed arrangements to visit Nares Rock as soon as the weather is suitable. He is taking a complete diving plant, 150ft of piping, and two air pumps. Mr. O'Brien says he feels certain that he will locate the Yongala if she is anywhere near the rock.

TARCOOLA FINDS WRECKAGE.

CAIRNS, Wednesday.

The Tarcoola has arrived, and reported finding at Wheeler Reef a lifeboat cover, case of apples, and bag of flour. The telegraph line is badly interrupted.

IDENTIFYING WRECKAGE.

BRISBANE, Wednesday.

Mr. Wareham said to-night that he had communicated with the company's agent at Lucinda Point, and had ascertained the dimensions of the gratings picked up. They corresponded with those on the Yongala. With regard to the white painted woodwork found near Palm Island, he said much of the decorative scheme on the Yongala was white. With regard to the piece of copper found on Nares Rock, it was part of the driving band which encircles every big gun shell. This lends colour to the suggestion thrown out that the dislodgements on Nares Rock may have been caused during naval gun practice.

LABOUR TROUBLES.

WHARF-LABOURERS' STRIKE.

ADELAIDE, Wednesday.

At Kingston a strike occurred at Murray Bridge wharf on Tuesday, 40 men being affected. The trouble is with the Gem Navigation Company, who brought men from Renmark to handle growers' goods. Mr. Ryan, one of the U.L.U. organisers, has arrived from Adelaide. The situation is acute. An official of the Gem Navigation Company said:—"We have been expecting this for some time. The company is under contract to handle these goods, and we are determined to carry out that agreement."

THE TERALBA DIFFICULTY.

MEN AND PROPRIETORS MEET.

NEWCASTLE, Wednesday.

A conference between the miners and proprietors of the Teralba collieries was held on Tuesday to consider the rates and conditions prevailing at the collieries. The conference consisted of four representatives of the men and a similar number of representatives of the proprietors. The mines concerned are Northern Extended, Pacific, Rhondda, Northumberland, and each of the collieries was represented at the conference. At the conclusion of the meeting it was stated that the discussion had been of an amicable nature as far as it had gone, and there was every reason to believe that a satisfactory settlement would be effected. The conference lasted all day, and will be continued some day next week. If any concessions are made they will date from the first of this month.

LABOURERS' WAGES.

JAMBEROO, Wednesday.

The Jamberoo Municipal Council has received a letter from the Railway and Tramway Construction, Road, and General Labourers' Association, giving notice of their intention to apply for certain claims to the wages board as applying to the whole State. The application would affect the council. The claims are as follow:—Shovel men and tip men for drays, 9s per day; concrete work, 10s; bridge carpenters, 14s; rough carpenters, 11s; bridge carpenters' labourers, 11s; ploughman, 11s; offsiders, 10s; horse, dray, and driver, 15s; extra horse, 6s; drivers for privately-owned horse and cart, 9s; nippers and youths under 17 years, 7s 6d per day; pile drivers, 14s; pile pointers, 11s; pipe layers, 12s; week's work, 44 hours; time allowance or overtime in proceeding to and from work over half a mile; men to receive accident pay, first-aid appliances, and doctor to be available to the men and their families at all times at employers' expense; boiling water to be supplied the men at meal times while at work; and employers to insure employees against accident. The council decided to protest against the proposal.

THE PELAW MAIN TROUBLE.

PROPOSED COURT OF CONCILIATION.

MEN ACCEPT PROPRIETORS' PROPOSALS.

NEWCASTLE, Wednesday.

A meeting of the Delegate Board of the Colliery Employees' Association was held to-day, when the proposals of the proprietors in connection with the proposed Conciliation Court to deal with the question of working tops in Pelaw Main colliery were considered. Mr. Holman, Acting Premier, had suggested that the board should consist of five persons, including two representatives from each side and a Judge. The proprietors' proposals were:—(1) A Court of Conciliation to be established at once, with a Judge as president, and two assessors on either side, to consider the question of working tops in Pelaw Main colliery; (2) both sides to be at liberty to call evidence regarding claims and counter claims; (3) no legal representation; (4) the men to return to work on the rates existing prior to the stoppage.

A motion to the effect that these suggestions be adopted was carried by the board. The board also decided that the condition under which the court was accepted was that any award made should be retrospective from the date the men resumed work.

Mr. A. Lewis, treasurer of the Colliery Employees' Federation, was appointed one of the men's assessors, and it was decided that the Pelaw Main lodge appoint the other.

THE WOLGAN AWARD.

LITHGOW, Wednesday.

A report from Newnes states that the men are well satisfied with the interpretation of the disputed clauses in the Wolgan award, as decided last week. Remarks also made in public, even before the decision was arrived at, showed the workers were very much impressed with the strict impartiality of the chairman (Judge Scholes).

TROUBLE ON THE MURRAY.

ADELAIDE, Wednesday.

In connection with the trouble at Murray Bridge, Mr. J. Dale, secretary of the U.L.U., stated that, according to telegrams received, the trouble was extending further. Boats had been tied up, and it was only a matter of a few hours before trade on the River Murray would be brought to a standstill. This morning an attempt had been made to remove Silbert, Sharp, and Bishop's Renmark pears from the export depot, Port Adelaide. The men working at the depot, however, had refused to handle them.

During the week ended April 1 the earnings of the railways amounted to £128,723, showing an increase, as compared with the corresponding week of last year, of £5271. The tramway earnings last week ran to £28808. This was less by £2180 than the receipts for the corresponding week of last year, which included the Easter traffic.

CARGO OF BANANAS.

The A.U.S.N. Company's steamer Suva, which left Sydney on March 15 for Fiji, has returned with 28,784 bunches and 286 cases of bananas, 127 cases mandarins, 1547 sacks copra, 273 sacks shell, 46 sacks hides, 17 sacks cocoanuts, and 52 packages sundries. Captain Savage reports having left Fiji at 5.30 p.m. on 30th ult. The vessel experienced strong south-westerly winds, with heavy south-westerly swell, and fine and clear weather.

HOULDER LINE.

The steamer Irak, 8000 tons, owned by Messrs. J. H. Welsford and Co., of Liverpool, built at Belfast by Messrs. Workman, Clark, and Co., has, it is reported, been purchased for the Houlder line. She is to be known in her new employment as the Leven Grange. The Guardiana, 7000 tons, a single-screw, built at Newcastle in 1907 by Messrs. Palmer, will also join the Houlder Line, taking the name of Sutherland Grange.

THE ESSLINGEN.

The German-Australian steamer Esslingen, from Christiania direct, is a new vessel of 4030 tons, and is on her maiden voyage to Australia. She closely resembles the Rendsburg and Wismar. Her voyage from Scandinavia, via Newcastle-on-Tyne, to Melbourne, was in every way uneventful.

GEORGIC FOR LIVERPOOL.

The White Star liner Georgic will sail to-day for London and Liverpool. Her principal lines of cargo are the following:—From Sydney: 3422 tons wheat, 407 tons copra, 500 bales wool, 160 tons tallow, 2700 hides, 40 casks pelts, 180 bales sheepskins, 45 bales furs, 2250 cases meats, 8 bales horns, 16 bags shells, 50 tons timber, 2000 boxes butter. From Brisbane: 78 bales wool, 2000 hides, 748 casks tallow, 5 bales furs.

FROM THE ISLANDS.

The Colonial Sugar Refining Company's steamer Fiona, which left Sydney for Fiji islands on January 17, arrived at Lautoka on January 25. On leaving Sydney, moderate NE winds were experienced to the 172 deg. E. meridian, when the vessel passed through a moderate SE gale, with high sea, after which fine NE weather to port. After discharging the inward cargo, she left Lautoka for Louthola Bay and Labasa, returning to Lautoka. She left the latter port for Auckland, N.Z., arriving there on March 3. From thence she returned to Lautoka, Fiji, and loaded sugar for Sydney. During the stay in the Fiji group, strong NE squalls, with heavy rain, were experienced the greater portion of the time. On the run from Lautoka to Sydney light variable winds, with moderate sea, prevailed until nearing Middleton Reef (which was passed close to), when a strong SW gale was met, together with heavy rain and high sea.

YAWATA MARU AT BRISBANE.

Burns, Philp, and Company, Limited (managing agents for Nippon Yusen Kaisha in Australasia), are in receipt of a telegram from Brisbane stating that the steamer Yawata Maru arrived at that port yesterday afternoon, and left again at night for Sydney. The vessel is expected to arrive here on Friday afternoon. She has made an excellent run from Townsville.

WIRELESS AT NEWCASTLE.

BUSH NURSING.

NEW SOUTH WALES ASSOCIATION FORMED.

A branch of the Bush Nursing Association has been formed in this State, and Miss Garran, of Equitable-buildings, has been appointed interim secretary.

The original federal scheme, as outlined by Lady Dudley, has not been put into execution, but a forward move has been made with State schemes in Victoria—where two nurses have been appointed—and in New South Wales. The money which was subscribed to the original scheme in Victoria has now, with the consent of the subscribers, been given to the Victorian Bush Nursing Association, and has been invested under a deed of trust, the trustees being a public company. After the consent of the subscribers in New South Wales has been obtained, it is intended that the same procedure shall be followed with the money subscribed in this State.

His Excellency Lord Chelmsford has promised his patronage and support, with that of Lady Chelmsford, to the New South Wales Bush Nursing Association. The list of members of the council has not yet been completed, but amongst those who have been appointed are Sir Joseph Carruthers, Mr. Meeks, M.L.C., Dr. Clubbe, Dr. Taylor Young, Dr. Dick, Mr. Helsham, Miss Watson, and Miss Gould, and the following bodies will be asked to appoint representative members:—The New South Wales branch of the British Medical Association, the Australian Trained Nurses' Association, and the District Nursing Association of Sydney.

"Although we know that nurses for the bush are sadly needed in many parts of the State, we feel that the work must begin gradually," said Dr. Clubbe last evening. "Residents in any given locality who are anxious to obtain a nurse must form a local committee—that is, a district council—and then apply to the central council for recognition. They must also inform the central council what salary they are prepared to guarantee. The salary for the nurse may be raised by subscriptions, contributions from patients (which must not be paid direct to the nurse), entertainments, or in any other way residents may think fit. When the council gets a guarantee it will be prepared to send out a properly qualified trained nurse. The nurse must always act under medical direction."

FINANCIAL.

POINTS ABOUT WOOL.

From Winchcombe, Carson, Ltd., we have received an advance copy of their "Annual Wool Review," from which we extract a few of the most striking points, as follows:—

Taken by and large, the year just finished must be reckoned to have been a good one from the wool producer's point of view.

Many clips were unattractive in appearance; and, as a result, there was hesitancy in the biddings when the season's sales opened, and many people thought that a slump in wool values had come at last. It was not so. There was no slump; but the market was certainly not as good as it had been in the spring of 1909.

This was disappointing; and those owners whose wools were drier and lighter than in the previous year, and who were inclined to overlook the burr in their own clips, indulged in some lamentation.

As to the market during the greater part of the season just concluded, no one can deny that prices were good. But they were not uniformly good.

Now and then there came a bad day or two, when things seemed to hang fire—when some of the buyers' limits had been reduced, or orders cancelled. These occasional drops kept people on tenterhooks; and growers who could not get their wool offered before the Christmas recess were very nervous about results.

The glorious rains of January and February, which extended all over Queensland and New South Wales, brightened the pastoralist up considerably, and he forgot his troubles.

But just at this juncture came an imperative call from the Federal Government for the filling up of returns under the Progressive Land Tax Act.

This brought landowners down to earth again. Apart from the unpleasantness of having to pay out a cheque for this new tax, the labour and worry involved in the writing up of the necessary forms was a sore trial.

The net result is that every man on the land knows that he is a year older to-day than he was twelve months ago.

A bushman can battle with a drought; or fight a flood; or stand up against an invasion of rabbits. He may even pay his land tax with the indifference of a cheerful fatalist; but brain fag is not in his line, and he has no love for the man who devised the complicated land tax forms which he has recently had to wrestle with.

The season was remarkable for the run upon superfine merinos. From start to finish the cry was fineness.

The wools that hung fire were the short faulty clips. The previous season had left an abundant legacy of noils, which even the activity of the flannel trade had not been able to cope with.

In the distribution of the clip some noteworthy changes have taken place.

France and Germany remain our chief customers, with a margin in favour of the latter.

The British section of the trade has made great strides. Yorkshire enjoyed a period of something akin to feverish activity.

Wool shipped to Belgium is largely for French and German account. Convenience of transit has much to do with these shipments. The treatment of faulty wools—Belgium makes a specialty of carbonising—brings considerable wool into the country. The wool arrives unattractive and speckled with seeds and burrs of all kinds. It leaves the mills as white and faultless as snow, but sadly reduced in bulk.

Our trade with the East is as yet practically confined to Japan. A few small orders for China have been executed in this market, but that country's share in the wool clip of Australia is at present insignificant. Meanwhile Japan is widening the character of its trade. The quantity of wool purchased at the Sydney sales is about the same as last year; but the wool acquired included merino fleece up to 16½d.

To Japan belongs the distinction of having paid this season's record price for merino wool.

The great disappointment of the season has been the very restricted character of the American demand. After two comparatively active seasons, during which 25,000 to 27,000 bales were bought in Sydney, the purchases have dwindled down to a little over 5000 bales.

BANK ABSTRACT.

The abstract of liabilities and assets of the undermentioned banks within the State of New South Wales for the quarter ended March 31 may be compared as follow:—

SYDNEY BANK CLEARINGS.

The clearings of the Sydney Bank for the week ended April 3 totalled £6,552,216, against £6,731,672 last year for the corresponding period. The following comparison may be made of the totals to nearest dates of the years here enumerated:—

|---|---|
| January 1 to April 5, 1907 | £65,455,873 |
| January 1 to April 6, 1908 | 62,122,567 |
| January 1 to April 5, 1909 | 63,051,248 |
| January 1 to April 4, 1910 | 69,659,061 |
| January 1 to April 3, 1911 | 78,052,417 |

There has thus been an increase to date of £8,393,356. The clearings of the Melbourne Banks from January 1 to March 27 reached £68,822,274, an increase of £6,307,981.

MANLY ELECTRIC SUPPLY CO.

Mr. Alexander Spence, secretary of the Manly Electric Supply Co., Ltd., writes:—

Sir,—Referring to your comment in connection with this company, I should be glad if you would correct your assertion, that the goodwill is £3408. The correct amount is, as stated in the prospectus, viz., £2488 6s 3d. Certain sums, amounting approximately to £920, expended in recent additions to plant, will be paid for in cash by the new company. This item is not included in the assets, as set out in detail in the prospectus, but the company will receive these additional assets. The net profit made by the proprietary vendor company for the last 12 months is sufficient to pay a 7½ per cent. dividend on the issued capital. The numerous orders which the vendor company have received have made it imperative to enlarge the scope of the company, and the figures set out in the prospectus are all based on the most conservative lines. Please note that the item of goodwill covers the contracts, including one for a period of 20 years, to supply light to the Manly Council, which will be of considerable value to the company.

We are glad this matter of the assets is cleared up, as the abridged prospectus was not at all clear on the point. The information as to the profits of the vendor company, though scarcely as detailed, nor covering as long a period as could be desired, is still of value. The valuation of the assets by the vendor company only still remains a weakness in the prospectus.

BANK OF NEW ZEALAND.

WELLINGTON (N.Z.), Wednesday.

Mr. Harold Beauchamp was re-elected chairman of directors of the Bank of New Zealand.

The market continued strong at the late advance.

COMMERCIAL.

THE MARKETS.

A steady though quiet business was reported in all lines yesterday. Eastern produce was moving off freely at the advanced rates which came into force last Friday. The cable news from Singapore was not at all reassuring, and it was expected that there would be a further rise. The trouble with the labourers on account of higher wages offering by rubber planters continues, and, in addition, growers have to contend with a very severe drought. To get labour, something approaching the offers of rubber plantations have to be paid, and this is added to the cost. Then the drought is seriously affecting supplies, and the result is a firming up all round. Cables from London indicated that canary seed had suffered a setback, and was offering at 15/ a ton lower. The local price will not be affected for some weeks to come. Tartaric acid was also cabled a farthing a pound lower. The tea market remained uneasy, and although there was rather more inquiry for Ceylons and Indians, there was not nearly sufficient asked for to meet the requirements of consumption. One hundred packages of China tea sold at /6½.

A fair business was doing in all metal lines at the current prices. The heavy demand for oil continued unabated. The easier market in London cannot affect the price here for a long time to come; indeed, it may be that even after the new shipments arrive the price will remain at its present level, on account of the little being ordered. Turpentine also had an active inquiry, despite the high prices. Some Pinetree was quoted at 5/7, but most of the houses possessing any stock at all are asking from 5/9 to 5/10. Fair business was done in whitelead, Champion's at 30/ and Fergusson's at 39/. Woolpacks were slightly easier on cabled advices from Calcutta, but prices did not recede. Calcutta was offering 2/3 for April shipment, equal to 2/4½ landed here, and the opinion was very generally expressed that as soon as a few orders were received at this price the market, which is in a delicate state, would firm again. About 50 bales were sold for Queensland. Small lots of cornsacks sold at 5/3, and branbags were going out to the country at 3/10.

DRAWBACK ON PARTLY-MANUFACTURED ARTICLES.

A Commonwealth "Gazette" notice states:—"Drawback may be allowed in terms of the Customs regulations on the undermentioned imported material used in the manufacture of articles within the Commonwealth, upon the exportation of such manufactured articles, and subject to the conditions specified hereunder:—101. Tubes, motor tyre, partially manufactured when imported, and subsequently finished: Provided in each case, before drawback be allowed, the Collector shall be absolutely satisfied the drawback claimed is properly due, and, if he thinks necessary, may require the manufacture to take place under the supervision of an officer."

BREADSTUFFS.

Practically no business was done in the wheat markets yesterday. A few small lots were obtained, but not in any quantity. Shippers were offering 3/1 to 3/1½, and millers up to 3/4. No one was inclined to do business. Holders' opinion was that the market would recover; buyers thought that it would fall still lower. A cable from London stated that a cargo of New South Wales wheat, April shipment, had sold at 32/ per quarter of 480lb. This is the lowest price since June 15, when a South Australian cargo, January shipment, was sold at 31/.

Business in flour continued quiet at the quotation of £8/5/ for first city brands. There has been a great demand for pollard. Hence the price was advanced yesterday 5/ a ton, the quotation being £4/10/.

At Darling Harbour yesterday 2134 tons of wheat and 142 tons of flour were manifested to arrive.

WHEAT SALE.

The cargo of wheat by the steamer Apolda, now loading at Sydney, has been sold at 32/ a quarter of 480lb c.i.f.

INTERSTATE MARKETS.

ADELAIDE, Wednesday.

The wheat market is dull, farmers' lots being quoted at 3/ on trucks, Port Adelaide, 2/11 outports. Very little is being sold at these prices. Flour is quoted £7/10/ f.o.b., £8 to £8/5/ delivered. Bran and pollard are firm at 1/0½ delivered. Oats are quiet at 2/2 f.o.b. Dun peas are dull at 4/ to 4/1 f.o.b.

PRODUCE MARKETS.

TRADE IN SUSSEX-STREET.

TRADE GOOD.

There was a generally brisk tone apparent on "the street" on Wednesday. Potatoes found ready buyers at £7/10/ for prime redskins, and as nearly 1000 bags were condemned in the last shipment there is no likelihood of the prices weakening just yet. Maize continued firm at 2/6, though 2/7 was reached for good firm new river. As the arrivals from Queensland and Victoria have fallen off, from now forward the trade must depend on local supplies. Oats were in good demand when of first-class quality, 2/11 being given for best White Giants, 2/6 for heavy milling, and 2/7 for prime Algerian seed. Onions continued to sell at the low price of £2/5/, but as the supplies are very heavy this price is all that can be expected. Choice green wheaten chaff was bringing £4/10/, oaten £3/15/, and both lines sold well. Pollard was advanced by the association 5/ to £4/10/.

Current quotations were:—

FORAGE.

Chaff.—Local or Victorian, wheaten, best green, £4/10/, good £4/5/. Oaten, prime £3/15/, other qualities £3 to £3/10/; shandy, £3/15/.

Derrick Straw.—Tasmanian: Wheaten, best 50/ to 52/6, oaten 45/ to 47/6 per ton.

Oaten Hay.—Victorian: Prime 80/ to 85/ per ton.

Lucerne.—Hunter River: Choice dry green, £2/10/, medium £2 to £2/15/, inferior £1/10/.

Millet.—Local, £24 per ton.

FEED-GRAIN AND OFFAL.

Maize.—Victorian: Prime yellow, 2/6½ to 2/7. Northern river, new maize 2/3 to 2/6, very choice 2/7 per bushel.

Barley.—Victorian: Cape, for seed, 2/8; feed 2/6 to 2/7; English, feed 2/3 to 2/6 per bushel.

Peas.—Tasmanian: Prime blue boiling, 5/3; others, from 4/9; grey, 5/ per bushel.

Oats.—Tasmanian: Best milling, whites, 2/8, good stout 2/7; Giants, 2/9 to 2/11. Algerian: Milling, 2/4 to 2/5; seed, 2/6 per bushel.

Bran.—Association price, £4/5/; pollard, £4/10/ per ton.

VEGETABLES.

Potatoes.—Tasmanian: Redskins, £7/10/; whiteskins and Up-to-date, £6/10/.

Onions.—Victorian: Brown Spanish, £2 to £2/10/.

DAIRY PRODUCE.

TRADE GOOD GENERALLY.

There was no material alteration apparent in the prices quoted on Wednesday, but all lines were going out freely at current rates. The approach of Easter is having a good effect on business in almost all lines.

The following prices were current:—

Butter.—First-grade 86/, good to medium 82/ to 84/, secondary 76/ to 80/ per cwt, pastry 68/ to 74/ per cwt.

Lard.—Bulk, /5½; packets, /6½; special packets /6½, bulk /5½ per lb.

Cheese.—Prime loaf /5½ to /5½, large /4¾ to /5, medium size /4½ to /4½, good /4 to /4½, inferior from /3, special /6½ to /7 per lb.

Bacon.—Prime factory, sides /6½ to /7½, flitches /7 to /7½, middles /8½ to /9; special sides /8½, middles /9½ to /10, flitches /8½, shoulders ... per lb.

Hams.—Bacon, /8 to /9, prepared /9½ to /11; special double covers /12; single cloth, /11½ to 1/ per lb.

Eggs.—Northern river, 1/ to 1/1, choice 1/2, candled 1/3; South Coast and railway 1/1 to 1/2, choice 1/4 to 1/6; suburban, new-laid 1/8 to 1/10, choice 1/11; duck eggs, 1/2 to 1/5, choice 1/6 per dozen.

POULTRY.

The following prices were ruling:—Hens, extra choice 3/ to 3/6, good 2/9 to 3/; roosters, extra choice 4/, good 3/ to 3/6; chickens, small 1/ to 1/6, Muscovy ducks, 3/6; drakes, 4/ to 5/; English ducks, 2/6 to 3/; turkeys, choice hens 5/ to 7/6, cocks 10/ to 15/; guineafowls, 4/6, pigeons, 1/6 per pair.

FIREWOOD.

Twenty-six trucks were forwarded, and the demand was good. Good sales were effected at the following prices:—

Best boxwood, 18/ to 19/6, good 17/6 to 18/; ironbark and stringy, 12/ to 16/6; best bakers' wood, 15/, good 14/ to 14/6.

AUCTION SALES.

THE RAILWAY MARKET.

DECLINE IN POTATOES.

Buyers were not too keen on bidding at the Redfern yards on Wednesday, and prices were dead. Chaff showed an increase of 4/4, and potatoes a decrease of 4/. Prime tubers sold at from 5/1 to 5/10, good 4/ to 4/3, medium 3/3 per cwt, and inferior samples 4/9 per bag. The only lot of lucerne hay offered consisted of choice small bales, and went under the hammer at 4/6. Prime chickwheat found purchasers at 3/, and good at from 2/9 to 2/10. Choice wheaten chaff moved off at from 4/1 to 4/9, prime 4/ to 4/3, good 3/6 to 3/9, medium 3/3. Of the oaten quality prime brought 3/10 to 4/, good 3/6 to 3/7, and mixed 3/1 to 3/7.

Sixty-four trucks were put in, and of these 17 were passed, i.e., chaff 33, passed 11; lucerne hay 1, passed 0; derrick straw 1, passed 1; wheat 4, passed 0; oats 3, passed 2; and potatoes 22, passed 2.

THE VEGETABLE MARKET.

The following are the current quotations at the Sydney municipal vegetable market:—Cabbages, large 7/ to 8/, medium 4/6 to 5/6, small 1/ to 2/; cauliflowers, large 10/ to 12/, medium 6/6 to 7/6, small 2/6 to 4/6; pumpkins, large 5/, medium 3/, small 1/ to 1/6; cucumbers, 1/6 to 2/; vegetable marrows, 4/ to 5/ per doz.; carrots, /8 to 1/; lettuce, /9 to 1/; parsnips, 1/6 to 2/; white turnips, 1/ to 1/6; spinach, 1/ to 1/3; beetroot, 1/3 to 1/6; leeks, /9 to 1/6; parsley, 1/6 to 2/; mint, /8 to 1/; asparagus, 7/6 to 10/; herbs, /8 to 1/; watercress, 1/6 to 2/; rhubarb, 1/6 to 2/6; celery, 1/6 to 2/; eschalots, 1/3 to 1/6; radishes, /6 to 8/; horseradish, 6/ to 9/ doz. bunches; potatoes, Tasmanian 8/ to 8/6, sweet 6/ to 7/; onions, 5/; sweet turnips, 3/ per cwt.; French beans, 3/ to 3/6; green peas, 4/ to 6/; chillies, 2/6 to 2/9 per bushel; tomatoes, 2/ to 3/ per quarter-case, 4/ to 4/6 per half-case.

FRUIT MARKETS.

GRAPES DEAD.

The market for local fruit was improved on Wednesday, and oranges especially sold well. Grapes are now undergoing a depression, stated to be the worst in the history of the trade, and the prices realised are very far from satisfactory. Victorian pears are now in over-supply, and all the interstate dealers are barricaded behind piles of cases that accumulate too fast. The prices realised in these lines are not generally up to the quoted figures, as the quality of the pears varies greatly, but there are cases of really excellent pears that return fair profit. Another large shipment of bananas is to hand, but the number of bunches was not known for certain.

Current quotations were:—

Apples.—Dessert, choice 6/ to 7/, medium 4/ to 5/, small 2/6 to 3/; cooking, choice 4/6, medium 2/6 to 3/; jam lots 1/6 per gin-case. Tasmanian: Ribstones, 4/6 to 5/; red sorts, 3/ to 5/6; cooking, 4/ to 4/6.

Nuts.—Lychee, 11 to 1/; almonds, /7 to /11; Barcelonas, /9; walnuts, /8 to /9; peanuts, /5½ per lb.

Oranges.—Second crop, extra choice 12/ to 14/, choice 10/ to 11/, medium 4/ to 5/ per case, small 2/6 to 3/ per gin-case.

Plums.—Pond's seedlings, choice 4/ to 4/6, medium 2/6 to 3/ per half-case. Victorian: Dark 2/ to 3/, light 1/6 to 2/.

Pears.—Victorian W.B.C. pears, 4/ to 5/, large 4/; B.D.C., 4/ to 5/ per bushel-case; jam lots, 2/6 per bushel-case. Tasmanian, 2/ to 2/6 per half-bushel case.

Passionfruit.—Choice 4/ to 5/, medium 2/ to 2/6 per half-case, small 2/6 to 3/ per gin-case.

Pineapples.—Commons, Ripley 5/ to 6/6, small 3/6 to 4/6; Queens, choice 6/6 to 7/6, good 4/6 to 5/6 per case.

Pomegranates.—4/ to 5/ per gin-case.

Tomatoes.—Local: Choice coloured 3/6 to 4/, medium 2/ to 2/6, small 1/6 per half-case.

Watermelons.—Local: Best 5/, medium 2/6 to 3/, small 1/6 to 2/ per dozen.

Persimmons.—Choice 2/6 to 3/, medium 1/ to 1/6 per half-case.

Coconuts.—14/6 to 16/6 per pack, 2/ to 2/6 per dozen.

KAMERUKA CHEDDAR CHEESE was awarded the Grand Prix at the Franco-British Exhibition.—Advt.

WOOL SALES.

SYDNEY.

Wool sales were held yesterday at the Sydney Wool Exchange, Bridge-street, when the quantity catalogued totalled 6162 bales, and the sales, including private transactions, amounted to 9361 bales, as under:—

| Broker. | Offerings. | Sales. At Auction. | Privately, ex Catalogue. | Privately, un-catalogued. | Total Sales. |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Harrison, Jones, and Devlin, Ltd. | 1626 | 1244 | 170 | 1961 | 3375 |
| Pastoral Finance Association, Ltd. | 3785 | 3212 | 1488 | 225 | 4925 |
| Schute, Bell, and Co., Ltd. | 751 | 656 | 405 | — | 1061 |
| | 6162 | 5112 | 2063 | 2186 | 9361 |

The market continued strong, with prices for all good greasy wools 5 per cent. above the closing rates of the weekly series, while very faulty lines were neglected. The better classes of scoureds met a readier sale, but short and inferior lines were not in request.

Harrison, Jones, and Devlin, Ltd., offered a catalogue comprising only a poor selection of greasy, with a fair display of scoureds. In the grease the sales included the following:—HK Mopone (Cobar), 20 w e at 10¼, good, long, sound staple, nice quality, carrying red earth; HF/Moonbah, 32 e at /10½, 12 w at /10¼, good length, colour, and quality, a little skirty, free; EGH/W (Walgett), 12 1st com e at /9½, good staple and fineness, free, dry condition, dusty; JA/Bannaby, 10 w h e at /9½, good length, nice quality, free, a little skirty and heavy; BS/Walcha/NE, 8 at /10½, 9 h w at /10, good staple, colour, and quality, free, carrying a little condition; EH (Tamworth), 8 f at /11, 7 xb at 11, fair length, nice quality, dry; JTM Redbank (Gravesend), 6 w e at /9½, rather short in staple, good colour, nice quality, good condition; AES/KBY (Nimitybelle), 14 h w e at /9½, good staple, nice quality, free, skirty; WJH/CP (Cobar), 16 1st w at /9½, good length and fineness, free, carrying red earth; SL/Y (Pallamallawa), 17 w at /10½, good staple, sound, nice quality, dry condition, burry; HC New England (Inverell), 53 w at /11, 15 w h at /10½, 16 e at /10½, fair length, good colour and fineness, odd burr; FF/Lochmaben (Wongrabel), 8 f at /10, good long staple, nice quality, good colour, free; Coolootai (Warialda), 17 1st lbs at /10½, 11 1st lbs at /8½, good length and fineness, bright, few burrs; DO Ingelbyra (Jindabyne), 9 h w e at /9½, good staple, nice quality, free, a little skirty; EW conj./Ingelbyra (Jindabyne), 6 f at /7½, good length, nice quality, free, in good condition. Scoured: AW (Cooma), 11 1st com e at /18½, good length, colour, and fineness, free, carrying some condition; JR/Tara/GFQ, 21 1st com at /19½, fair length, good colour and quality, free; CC Maranoa (Bourke), 8 1st com at /20, fair length, good colour and fineness, free; Collymongle (Bolveroi), 33 AA com e at /20, 25 AA com h at /19½, 26 A com w e at /19½, 6 A clo w at /17, good staple, colour, and quality, free, carrying a little condition; Collymongle, 60 up com at /21½, 81 1st com at /20, good staple, colour, and quality, free, in good condition.

The Pastoral Finance Association, Ltd., offered an attractive display of greasy wool for this period of the year, including many lines of autumn shorn wools. In the grease the highest price was /13½, paid for 13 AA w e of JPK/Castleon, from Moree (new clip), 9 A w e making /12½, and 7 B w e /12½, a well-grown wool, of good quality, and in good condition. Other sales were:—WLS/Ironbark (Barraba), 9 1st com at /12½, 10 2nd com at /12½, 8 clo at /11½, fine, sothd, free, good condition; R/D (Dandaloo), 30 A e at /8½, 12 e at /8½, 26 h w e at /7½, good quality, mostly fair staple, but earthy and burry; JAB/Homedale (Moree), 15 A com e at /11, well-grown, moderate condition, sound; WE/Bannaby, 24 at /9½, good quality, fair staple, little wasty condition; WM Belmont (Yowley), 14 1st com e at /9½, 6 2nd com e at /8, good staple, little dusty tip, burrs; Capel/Gournama (Warialda), 18 AA lbs at /8½, 18 A lbs at /8, 17 B lbs at /6½, bright, well-grown, good condition, few burrs; GH/Rosedale (Coolootai), 16 w at /11½, 10 e at /11½, bright, good condition, sound, few burrs; Nemoconc (Young), 23 A at /12½, 6 A at /11½, 14 A at /11½, 22 A at /11½, an attractive clip, showing good quality and staple, free, and carrying condition; LJS in cir. ### LIVE STOCK MARKETS.

WEST MAITLAND, Wednesday.

Mr. E. W. Sparke yarded 150 horses at Campbell's Hill to-day, including a number of heavy and light draughts, saddle horses, and well-bred ponies. There was large attendance of buyers, but the demand was not so keen as at late sales. Values were lower. Heavy draughts brought to £35/10/, light to £30, light harness sorts £18 to £24, ponies £12/10/ to £18, weedy £5.

MELBOURNE, Wednesday.

In the live stock market to-day 2450 fat cattle were yarded, comprising 250 from New South Wales, 1200 from north-eastern district, 550 from South Gippsland, 300 from Gippsland, 100 from western district, and the remainder from the northern district. The greater portion consisted of good and prime qualities. There was a moderate attendance of buyers. The fluctuations of the market were unusually pronounced, and, although in the early part of the day best light and medium weights met with steady competition, yet in most instances prices ruled 10/ per head under late rates, closing dull and weaker. Quotations:—Prime pens of bullocks from £9/5/ to £10/10/, extra £10/15/ to £11/7/6, with extraordinarily heavy weights at £12/17/6, good £8 to £9, good moderate weights from £7 to £7/15/, second £6/10/ to £7/5/; best pens of cows £7 to £7/15/, odd beasts to £9/17/6, good £5/15/ to £6/10/, others from £4.

Fat Calves.—450 were penned, which realised late rates. Prime steers and heifers sold from £5/15/ to £5, extra to £6/17/6, good £3/5/ to £3/10/; prime calves 50/ to 65/, good 40/ to 45/; best small vealers 28/ to 35, others from 25/ upwards.

In the Metropolitan meat market prices for the week ending to-day were:—Beef, prime bodies 21/ per 100lb, medium 19/ to 20/; prime forequarters 14/ to 15/, medium 13/; prime hindquarters 26/ to 27/, medium 24/ to 25/. Sheep: Prime /2½ per lb, medium /2½; lamb, prime 9/ to 11/ each, medium 8/; veal, prime large vealers /2 to /2½ per lb, medium /1½ to /3½; prime small vealers /2½ to /3, medium /2; small calves /2 to /2½.

ADELAIDE, Wednesday.

Messrs. Elder, Smith, and Co. report:—Only 600 cattle were yarded, there being a limited selection. Prime had stronger competition, and for all classes values recovered. Prime beef averaged 25/, good 20/. We sold 130.

Over 10,000 sheep were yarded. The proportion of prime sorts was barely adequate. Best lots sold readily at late satisfactory rates. Other descriptions were over-supplied. Graziers were quiet owing to continued dry weather, and prices were slightly easier. 1200 were not sold. Graziers bought 1800.

Three thousand lambs were yarded, the supply being insufficient. There were spirited sales at better prices. Graziers bought 300. We sold 2000 sheep and lambs.

STATION PRODUCE SALES.

The Sydney Wool-selling Brokers' Association, viz.:—Australian Mercantile, Land, and Finance Co., Ltd.; John Bridge and Co., Ltd.; Dalgety and Co., Ltd.; Goldsbrough, Mort, and Co., Ltd.; Harrison, Jones, and Devlin, Ltd.; Hill, Clark, and Co., Ltd.; New Zealand Loan and Mercantile Agency Co., Ltd.; Pastoral Finance Association, Ltd.; Pitt, Son, and Badgery, Ltd.; Schute, Bell, and Co., Ltd.; and Winchcombe, Carson, Ltd., report:—

Furskins.—Kangaroo and wallaroo were unchanged, while goatskins ruled decidedly higher. Wallaby were rather easier, and bear also sold at lower prices. Opossumskins: 5494 were offered; reds and greys advanced 1/ to 1/6 per dozen, while rumpers were irregular and at times lower. Rabbitskins: Prices generally were 1d per lb above late rates. Quotations:—Grey kangaroo, small /5 to /12 each, medium /13 to /38, large /40 to /61; red kangaroo, small /5 to /11, medium /12 to /26, large /38 to /61; wallaroo, small /5 to /10, medium /12 to /26, large /27 to /40; scrub wallaby, small /3 to /6, medium /7 to /12, large /13 to /24; swamp wallaby, small /2 to /3, medium /5 to /14, large /16 to /21; rock wallaby, to /12; goats, /27 to /41; bear, best /20 to /27, inferior /8 to /18; rabbitskins, best /10 to /11½ per lb, good /8½ to /9½, medium /7½ to /8½, lower sorts /5½ to /6½; kittens, does, and small, /5 to /6½.

Opossumskins.—Grey, first 23/ to 29/, second 15/ to 21/, third 8/ to 13/6; red, first 17/6 to 21/, second 13/ to 16/6, third 7/ to 11/; rumped, top 12/ to 15/, first 8/ to 12/, second 5/ to 7/3; torn and weevilly, 3/ to 5/6.

LEATHER.

Sales were held yesterday by Winchcombe, Carson, Ltd., Harrison, Jones, and Devlin, Ltd., and Pitt, Son, and Badgery, Ltd. Well-finished dressed goods found a ready sale, also the better classes of sole and saddlers' leathers, but basils had hardly any demand. Quotations: Cow tweed, /1 to /17 per lb; yearling tweed, /18 to /19; calf tweed, /18 to /21; waxed yearling, best /17 to /19, heavy /15 to /16½; waxed calf, /22 to /27; kip, best light /15½ to /16, heavy /14 to /15; dressed splits, /6 to /9½; sole, extra heavy 14½ to /16, heavy /12 to /14, medium /11½ to /13, light /10½ to /11½, damaged /5 to /9; harness, brown /14 to /15½, black /14½ to /16; bridle, 14/ to 17/; bag, 12/6 to 15/; basils, saddlers 14/ to 19/ per doz, shoe 1/6 to 11/.

TONE OF MARKET BETTER.

SLIGHT IMPROVEMENT IN BUSINESS DONE.

It came as a welcome change to find a slightly better feeling prevailing yesterday morning. It certainly was not pronounced, and did not extend to all sections of the market, but it was an improvement on the marked degree of inactivity that has prevailed for some weeks past.

After being almost eclipsed for some time past as regards the amount of business transacted, Broken Hill stocks took the lead. B.H. Junction North sold unchanged at 16/9; B.H. South Blocks recovered a shade, but Sulphide Corporation, ord., eased a fraction, whilst B.H. Junctions sold on terms, with buyers for ordinary delivery at a steady rate. British Broken Hill, old, was firmly supported at 15/. The quotations for other Barrier stocks were practically unchanged.

Allowing for the fact that the sales of Mount Elliott at 98/ and 97/6 were ex div. 10/, they showed a recovery in the buying rate. Queen Bee (new) sold unchanged, but MacGregors eased a fraction. Slightly better offers were made for Chillagoe, paid and contributing, and Hampdens, whilst Queen Bee, old, commanded a steady offer, but Tolwong Mineral was quoted wide.

The reduced monthly output of the Mount Morgan Gold Mining Company, shown in the "Herald" columns to be due to a fall in the gold and copper contents of the ore treated last March, revealed a seller under late rates, but buyers quoted wide. Wallaroo and Moonta was quoted by a seller, but buyers were undeclared.

So far as concerns business gold stocks were very quiet. Occidental (Cobar) sold 2d down. Bullfinch Proprietary recovered from 19/9 to 20/3, and stood at 20/ at noon. The other members of the Bullfinch group commanded very little attention. In the tin division Tongkah Harbour Tin again sold on the weak side. On the other hand firm offers for Great Britain Sluicing and New Wylie Creek failed to draw sellers.

In the afternoon, business tailed off considerably in all sections, but the tone of the market was unimpaired. In silver shares, B.H. South, contributing, sold firmly. The quotations in the copper division disclosed a steady feeling in most cases. Bullfinch Proprietary held steady for ordinary delivery, but Tongkah Harbour Tin repeated the weak sale rate of the morning.

LONDON SHARE MARKET.

LONDON, April 5.

On the Stock Exchange yesterday shares in Australian mining ventures were quoted as follows:—British Broken Hill, b 13/6, s 15/6; Broken Hill Block 10, b 31/3, s 33/9.

A broker's cable message states that amongst the shares quoted on the London Stock Exchange on Tuesday were the following "middle" prices:—Briseis, 6/9; Mount Lyells, 30/; Zinc, ord., 10/6; ditto, pref., 38/; Mount Elliott, £5/9/4½; Great Cobar, 86/3; Mount Morgans, 65/; Hampdens, 27/9; Bullfinch Proprietary, 20/; Kalgurli, 91/3; Ivanhoe, £6/13/9; Great Boulder, 18/3.

Others (buyers):—Broken Hill Proprietary, 35/9; B. H. South, £5/2/6; B. H. South Blocks, 19/; Mount Morgans, 63/9; Zinc, ord., 10/6; Amalgamated Zinc, 31/3; Mount Elliott, £5/9/4½.

Tin was quoted at £192, but other metals were unmentioned.

MINING NOTES.

The yield of the Tingha Consolidated tin mines, Tingha, for March was 26 tons 5cwt.

The St. Mungo Copper Mining Company (Q.) has declared a dividend (fourth) of 6d per share, payable on April 29.

The United Mills Company (Gympie) reports a yield of gold valued at £3067, from 991 tons of ore, and the New Brilliant Freehold, gold valued at £3841, from 779 tons of ore.

Our Launceston correspondent telegraphs:—"At the North Lyell mine the drive along the ore body from the north side of the crosscut at the 1100ft level of the North Lyell is in about 30ft, with the face showing solid ore of good grade."

Last week the stopes of the Kangiara mine produced 117 tons of lead ore, carrying a little copper. The mill ran 97 hours, and treated 291 tons of lead ore, for 23 tons of concentrates. The despatches were 22 tons 8cwt of copper; also lead ore, likewise 21.7 tons of lead concentrates, assaying: Lead 65.22 per cent.; silver, 35.3oz; and gold, 1.9dwt.

THE MOUNT MORGAN COMPANY.

ARE ORE VALUES DECLINING?

The official figures regarding the March operations of the Mount Morgan Gold-mining Company came to hand too late on Tuesday evening to permit of their being carefully analysed.

A comparison of the work done in March with that of February is interesting, inasmuch as it shows that the new system of treating the copper-gold ore is gradually, despite many difficulties, becoming more and more efficient. This will be seen from the following figures:—

ORE SMELTED.

| | | Copper. | Gold. |
|---|---|---|---|
| February | 16,679 tons | 5480z. | 6514oz. |
| March | 21,557 tons | 6460z. | 7290oz. |

The amount of Many Peaks ore treated was:—

| | |
|---|---|
| During February | 4158 tons. |
| During March | 6699 tons. |

Satisfaction is expressed at the increased amount of ore treated by the smelters during the past month, and particularly at the increase in the amount of Many Peaks ore treated—2541 tons—as it indicates a marked improvement in the new smelting practice. The greater relative increase in consumption of Many Peaks ore more than accounts for the drop in the combined grade of the product treated—2.99 of copper for March as against 3.25 for February, and 6.76dwt of gold as against 7.65dwt.

When compared with the old practice, the drop in grade of ore treated in March is more apparent than real, as the Many Peaks ore, from which there is recovered approximately 2.1 per cent. of copper and 0.175dwt of gold, has replaced barren ironstone which was previously used as flux, and which, under the old practice, was not taken into account in computing the metal contents of the total ore put through. That is to say, the ironstone was regarded purely as flux, in the same category, for instance, as limestone, while the Many Peaks ore, although taking the place of the ironstone flux, is treated as "ore," and aggregated with the Mount Morgan ore as such in computing the grade of the total ore smelted, thus apparently reducing the grade. Incidentally, also, the new smelting practice involves a smaller consumption of limestone.

GOLD YIELD.

The usual return furnished by the Under-Secretary for Mines shows that the gold yield recorded for this State for the month of March is 13,802oz crude, equal to 10,754oz fine, valued at £45,681, as compared with 20,759oz crude, equal to 17,019oz fine, valued at £72,292 for the same month in 1910.

The yield for the first three months of this year amounts to 50,533oz crude, equal to 42,090oz fine, valued at £178,785, as compared with 59,920oz crude, equal to 51,179oz fine, valued at £217,395 for the same period in 1910; thus showing a decrease of 9089oz fine, and £38,610 in value.

MINING IN THE STATE.

LITHGOW, Wednesday.

A report from Sunny Corner states that the West Mitchell battery is dealing with various parcels of stone from the Big Hill, and, with one exception, the results are well up to expectations. Messrs. Poyitt and Eves put through about 50 tons from the Paddy Lackey mine, for 45oz, but the cost of getting it was too high, through the lack of necessary machinery, and operations are to be temporarily suspended.

WOLUMLA, Wednesday.

A further treatment by cyanide of the New Neptune tailings (about 50 tons) gave a return of 152oz of gold bullion. Some seven tons 6cwt of ore shipped from the Prospectors' tributers returned 4oz of gold and 16oz of silver to the ton; whilst 10 tons of low-grade ore from the Prospectors are being crushed at the local battery as a trial. The residue of the New Venture tailings are now undergoing cyanide treatment.

YAMBULLA, Wednesday.

The mill at the Yambulla mine is running full time, and work about the mine generally is being vigorously carried on. Work is temporarily suspended on the old No. 4 and The Indigo mine, owing principally to the influx of water, after the recent heavy rains. Duffy senior is driving a tunnel to cut the underlay reef on the ten-acre line, formerly worked by Jervis and party. The Duchess of York tributers have just cleaned up 22½ tons at Haugh and M'Donald's battery, for an ounce per ton. While breaking this, three tons of sulphides were bagged. They also have about a ton of concentrates.

BROKEN HILL MINES.

BROKEN HILL, Wednesday.

The British mill, for the past fortnight, treated 4900 tons of crude ore, and produced at the lead mill 741 tons of leady concentrates, containing 23,007oz silver, 468 tons lead, and 52 tons zinc. Also the zinc mill produced 759 tons of zinc concentrates, containing 8046 oz silver, 73 tons lead, and 329 tons zinc.

Another attempt is being made to float the Horseshoe Blocks Leases, which are in close proximity to the B.H. South Extended and Silver City mines.

THE ZEEHAN MINES.

LAUNCESTON, Wednesday.

"I have unbounded faith in the Zeehan district." In expressing this view to-day, Mr. John Craze, manager of the British Zeehan Mines, said he would meet his directors in London next month, and discuss contracts to be placed with the Zeehan smelters. The terms of these contracts must be as good as those existing. European companies and smelters must be prepared to take ore for a term. If that be forthcoming, he was prepared to give the smelters a surplus of the ore of the Montana mine, also the whole output from the Zeehan Western and Dundas Blocks.

QUEENSLAND EXPLORATION COMPANY.

BRISBANE, Wednesday.

The adjourned general meeting of the Queensland Exploration Company was held yesterday, when the question of the voluntary winding up of the company was again considered. The chairman moved that the company go into liquidation. An amendment was moved that the meeting be adjourned till June 13, 1911, to be held at the company's office in London, or such other place as the directors of the company, residing in the United Kingdom, may decide. This was carried, and the meeting adjourned to London.

IVANHOE GOLD CORPORATION.

WORKING THE DEEP GROUND.

KALGOORLIE, Wednesday.

At 2430ft the Ivanhoe Company is crosscutting east, and are now out 67ft. They have started to sink a winze on the east lode at 2270ft for the purpose of meeting this crosscut. At 2270ft drives are being continued in the ore bodies, which show better values than in the level above. The company will resume sinking the main shaft within the next fortnight, and intend going down to 2570ft before opening out the next level. The present depth is 2462ft. One great objection in view at the present time is the Boulder lode, shown by the diamond drill from the 2800ft level in the Great Boulder main shaft to have crossed into the lease at the south-east corner. On a rough estimate they have about two years' work ahead of them before they can hope to reach it by crosscutting.

SPORTING.

THE TURF.

The programme drafted for the Victoria Park Racing Club's pony and galloway fixture for the 12th inst demands the attention of owners and trainers to-day, for at 5 p.m. entries close with the secretary, Mr. H. Cobcroft. The prize money aggregates £350, of which £100 goes to the Victoria Park Cup, to be run over a mile and a quarter and a distance, while the other races carry £50 each.

Artillerie has been relieved of all engagements in connection with the A.J.C. Autumn Meeting.

The scratchings yesterday in connection with the Hawkesbury Autumn Meeting were:—Lager and Graftonette out of the Flying Handicap, and Lager out of the Highweight Handicap.

Poppyfield, who, on the previous afternoon, was purchased by Mr. R. Clancy, and taken charge of by Noud, was tried over the schooling hurdles at Randwick yesterday morning with G. Woodburn in the saddle, and shaped uncommonly well for a novice; but he was lame after the lesson. Poppyfield is a brother to Garches, and a half-brother to Superstition, two hurdlers of note. Contorp (W. Burke) and Grateful (J. Freeland) were also given some exercise over the hurdles, and shaped well.

The carriage of racing stock by rail between Melbourne and Sydney is far from satisfactory. The train which conveyed Blairgour from the Murray was no less than seven hours late, and Walter Hickenbotham's team, which included Trafalgar and Gillamatong, was treated to a similar delay en route. Considering the revenue derived by the railway department in connection with horse-racing, owners of such valuable stock are entitled to better treatment. Under any circumstances the journey between the two cities is trying enough on racehorses, but with seven hours extra on their legs it savours somewhat of cruelty to animals.

Messrs. Wm. Inglis and Son have announced their annual blood stock sale at T. Payten's Newmarket Stables, Lower Randwick, to take place after the close of the A.J.C. Autumn Meeting, and at which stallions, brood mares, racehorses in training, and untried thoroughbred stock will be brought under the hammer. The firm is now busy with the compilation of the catalogue, and intending vendors will greatly facilitate the work by sending particulars of their stock as early as possible.

The Victorian trainer A. Skirving has arrived with Broadsword and Herova, the former of whom is engaged in the Doncaster Handicap, and the latter in the Sydney Cup. Both are in good fettle.

Bookmakers desirous of transacting business at Rosehill on Saturday must register with the secretary, Mr. C. S. Guest, before 3.30 p.m. to-day, at the office of the Rosehill Racing Club.

The shipment of horses that arrived on Tuesday from New Zealand in the steamship Whangape, after a very rough passage, included the four yearlings bred by Mr. G. M. Currie at the Koatanui stud. The youngsters are br f (sister to Manapouri), by Soult (imp.) from Fairy Tale; br c by Soult from Grandeur, by Gipsy Grand; br c by Soult from Alamali, by Salvadan (imp.); and b f Sauthia, by Soult from St. Evelyn. They are included in Messrs. H. Chisholm and Co.'s catalogue.

A New Zealand exchange states that Mr. C. Moore, of Gisborne, intends after Easter to bring the cross-country horse Te Arai, and probably Birkline, to Australia.

Though J. Scobie has purchased the Ascot Vale training establishment known as Pytchley Lodge, he does not intend to desert his quarters in the vicinity of Ballarat. The going at Dowling Forest is not always satisfactory in winter, and when that is the case he can transfer his horses to Ascot Vale.

Mr. T. E. Barr Smith, one of the stewards of the South Australian Jockey Club, has taken his departure from Adelaide for a visit to England.

M. Burke, the trainer of Pendulous, had a nasty experience on Saturday morning. While exercising the mare she fell, throwing him heavily, and with his face buried in the tan he was rendered unconscious. Assistance, however, was quickly to hand, otherwise he would have been smothered.

Among the recent improvements effected on the Morphettville racecourse, the headquarters of the South Australian Jockey Club, is a new stand erected in the Derby enclosure, providing accommodation for 1500 persons, while the graded lawn in front of the structure affords a good view of the races to 500 more. The outer paddock has also been enlarged, and additional boxes have been erected.

When Sceptre was purchased as a yearling for £10,500 it was predicted that Sevier would never see his money again, but she proved a most profitable investment, and after winning several races with her he sold her for £25,000. So with M. Blanc, who gave £39,375 for Flying Fox. He was also supposed to have made a bad bargain, but the great son of Orme sired Jardy, who was sold for £30,000; Val d'Or, who brought £28,000; Gouvernant, £20,000; and Adam, £16,000. Besides, the stud fee of Flying Fox was 600 guineas.

Our local correspondent wires that the Broken Hill Jockey Club has fixed its programme for May 24 (Empire Day), the prize money totalling £250 for six events.

VICTORIAN SPORTING NOTES.

MELBOURNE, Wednesday.

Mr. Thomas Mates has sold his imported thoroughbred stallion Audria, by Ladas from Abeyance, to Mr. C. Knorpp, of Balldale, near Corowa. Audria has made a most promising start, as in his first two seasons at the stud he sired Philio (winner of the Maribyrnong Plate), Durdans, Shackleton, Anona, Riot, and other winners.

The Benalla Cup, 1¼ mile, which was decided to-day, was captured by Pius, by Positano (imp.)—Morisca, who carried 8st 3lb, and was piloted by F. Clarke. Well Done, 8st 12lb (Duncan), was second, and Black Jean, 7st 3lb (Stannell), filled the other situation. There were ten runners, and Pius, who started at 5 to 2, won by half a length in 2m 10s.

Moton will leave for Sydney on Friday.

RACING IN INDIA.

FREMANTLE, Wednesday.

According to Mr. S. Griffiths, handicapper for the Calcutta Turf Club, who is proceeding to Sydney by the R.M.S. Omrah, racing the last season in India was better than ever before. Matters, he stated, are more disciplined there than they used to be, now disqualifications are imposed. It is a most serious thing for an owner. If it is an army officer who is concerned, on receiving his disqualification he puts in his papers to the Army Office, and also resigns from all clubs and similar social organisations. Club life in India is the all and end-all of social existence. If a man leaves the club he is practically ostracised. Australians would be surprised to see the Calcutta course and grand stand. Before their buildings were erected plans of Flemington and Randwick were secured, and the plans were modelled on these lines with considerable improvements. These buildings are made of brick and steel, and cost about £60,000. Nowhere in the world is the public catered for better than on the Calcutta grand stand. Australian horses do well there, generally over long distances, while the English horses are better over sprints.

ROSEBERY RACING CLUB.

The pony and galloway fixture at Rosebery yesterday was run off in the presence of a very large gathering, both the paddock and leger being crowded. Seven events were disposed of, and speculation was brisk throughout. Only one favourite was successful, but winners, with the exception of Odd Sock in the Fourteen-two Handicap, were well backed. The Approved Stakes, run over a mile, was won by Little Trent. Details:—

GLEN INNES AMATEUR PICNIC RACE CLUB.

FIRST DAY.

EASTERN QUEEN WINS CHAMPAGNE STAKES.

GLEN INNES, Wednesday.

The annual meeting of the Glen Innes Amateur Picnic Race Club commenced to-day on the local racecourse. The weather was beautiful, and there was a large attendance, including visitors from Sydney and elsewhere. There were good fields, and interesting sport. Results:—

Deepwater Gift, 6f.—Mr. C. K. Cadell's Guess, by Retford—Secret, 10st 13lb (Mr. A. H. N. O'Connor), 1; Mr. W. P. Lawlor's Mepunga, 10st 13lb (Mr. Everingham) 2; Mr. W. M. Legh's Graftalene, 10st 3lb (owner) 3. Other starters: Bili, 10st 11lb; Chelsea Pensioner, 10st 13lb; Tristana, 10st 3lb; Goongamba, 10st 13lb; Kamarunga, 10st 13lb; Clarella, 10st 11lb; Linger, 10st 13lb; Swamp Oak, 10st 12lb; Bidgee, 10st 3lb; Jestress, 10st 11lb. Betting: 2 to 1 v Guess, 4 to 1 each v Mepunga, Clarella, and Swamp Oak, 5 to 10 to 1 v others. Won easily by four lengths. Time, 1m 20 4-5s.

Ranger's Valley Stakes, 6f.—Mr. W. F. Ogilvie's Watchman, by Caretaker—Carol, 10st 13lb (Mr. Nivison), 1; Mr. W. A. Cramsie's Wyalla, 10st 13lb (Mr. Everingham), 2; Mr. J. M. Reid's Flake, 10st 13lb (owner), 3. Other starters: Dungowan, 10st 13lb; Hollana, 10st 11lb; Menaclea, 10st 11lb. Betting: Even money on Wyalla, 2 to 1 v Watchman, 5 to 10 to 1 v others. Watchman and Wyalla fought out a desperate finish nearly the whole length of the straight, the former winning by a short head. Time, 1m 19s.

The Bracelet, 1m.—Mr. P. P. Abbott's Valantic (late Bandolier), by Valiant—Antic, 10st 13lb (Mr. M'Master), 1; Mr. W. M. Legh's Assignee, 10st 13lb (owner), 2; Royal Mail, 10st 13lb (Mr. Nivison), 3. ## CRICKET.

POST AND TELEGRAPH MATCH.

TASMANIA v NEW SOUTH WALES.

Yesterday, at the Sydney Cricket Ground, the Tasmanian Post and Telegraph team commenced the third match of their New South Wales tour against a combined team representing the Post and Telegraph cricketers of the State.

At Luncheon Mr. E. J. Young, Deputy Postmaster-General, presided, and in submitting the health of the Tasmanians, referred to the visitors as brother officers and fellow cricketers.

Mr. F. P. Bowden (Manager of Telegraphs, Tasmania) said that since they had come to Sydney they had been almost killed with kindness.

Mr. Young thanked the Sydney Cricket Ground trustees for their courtesy in providing the ground, and Mr Fairland responded.

The locals won the toss, and, batting on a perfect wicket, gave the visitors a day's leather-hunting. The feature of the day was the big score of the veteran, Fred. Hinchey, who hit up 130. A. J. Grace also topped the century. The match will be continued to-day. Scores:—

NEW SOUTH WALES P. AND T.

F. T. Hinchey, lbw, b Donohue 130; F. B. Freeman, b Atherton, 17; A. J. Grace, c Reiss, b Creswell, 107; T. Rose, not out, 55; M. Shea, lbw, b Pybus, 10; A. Church, not out, 0; sundries, 33. Four wickets for 352.

CYCLING AND MOTORING.

UNION NOTES.

The opening run of the Glebe Club is to be held this week end at Narrabeen, when a series of sporting events will be contested. Members and visitors meet at the University Hotel at 9.30 a.m. The club's run card just to hand shows fixtures up to the end of September. The next monthly meeting is on May 4.

Entries are due on April 15 for the 10 miles members' road race of the Marrickville Club, to be run on April 22.

The Manly Club will hold a 10 mile road race next Saturday, starting and finishing at the Brookvale tram terminus. Following are the handicaps:—Les Luker, Albert Henton, A. W. Pearce, scr; F. Sewell, W. R. Davis, Len Luker, 50s; Stan Luker, F. Owen, 1m 10s; J. Price, H. Tierney, 1m 30s; H. Henton, A. Hughes, 2m; J. Collier, A. James, 2m 30s; F. Fewett, T. Patison, L. Franklin, 3m; R. Collins, 5m 30s; C. Lewis, 6m.

The track racing season of the New South Wales Cyclists' Union is now practically completed, only the Easter races at Goulburn and Maitland having to be accounted for. The road racing season is to start about the middle of next month, when the R. and R. Club open what promises to be a record list of road-racing fixtures with a 10 miles open road race. The successor to the retiring hon. secretary of the union, yet to be elected, will have a hard task to keep up the pace set by his predecessor during the last few years.

LEAGUE NOTES.

A copy of "Cycling and Motoring," the official organ of the League of Victorian Wheelmen, is just to hand, showing the doings of the Southern league for the period ending March 31.

The racing summary shows that A. J. Davies and A. F. Grenda, two interstate riders, who recently competed successfully in this State, are still in a winning vein. Davies won a five miles and a one mile handicap at the Trafalgar sports, ran second to Grenda in a one mile handicap, and five miles scratch race at Benalla, and beat H. Thomas and B. Scott in the five miles scratch at Ballarat.

The championships of Europe are to be held in France on June 4 and 5, and the world's championship meeting in Rome on June 11, 15, and 18.

The League of Victorian Wheelmen publish a list of disqualified riders, with the dates of expiry, every month, a practice that may well be followed by other governing bodies.

Entries for the League races at Goulburn on Easter Monday will be received by the hon. secretary of the League of New South Wales Wheelmen, Mr. W. A. Stanton, up to Friday morning next. So far, the following riders have put in nominations:—E. Gore, H. E. Coleman, F. D. Walcott, A. H. Craw, F. Bennasai, W. A. K. Harris, A. C. Walcott, P. E. Mutton, and C. S. Dickson.

C. H. Daft and F. Watson, two leading members of the Burwood (League) Club have entered for the Easter races at Wellington.

The one-armed rider, C. C. Farlow, who was debarred from racing in League events by the referee and council, is circulating a petition among League members, asking for a general meeting to revise the rule under which he was prevented from competing.

H. H. Fraser, secretary of the New Zealand Athletic and Cycling Union, has written to the general secretary of League of New South Wales Wheelmen, suggesting a reciprocal agreement between the two bodies. Mr. Stanton points out that the original offer came from the New South Wales League, and that his council will, no doubt, make arrangement to secure the necessary reciprocity.

SPORTING FEDERATION.

At the last meeting of delegates to consider the proposed formation of a sporting federation of sporting bodies not associated with the Amateur Sports Federation, the suggested constitution and fees were approved, and sent on to the various bodies interested to be submitted to them for approval. The delegates meet again on May 1. So far, the sporting associations actively interested are the League of Wheelmen, League of Swimmers, and the Athletic League, but Mr. Stanton, acting secretary to the delegate, states that efforts are being made to organise the scullers' and sailing crews.

MOTOR BOAT CHAMPIONSHIP.

What should be one of the most important events in motor boating circles is the motor boat championship of Australia, to be held under the auspices of the Motor Boat Club of N.S.W., over the Rose Bay-Manly course on Saturday. Mr. E. C. Griffiths, hon. secretary of the club, states that on the closing of entries yesterday the following boats were nominated:—Foo-de-Noo, Frou Frou, Kangaroo, and Fairbanks. The lastnamed boat is the present holder of the title, is nominated by Mr. L. J. Davies, and is probably only entered because she was the winner last year. Although the Kangaroo has been nominated, there is a doubt that it may not start, but if it does go before the starter, there should be a splendid exhibition of marine pace for the onlookers, as the boat has been proved capable of putting up some high speeds on favourable waters. Seeing the splendid facilities for motor boating on the Australian coast, it is a wonder that some of our wealthy water sport enthusiasts do not procure some of the fast racing boats of the old world. A recent cable credited one boat with covering nearly 50 knots in an hour.

MOTOR NOTES.

Since the tenth of last month the traffic branch of the N.S.W. Police has been kept busy in registering and re-registering motor vehicles, motor cycles, motor drivers, and motor cycle riders. In fact, during the last week, according to Superintendent A. Edward, the registrations have come in at the rate of 40 or 50 a day. The trouble started on March 10, the date of the expiry of the first license or registration, and as each permit must be renewed every 12 months from the date of issue, the traffic branch of the Police Department of N.S.W. expect a rush for the next few weeks, as, in addition to the old registrations, new cars are coming forward daily. On March 10, the date the first renewal was due, the figures registered stood as follows:—Motor vehicles (including runabouts, touring cars, commercial waggons, etc.), 2650. The drivers licensed, 3695; motor bicycles, 2235; and motor cycle riders, 2583. It appears from the traffic superintendent's remarks that N.S.W. gets the worst of any deal made with the other States on the question of reciprocity. A motor registered and licensed in N.S.W. must, immediately it crosses the border into Victoria, report to the nearest police station, and obtain a permit, costing 5s. This permit must be renewed every seven days, and a fresh fee of 5s paid for each renewal. The arrangement appears to be a little one-sided, for the registered Victorian car can cross the N.S.W. borders, and the owner can send his car on its own sweet way. He may drive where, when, and how he likes. There is no question of reporting or charging a registering fee, if the car is registered in Victoria. This seems rather unfair, for although the N.S.W. traffic police may not desire to make revenue from cars visiting this State from Victoria, or any other State for that matter, it seems reasonable that the visiting car and owner should be compelled to report to the nearest traffic office in N.S.W., and thus allow the local authorities to keep in touch with the movements of the vehicles, which they must control while inside the N.S.W. boundaries.

The North Sydney Council has decided to bring under the notice of the Inspector-General of Police the speed at which motor cars pass through the streets of North Sydney.

DUBBO, Tuesday.

Twelve riders took part in a 14-mile road race arranged by the Dubbo Motor and Cycle Club, over the Troy course. A. Buckley (3m 40s), won by several hundred yards from H. E. Horder (20s), with C. Ferguson (3m 30s) third. The winner's actual riding time was 42m. The gold medal presented by Bennett and Barkell for fastest time was won by H. E. Horder, who covered the distance in 39m 55s. On the same afternoon a 7-miles road race, with 19 starters, resulted as follows:—C. Dowling (3m 0s), 1; J. Gregg (2m 55s), 2; and R. Harton (3m 3s), 3.

SINGLETON, Wednesday.

A road race over 10 miles, under the auspices of the Singleton Bicycle Club, resulted as follows: P. Grainger, 1m, 1; H. Milgate, 1¼m, 2; P. Bullen, 2¼m, 3. Won by a length.

LAWN TENNIS.

NEW SOUTH WALES ASSOCIATION.

A meeting of the council was held last night. The financial position was again discussed, and a subcommittee, consisting of the president, hon. secretary, and hon. treasurer, was appointed to go further into the matter.

The council decided to conduct the New South Wales championship and open tournament, to follow the interstate match against Victoria. The Sydney Club, which instituted the championships, and has conducted them for a quarter of a century, did not apply for sanction to hold them this year, recognising the wish of the association to take the management of them. The Sydney Club offered to hand over the shields for the ladies' singles, ladies' doubles, and mixed doubles championships, and a vote of thanks to the club for so doing was carried unanimously.

OILED TENNIS COURTS.

UNANDERRA, Tuesday.

Some months ago reference was made to the American practice of oiling chipped courts—or, as they are termed in the United States, "dirt" courts. It will be remembered that Long and M'Laughlin learnt their tennis on such courts. However, there are many chipped courts in New South Wales, and all the players thereon will be interested in hearing of some experiments made with the Unanderra Tennis Club's court. This court is of the chipped variety, and is of a natural clay of exceptional quality, and brick-making properties. In common with other chipped courts it suffers in dry weather from a crumbling surface, which interferes with accurate timing and good foothold, and makes constant sweeping necessary. This sweeping means removal of surface, and hence the court becomes gradually lowered. Now the court has been sprinkled with oil from a watering can with an ordinary rose. It has been found that the oil gives freedom from dust, conduces towards a springy surface, which when rolled will keep good for weeks without much if any attention, and, in addition, a dark surface results, which is more pleasant and not so trying to the eyes as the whitened surface of the chipped court, which reflects considerably the sun's rays.

This court is marked with carbide refuse obtained from an acetylene gas apparatus, and it gives an excellent line, that withstands rain and lasts much longer than lime or whiting. The results of the experiments here are sufficient to demonstrate and justify the practice of oiling chipped courts, and clubs having such courts may try the process with confidence that, particularly in dry weather, the results will justify the outlay and add materially to the preservation of the courts and the comfort and pleasure of the players.

CENTENNIAL PARK ASSOCIATION.

The following are the results of last Saturday's play in the gentlemen's competition:—Balgonie, 4 sets 26 games, beat Estmere, 11 games; Victoria, 3 sets 31 games, beat Comet, 1 set 27 games; Arcadians, 4 sets 24 games, beat Bourke-street M., 5 games; Allowah, 2 sets 20 games, beat Centennial, 2 sets 19 games; Whinstone, bye.

AUSTRALASIAN ASSOCIATION.

At the adjourned meeting of the association, the hon. treasurer submitted a statement of assets and liabilities, showing a credit balance of £555 7s 11d, which was adopted. It was decided to offer Victoria the right to hold the Australasian championships for 1911. Sanction was granted to the New South Wales Association to hold the Mars-Buckley contest and match against Victoria, from April 26 to 29.

FOOTBALL.

METROPOLITAN RUGBY UNION.

The annual meeting of the Metropolitan Rugby Union was held at the headquarters last night.

Mr. H. D. Wood (president) was in the chair, and in moving the adoption of the annual report stated that he was very optimistic regarding the coming season. The indications were that the competitions would be played to a finish without any interruption. Every game would be keenly fought out. The union was wise, in his opinion, to keep the game amateur, and make it a recreation for young men. As the years went on the union would grow in strength.

Mr. J. H. Clayton, in seconding the motion, stated that it was the duty of the union to control football to give pleasure to the players. The game should be played for the game's sake, and would be always conducted on strictly amateur lines. In providing sport for the younger men they were helping to turn out good and useful citizens.

Mr. Fairland, City and Suburban Rugby Union, advocated strong support for referees in the coming season. He stated from experience that the keenest interest was evinced in the football of the City and Suburban Rugby Union, in which there were no competitions, but just matches between the various clubs.

Dr. O. Bohrsman, honorary treasurer, speaking on the balance-sheet, regretted that it was not as strong as previously. But he went on to say that two years ago the union had a debit of £2000 at the start of the season, and it was all wiped out by the end of that season.

The income of the union for eight years had totalled £23,000. This was spent as follows:—Grants to clubs, trips to the country, trainers, uniforms, etc., £10,000; grounds, £5000; donations to schools, hospitals, Civil Ambulance, drought fund, etc., £1500; advertising and match expenses, £2000; management and internal expenses, £2500. The balance of the money went towards the purchase of Epping. These figures showed, he stated, that 10-23rds of the total income was spent on the players. The union would be able to finance the coming season on 50 per cent. of last year's income, and would finish with a credit balance.

The report was adopted.

The following office-bearers were elected:—President, Mr. H. D. Wood, vice-presidents, Dr. G. H. Bohrsman, Messrs. T. Duggan, G. W. Graham, E. S. Marks, L. W. Seaborn, J. H. Clayton, Dr. H. Horan; hon. treasurer, Dr. O. Bohrsman; hon. auditors, Messrs. Brooks and Deane.

On the motion of Mr. E. S. Marks, seconded by Mr. J. H. Clayton, it was decided to grant affiliation to the Y.M.C.A. Rugby Football Club.

ERSKINEVILLE OVAL.

The trustees of the Erskineville Oval announce that their ground is open for engagements this season.

AMATEUR DEFINITION.

Resolutions were recently carried and adopted by the Metropolitan Rugby Union with regard to the definition of an amateur. At the annual meeting of the Manly Football Club last week the committee in their report, stated that, whilst thoroughly loyal to the union, as majority must rule, they were not quite in accord with the resolutions carried, holding that the definition previously existing and in operation for very many years fully met the position. The new definition well applied to the city, but not to country football. The committee therefore hoped that the whole matter would be reviewed during the coming season, so that country and city footballers may be under one amateur definition.

ATHLETICS.

AUSTRALASIAN CHAMPIONSHIPS.

WELLINGTON (N.Z.), Wednesday.

The council of the New Zealand Amateur Athletic Association has decided that the Australasian championships will be held at Wellington on January 1 and 2, provided these dates do not clash with the Davis Cup tennis competition.

HOCKEY.

BROKEN HILL, Wednesday.

A hockey association has been formed to manage the affairs of the hockey clubs during the coming season.

LACROSSE.

At a meeting of the Lacrosse Association on Tuesday the following office-bearers were elected:—Patron, his Excellency the State Governor; president, Dr. H. Graves Bennetts; vice-presidents, Messrs. C. G. Wade, D. A. M'Millan, R. B. Fitzhardinge, M. A. H. Fitzhardinge, W. L. Stillman, A. G. Baxter, R. Coombes, P. M. Loutit, R. Farris Inge, A. E. Nash, and Rev. R. O. Todd; hon. secretary, Mr. C. C. R. Gurnett; hon. recording secretary, Mr. W. J. Boyce; chairman of association, Mr. A. Rowe; schools' committee, P. Singleton and V. Gurnett; hon. auditors, Messrs. D. A. M'Millan and H. Dawson; hon. treasurer, Mr. C. Thomas; press secretary, Mr. P. Singleton; assistant secretary, Mr. C. L. Westcott; delegates to Amateur Sporting Federation, Messrs. D. A. M'Millan and H. Whisker. Interstate selection committee, Messrs. D. W. Crow, C. U. R. Gurnett, and J. Southwick; grounds committee, Messrs. C. L. Westcott and W. J. Boyce.

Messrs. Rowe and Mallet gave a shield for competition in A grade.

SWIMMING.

BONDI CLUB.

The Bondi Swimming Club will hold their final 50 yards handicap next Saturday at Bondi Baths.

MANLY CLUB.

The above club on April 8 will support Freshwater Surf Club with their carnival. On the 15th inst the 100yds and diving championships of the club will be decided, also a 440yds open handicap. Heat-winners holding fastest time of heat-winners, less the handicaps, will be declared the winner. On the same date a boys consolation handicap will be decided, open to all members who have not won a club event this season.

DRUMMOYNE CLUB.

The above club will decide the following events at its members' carnival, to be held at Drummoyne Municipal Baths on Saturday:—66 yards members handicap, 66 yards consolation handicap, 50 yards junior championship, diving competition, novelty event, saveloy race.

ABBOTSFORD SWIMMING CLUB.

The above club will hold a 50 yards handicap at the Abbotsford Baths on Saturday next, at 3.30 p.m.

ROWING.

TASMANIA'S EIGHTS.

LAUNCESTON, Wednesday.

A test eight-oared race, to decide which part of the State should have the management of the crew to represent Tasmania in the interstate eight-oared race at Sydney, was rowed over the three miles course on the Tamar this afternoon. Both crews were in excellent form, and after a magnificent race South won by two lengths. The water was smooth.

GRAFTON REGATTA.

GRAFTON, Wednesday.

The Grafton Rowing Club's regatta was held today. Results:—

Junior Single Sculls.—S. Preddice, 1st.
Four-oared Race.—C. M'Grath, J. Cramp, J. Lohan, C. J. Noude.
Double Sculls.—W. Craig and J. Charleston.
Gladstone Skiffs.—J. Lohan.

BOXING.

ELLIOTT OUTPOINTS GREEN.

Before a moderate attendance at the Stadium last night, Billy Elliott, the New Zealand bantam-weight, succeeded in gaining a points decision over Ted Green. Elliott, who had a pull of over half a stone in the weights, made good use of a straight left lead. His clever footwork, too, carried him out of range of the majority of Green's swings. At the conclusion of the twentieth round the referee, Mr. "Snowy" Baker, awarded the contest to Elliott.

RIFLE SHOOTING.

SERVICE MATCHES.

CONDITIONS TO BE REMODELLED.

At a previous meeting of the N.R.A. Council a letter was received from Lieutenant-Colonel Holmes, D.S.O., suggesting the appointment of a committee of military officers to revise the rules for the service matches on the N.R.A. programme. At last night's meeting of the council Mr. Douglass moved that a committee, consisting of Lieutenant-Colonel Holmes, Majors Newmarch and Paine, Captains Beardsmore, Warden, and Dawson, be appointed to revise the rules and bring them up to date. The motion was seconded by Lieutenant H. E. Mills, who, however, expressed his wish to know whether the council would adopt the suggestions of the committee.

Mr. J. B. Thomson, instancing the Governor's Cup competition, said there were many riflemen who did not possess a very extensive knowledge of military work, and if the rules were drawn up on a too strict basis they would be precluded from entering.

The chairman (Mr. Brown) said that the Governor's Cup was a purely military match. It the civilians were educated so as to satisfactorily compete with the military teams then so much the better.

Mr. Mathison: Why not allow points to the civilian clubs?

Mr. Stanton: The difficulty could be got over and protection afforded the civilians by reducing the number of points allowed (from which deductions could be made by the umpires for mistakes in attack) from 100 to 50.

An amendment was moved by Mr. Thomson, seconded by Mr. J. R. Wallace, that the committee consist of three. This was carried, and after a ballot Lieutenant-Colonel Holmes, Captain Beardsmore, and Captain Dawson were elected to the committee.

It was decided to leave the framing of the conditions entirely in the hands of the committee.

MANLY CLUB.

The quarterly meeting and presentation of prizes by the above club were held at the Aquarium Hotel, Captain Badmington presiding. The principal prize-winners were Messrs. E. Woolland and P. Phelan. Mr. Woolland annexed the Coombes trophy, and Mr. Phelan secured Captain Badmington's prize. The quarterly prizes were won by Messrs. J. Badmington, R. Koops, and P. Phelan. The programme for the June quarter was drawn up, and arrangements made to conduct the shooting in future on the teams system, similar to the Sydney Rifle Club.

TRADES AND LABOUR.

WORKERS' COMPENSATION.

At the last meeting of the Trolly, Draymen, and Carters Union last night the members received legal advice, to the effect that in three cases where accidents had occurred to members the union had succeeded in obtaining substantial monetary compensation. Counsel further held that carters were entitled to the benefits of the provisions of the Workers' Compensation Act, and the secretary was instructed to take steps to secure them. Messrs. Gulban and Winter were appointed delegates to the Eight-hours Committee.

ROPE AND BINDER TRADE'S AWARD.

The award of the board appointed to deal with the conditions prevailing in the rope, binder, and twine making industry has been made available. It provides for a 48 hours week, made up of 8¾ hours on week days and 4¼ hours on Saturdays for day shift, and 9¼ hours from Monday to Thursday inclusive and 8 hours on Fridays for night shift. Minimum wages are set out for the various classes of work in the industry, and range from 7s 6d to 10s 5d a day, with 4s to 7s for general hands. Night shifts, if possible, are to be worked week about, while the Registrar is empowered to fix the wage at which old and infirm workers shall be employed. The award is to remain in force for three years.

CLERKS' BENEFIT ASSOCIATION.

At a meeting of the directors of the Sydney Clerks and Warehousemen's Benefit Association Mr. Fred. Baker was again unanimously re-elected chairman of directors for the ensuing 12 months, making the fourth time he has held the position. Mr. Jas. Smith, at the same meeting, was also re-elected vice-chairman.

UNITED STOREMEN'S CLAIMS.

The United Storemen's Union has formulated another claim for presentation to the Industrial Court. They ask that the number of ordinary working hours shall be 45½ a week, to be worked between 8.30 a.m. and 1 p.m. and 2 p.m. and 5.30 p.m. on week days, and from 8.30 a.m. to 12 noon on Saturdays. They further ask for minimum rates of wages as follow:—Head storemen, £4; other storemen, £3 5s. Overtime rates they want fixed as follow:—Ordinary, 2s an hour, after 4 p.m. on Saturday, 3s. All the usual holidays they want observed, while boy labour they want paid for as follows:—Under 17, 20s; under 18, 25s; under 19, 30s; under 20, 40s; and all over 20 the minimum wage.

WHOLESALE GROCERS' EMPLOYEES.

The United Storemen's Union has further decided to obtain a wages board for the employees in grocery shops. The claims include a request for a 48 hours' week, with a minimum wage of £3 (to all storemen and packers, £3 15s for foremen, and £4 to foremen in charge of week. Casual employees they want paid at the rate of 1s 6d an hour, while overtime rates for all hands shall be 2s an hour, and 3s an hour after 4 p.m. on Saturday. Other clauses in the claim relate to preference, holidays, and boy labour. The latter shall be paid for at the rate of 15s a week for lads under 16, up to 35s for youths over 20 and under 21 years of age.

THE SCARCITY OF LABOUR.

Referring to the complaint of the masters that there is an all-round shortage of labour, Mr. J. Durack, the secretary of the Tailors' Union, said on Tuesday that if the shortage existed at all, it was only temporary. In his trade there had been between 50 and 70 tailors idle during January and February, while in many shops the men were only working half and quarter time. With respect to the factories, Mr. Durack went on to say that the absolute minimum was being paid, viz., 4s a week for girls, and £1 1s to £1 5s for adults. In the bespoke tailoring establishments female coat hands were receiving 37s 6d to 50s a week. The shortage of trousers and vest hands was due to the fact that the girls at this class of work had been put on coat-making, while no fresh apprentices had been engaged.

At the last meeting of the union the alleged shortage was discussed, and the following resolution was carried:—"That in view of the statement in the press regarding the state of the labour market in the clothing trade, the executive be instructed to make full inquiries into the true state of affairs, and give them publicity, and the secretary write to the Acting Premier (Mr. Holman), asking him to take no action until both sides of the case had been placed before him." It was also resolved that a deputation from the union wait on Mr. Holman.

SWEDISH CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

It was yesterday decided that the Swedish Chamber of Commerce recently formed in Sydney shall be known as the "Swedish Chamber of Commerce for British Australasia," with headquarters in Phillip-street, and the following were elected as the first office-bearers:—President, Hon. S. T. von Goes (Swedish Consul-in-Chief); vice-presidents, Mr. T. B. Dibbs (Vice-Consul for Sweden) and Mr. E. Owen Cox (Messrs. Birt and Co., Ltd.); members of executive, Messrs. W. Kopsen, Fred. Warberg, G. Kollerstrom, A. F. Du Rietz, and F. Ullberg; deputy members of executive, Messrs. A. Ringdahl and J. H. Andersson; secretary, Mr. I. Frodey.

HORSE TAMING.

BY LANCE SKUTHORP.

THE WORLD'S CHAMPION HORSE-TAMER.

Lance Skuthorp, the world's champion horse-tamer, will handle and ride an unbroken colt at Rawson-place to-night. The colt is one of the noted ZR Brand, and is guaranteed by his owner, Mr. Francis Johnson, never to have been caught. The colt has been sent down to Sydney in a truck of loose horses, and will be driven with some quiet ones from the trucking yard to Rawson-place, and then be run into the yard. Skuthorp will then show his methods of breaking in young horses. There is £25 deposited at the "Referee" office to back Lance Skuthorp to catch, bridle, saddle, and ride an unbroken colt quicker than any man in the world, without using ropes, and no strapping up legs. Skuthorp carries his bridle and saddle into the yard, and approaches the unbroken colt, catches, bridles, saddles, and rides him in unexplainable manner, and this he does in a few minutes. He will bite a wild colt on the hind fetlock in less than two minutes after he enters the yard with him. A man that issues a challenge for £25 against any man in the world must have something really good to show. Doors open at 7; first horse saddled at 8 sharp.—Advt.

BOWLS.

FIRST TEST MATCH.

VICTORY FOR NEW SOUTH WALES.

GOOD SHOWING BY TASMANIA.

The first test match between the visiting Tasmanians and New South Wales was played yesterday on the North Sydney green in the presence of a large gathering, representative of the various clubs in the metropolitan area.

The visitors were extended a cordial welcome by the president of the New South Wales Bowling Association (Mr. G. Raffan). The green was in perfect order, and upon its condition the North Sydney Club was congratulated at the close of the contest.

It was expected that the game would be a close one, as some of this State's best players were among the selected, while in the ranks of the visitors were two bowlers who upon the green sward have earned prominent positions in the bowling world of Tasmania—Mr. J. E. Williams and Mr. J. E. Thurston—both past champions.

Very few of those congregated round the green were prepared for the opening passages of the game. The visitors appeared to be invincible, and built up their points so rapidly that after an hour's play they had scored 45 points to their opponents' 29. From this point, however, the local combination asserted themselves, and not only wiped off the arrears, but ran out the winners by 15 points. The game throughout was interesting and, by reason of its fluctuation, at times exciting.

In No. 1 rink J. E. Thurston (Tasmania) and G. Coates (N.S.W.) were the opposing captains, and they put up an even battle. Mr. Thurston's team went away strongly, scoring in the first three heads and finishing the first five with the score five to one in their favour. The next half hour, however, saw a recovery on the part of the home quartette, who by dint of well-directed play got within a point of their opponents at the tenth head. Continuing well, they maintained their position, and finished the twentieth head with a lead of three points, the scores being: N.S.W., 15; Tasmania, 12. Although Tasmania made a supreme effort and captured the jack in the following head, and put on a few points, Mr. Coates, scoring three to one in the last two heads, ran out the winner by two points, the scores being: New South Wales, 19; Tasmania, 17. Mr. Thurston played a great game for the visitors, and he was well supported by Messrs. Armstrong and Melrose, but Mr. Kent was far below his form. For New South Wales Mr. Hope led well, and Mr. Coates, by excellent play, placed his rink in the van.

Mr. G. R. Paton captained the visitors in No. 2 rink while Mr. A. Louden did similar duty for New South Wales. Mr. Louden started well, and being well supported soon established a lead, and at the end of the first half-hour had an advantage of three points. Continuing aggressive, the pride of position was well maintained, and at the end of the tenth head Mr. Louden had a lead of six points, the scores being 15 to 9 in favour of the home rink. Notwithstanding the good play by their opponents, New South Wales still forged ahead, and finished the fifteenth head with a lead of 11 points, the scores being 22 to 11 in favour of Mr. Louden. During the next five heads Tasmania made a recovery, and by dint of consistent play reduced the lead of the home rink by five points, the twentieth head showing the scores at 25 to 19 in favour of New South Wales. Even pegging was the game for a time, until the home rink again got the jack, and ran out the winners by eight points, the final scores being: New South Wales, 30; Tasmania, 22. All played well in this match.

In No. 3 rink, Messrs. John Ingles (Tasmania) and G. Raffan (N.S.W.) were the respective captains. From the start the play was very even, each side taking a hand at scoring until at the end of the first half-hour the sides were even at five all. Tasmania then showed out strongly, and by consistent play scored in several heads, until at the end of the tenth head they led by eight points, Mr. Ingles' quartette having scored eight points to his opponents' nil. It was not, however, any criterion of what was to come, as Mr. Raffan was soon in pursuit, and finished the third half-hour in a minority of only two points, the scores being:—New South Wales, 12; Tasmania, 14. Continuing in a strong attack, Mr. Raffan not only equalled his opponents' score but at the end of the twentieth head led by three points. Notwithstanding an expiring effort on the part of Mr. Ingles, New South Wales crept gradually ahead until the rink won by six points, the scores being 25 to 19 in favour of the home rink. Mr. Raffan played a fine game throughout and, receiving excellent support, was enabled to gain the pride of position.

In No. 4 rink some very fine play was witnessed, Mr. J. E. Williams (Tasmania) and Mr. W. Taylor (N.S.W.) being the respective captains. Mr. Williams soon established a lead, and during the early stages of the game quite overshadowed his opponent. At the end of the first five heads he had a lead of 10, which was increased by three at the termination of the tenth head, the scores being:—Tasmania, 17; New South Wales, 4. The visitors appeared to have the game assured, and on all sides it seemed that they could do just as they liked, as they mostly captured the jack and kept adding to their score. As showing the superiority of their play, at the end of the fifteenth head Tasmania led by 21 to 6. It was at this stage that Mr. Taylor put in his claim. Nothing daunted by the faultless play of Mr. Williams, he kept pegging away, and during the next half-hour scored 11 points, while Mr. Williams only added one. Maintaining the doggedness which characterised their play at this stage, New South Wales hung on to their opponents, and contested every inch of the ground. In the twenty-first head Tasmania got two points, but in the twenty-second head the home rink scored five, and roused the enthusiasm of the onlookers, but they were unable to quite get up, and lost a wellfought game by one point, the final scores being 25 to 24 in favour of Tasmania. So well did each individual of the opposing rinks play that it would be invidious to particularise. On the grand totals New South Wales won by 15 points, the scores being:—New South Wales, 98; Tasmania, 83.

The following are the rinks and scores:—

Majority for New South Wales, 15.

BOWLING ASSOCIATION.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—The account of Monday night's meeting in your issue of to-day is incorrect in a very important particular. The report states:—"A vote was taken, i.e., as to the manner in which the money should be raised to pay the salary of the secretary, "and the result was about 30 for the proposal, and about the same number against it, but as the two-thirds majority was not forthcoming the motion was lost, and the meeting broke up."

The correct report is that an amendment was moved, "That the necessary money be raised by a charge per club," and not per member as the committee had proposed. The meeting was expressly invited to give an opinion on the committee's proposals, and did so. The amendment was carried by a substantial majority, but as the numbers for and against were not announced it was not known whether there was a two-thirds majority or not. In any case, such a majority was not necessary at that stage. The meeting was convened to consider certain "recommendations," and upon the result being known it became the duty of the committee to frame an amendment of the rules of the association to give effect thereto. The meeting decided upon a charge per club instead of per member, and before the charge per member could be enforced (had it been agreed to) a careful amendment of the rules would be necessary, and then the two-thirds majority would be required to carry those alterations.

Because the meeting preferred one method of raising the revenue to another is no reason why the committee should resign, and I hope they will not do so.

I am, etc.,
ONE WHO WAS THERE.

COUNTRY NEWS.

MUNICIPAL.

MURWILLUMBAH, Wednesday.

Mr. Arthur Rogers, of Balmain, has been appointed town clerk of Murwillumbah.

TAMWORTH, Wednesday.

The municipal council has decided to urge on the Government the necessity for protecting the town and main river bridge from being washed away by erecting a suitable retaining wall on the northern side of the river, between the viaduct and the main bridge, and on both sides of the bridge. The river is rapidly cutting the embankment away near the bridge, and also cutting into Lower-street, which runs alongside the river on the level part of the town. It is considered that in a short time portion of the street will be quite cut away.

CIRCUIT COURTS.

GRAFTON, Wednesday.

The Circuit Court opened before Mr. Justice Sly. John Rose pleaded guilty to three charges of false pretences at Casino and Lismore, and was remanded for sentence. Denis Long, charged with the larceny of three horses and a dray, was acquitted. Samuel Forrest, charged with inflicting grievous bodily harm on Constable Sherringham in December last, was acquitted.

At the circuit court to-day John Rose was sentenced to three concurrent terms of six months for false pretences at Lismore and Casino.

WEST MAITLAND, Wednesday.

The Maitland Circuit Court opened before Mr. Justice Pring. Charles Robert Pilley was charged with having, on February 25, at Namcoorth, escaped from the custody of Constable Joseph Dooras. Accused pleaded guilty, and was remanded for sentence. John Hobbs pleaded guilty to a charge of assault at Washpool on February 28, and was remanded for sentence. Bert Bevan and Clarence Moodie were charged with having, on February 15, at Newcastle, stolen a watch, a cheque, and the sum of 9s in money, the property of Andrew Bailey. There was a second count of receiving. Moodie pleaded guilty to stealing, and Bevan pleaded guilty to receiving. Accused were remanded for sentence. James Sinclair Crockford, charged with assault at North Lambton on March 4, was acquitted. Gordon William Warner, 15, charged with stealing £2 17s, the property of John Hare, was acquitted.

BALLINA, Wednesday.

The pilot's soundings at the entrance show that since the recent violent weather the bar had shoaled a little in a couple of places, giving a minimum of only 12ft at high water. The pilot, however, expects a speedy resumption of normal conditions now that the weather has moderated. It is probable that another exploration of the channel along the south breakwater will be made, in order to ascertain whether it has sufficiently deepened to allow of the passage of the larger shipping. The pilot is of the opinion that the gradual deepening of this channel is a contributing factor to the temporary shoaling of the present northern channel.

A disquieting report from Woodburn states that the water hyacinth has taken possession of Tuckimbil flood escape drain, and if not checked will, in case of floods in the near future, result in incalculable damage to Upper Richmond settlers and towns.

BROKEN HILL, Tuesday.

The case of John Abrahams, charged with shooting at Albert Edward Cameron with intent to inflict grievous bodily harm, was again called on at the Quarter Sessions to-day, but Abrahams failed to appear. His bail was estreated, and a warrant was issued for his arrest.

BYRON BAY, Wednesday.

Recommendations have for some time been made to the Justice Department for a new court-house and change of site here. On Tuesday the acting-police magistrate inspected and recommended a site—a small reserve near the centre of the town.

DELEGATE, Wednesday.

Mr. Charles Robinson, of Glencoe, an old respected resident of this district, died this morning, aged 76 years.

GOSFORD, Tuesday.

In a wood-chopping match for £10 a side, E. J. Waters defeated R. S. White, the contest taking place in the local hall.

GRAFTON, Wednesday.

Mr. George Champion, an old resident of the Clarence, died to-day, aged 81 years.

NEWCASTLE.

COAL AND OTHER EXPORTS.

NEWCASTLE, Wednesday.

The following vessels cleared at the Customs-house to-day:—Marama, s, for Wellington, via Sydney, with 2000 tons bunkers, 20 tons coke, and quantity timber, Zealandia, s, for Vancouver, via Sydney, with 2350 tons bunkers; Jane L. Stanford, 4-m bqtne, for San Francisco, with 1430 tons coal and 4 tons ship's use.

CHAMBERS OF COMMERCE.

MELBOURNE, Wednesday.

At a meeting of the council of the Chamber of Commerce it was decided to place the following subjects for discussion on the notice paper at the annual meeting of the Associated Chambers of Commerce of the Commonwealth, to be held in Adelaide on May 9:—Weights, measures, and currency, Declaration of London, balance-sheets of Government or municipal trade undertakings, Vancouver mail service, withdrawal of half-crowns from circulation, trade reciprocity between the Commonwealth, Canada, New Zealand, and South Africa, immigration, the linking of Canada and Australia with Great Britain by a cable from Canada to England.

IMMIGRATION.

A LADY SUPERINTENDENT.

ADELAIDE, Wednesday.

The Cabinet has appointed Miss Emily Walker lady superintendent of emigration from the United Kingdom for a period of 12 months. Her duties will be to assist the emigration agent in the selection of domestic helpers for South Australia, and in making arrangements for the accommodation and care of female emigrants on the voyage. For 10 years Miss Walker was manager of the Gordon Institute for Boys and Girls in Melbourne.

AN OFFICER'S NURSERY.

MELBOURNE, Wednesday.

A nursery for officers to man the Australian Navy may be established in connection with the Victorian Public schools. This proposal is embodied in a scheme put forward by a member of the Royal Yacht Club of Victoria.

MANUFACTURES WEEK.

UNIQUE DISPLAYS.

A tramcar manufactured in Australia will be one of the exhibits in front of the Customs House, and there will be two railway locomotives on view at the Central Railway Station during manufactures week. At a meeting on Tuesday of the Chamber of Manufactures it was reported that the response from the retailers had been general, and that the success of the display was assured.

The ladies are being appealed to to make the occasion a "shopping week" for Australian goods, and permission has been obtained for a procession to take place on Thursday, April 13, starting at 10 a.m. from the Domain.

THE BOTTLE NECK.

COST OF SEWERAGE ALTERATION.

Owing to the extensive works now being carried out by the Chief Railway Commissioner for relieving the congestion at the "Bottle Neck" at Redfern, alterations to the trunk main sewers have become necessary. These will cost approximately £6780. The matter was brought before the Water and Sewerage Board yesterday by the engineer-in-chief, and it was ordered that the work be carried out.

A committee of the City Council has recommended the erection of a new bandstand in Hyde Park. It will have accommodation for about 1600 people, and will cost about £600.

The tram service in King-street was temporarily disorganised last night owing to a car leaving the rails in William-street.

AMUSEMENTS.

"THE BAD GIRL OF THE FAMILY."

The new Adelphi Theatre being licensed to seat 2400 persons, the fact was realised at the opening performance last evening that the crowded house still maintained its effect of spectacular spaciousness. The acoustic properties also proved satisfactory, the leading artists possessing, fortunately, the clearness and largeness of voice required to reach both the high-pitched circles in which respect the architects were certainly inspired by lofty ideas. It took playgoers some time to settle down to the far remove from the stage necessitated by such a plan, but in the end all seemed to go well. The comfort of wide staircases to, and approaches within, the auditorium was at any rate appreciated.

"The Bad Girl of the Family," with which the theatre was opened, comes here with the reputation of a great commercial success in London, where it ran several hundred nights at a West End theatre—the Aldwych. Unlike popular melodramas of the past, in which the action was always brisk, Frederick Melville's play moves slowly under the weight of the most amazing verbosity that can be imagined. The author has at his command a veritable cascade of commonplaces, whilst the action, when it does start moving, varies between the highly improbable and the utterly impossible. These mild hints as to the calibre of the new melodrama may be serviceable to a playgoer here and there; but the piece itself is "notice-proof," and will draw crowds here as elsewhere, no doubt. Mr. George Marlow has staged it effectively, and his company proved equal to the demands made upon it by the delineation of familiar types of character. The story opens with a long domestic scene in the humble home of the Moore family, where a jovial, bullet-headed, laughter-loving coster in a neat grey suit of "pearlies" (Mr. John Cosgrove) proposes to Bess Moore (the Bad Girl). His proffered present of burgled diamonds is gently declined, though without any rude exhibition of surprise, by Bess, who is, indeed, deeply in love with the villain, Harry Gordon. This snake in the Moore paradise has already seduced Honour Moore, and there is a very pretty quarrel over the man, in which the sisters nearly tear each other's hair out. The gallery was deeply interested in the feminine attempt at a knock-out, but listened with less sympathy to the elevated platitudes of Papa Moore (Mr. Frank Reis), who, in spite of a slight check from his more sensible wife (Miss Cora Warner), turned poor Bess out of doors for her immorality. The villain Gordon forms a link with the main plot, in which, despising equally both the hapless sisters, who implore pity and speedy marriage, and are brutally and needlessly cursed, he seeks in marriage Gladys Erskine, the daughter of Lord Erskine. Gordon's claim is founded on the wealth his money-lending father is ready to bestow for the sake of an aristocratic alliance; and Gladys, of course, is in love with a brave, but penniless, lieutenant in the navy. Marvellous oceans of uneventful talk impose all this upon the audience, and also rouse them to the recognition that old Barney Gordon, a Jewish person, with a face like a pantomime mask, is an intensely funny fellow. Mr. J. P. O'Neill's humorous ingenuity may be guessed from the fact that a roar of laughter followed the remark, "I always thought you were a fool, Harry, but, strike me pink, you can give me points!" If this be witty dialogue, writing it must be as easy as falling off a house.

A more pervasive low-comedy character is that of Barney's factotum, Sammy Snozzle, in which Mr. Wilton Welch works hard with conspicuous success as regards responsive mirth, the climax being reached when, disguised as a female hand in search of employment at a draper's shop, he wears a royal blue velvet toque, and harem skirts of the same colour. Here he meets his beloved Sally Smithers, a character rendered with ebullient humour by Miss Ethel Buckley, who assisted the comedian ably in all their scenes. Sammy is taken into the girls' dormitory, whose appearance in, or on, their little beds, with their hair flying, proved an absorbing novelty to Adelphi playgoers. Bess having previously wounded old Barney with a revolver-shot, her answer to unpleasant proposals on his part in regard to a vacancy as housekeeper, seeks the dormitory as an asylum of refuge, and when the police enter, escape whilst the constables are half smothered in a realistic pillow-fight!

Miss Nellie Fergusson played the important character of Bess with a good deal of feeling, whilst Miss Ilma Clay, who in voice and appearance would have passed for her sister, proved sympathetic as the more dignified Gladys Erskine. The central situation was much assisted by this natural resemblance between the two. At this point the girls, changing places at the altar, the villain accidentally marries the wronged Bess, whilst the naval lieutenant, Richard Marsh, ably impersonated by Mr. Robert Inman, rushes forward to clasp in triumph the happy Gladys to his heart.

Mr. Alfred Clint, jun., had painted a stately interior, showing the vaulted fane, with its altar, where stood the officiating priest, and the whole was admirably effective. The same artist's cloth, "A Chamber at Erskine Hall," was rich in sober colour, and accurate in perspective; and clever scenes at Dartmoor and elsewhere all assisted the action. Lord Erskine was shown by Mr. Arthur Shirley as an imposing and patrician figure, and Mr. Harry W. Diver's corrosive sneer accentuated the villainy of Harry Gordon. Miss Beth Murdoch's fair looks contrasted pointedly with the blackness of the wicked Honour Moore. A long list of minor characters was suitably filled.

MISS EVA JOSEPHINE RUDD'S RECITAL.

A successful humorous and dramatic recital was given at St. James' Hall last night by Miss Eva Josephine Rudd, assisted by a number of other well-known concert performers. The hall was crowded long before 8 o'clock, and large numbers had to be turned away for lack of accommodation. Miss Rudd, who is a pupil of Mr. Bertram Elphin, was programmed for five items, and had to respond to a number of enthusiastic encores. She displayed considerable dramatic force in the scene from "Marie Antoinette," and she was also heard to great advantage in the humorous items. The other performers were Misses Leah Myers, Vera Watt, Eileen Rogers, and Messrs. Cyril Monk and Sid. Macdonald.

AN AUSTRALIAN CONCERT.

The Chamber of Manufactures intends giving an Australian concert during its Manufactures Week. The dominant characteristic of this concert will be that everything appertaining to it will be of Australian origin. The artists will all be Australians, all the musical instruments will be of Australian make, and the music itself was written in Australia. It will be interesting to the public to see what can be done in Australia in the way of music and poetry. The direction of the concert is in the hands of Mr. Nicholas Gehde, an Australian-born.

MISS MYRA GRESTY'S CONCERT.

The Y.M.C.A. Hall, in Bathurst-street, was filled last evening with an audience as large as it was appreciative, when a concert was given to Miss Myra Gresty, the well known Sydney soprano, in aid of medals for the Sydney Annual Eisteddfod Exhibition. The programme, which was well arranged and selected, was opened by Miss Leila Jeffreys with a "Mazurka de Concert" by Musin, performed on the violin. Mr. Charles Rolfe sang "Sunon," by Tosti, and, later on, Elgar's "Pipes of Pan." Miss Josie Miles (contralto) was applauded in her "Request," by Amy Finden, and "Weep not for the Roses" and "In My Garden." Mr. Paterson's well-known poem, "How Gilbert Died," was recited by Miss Minna Roberts, who repeated her success in "The Kingdom of Heaven," by Ella Wheeler Wilcox, and "A Pin." Miss Myra Gresty achieved encores for her two soli, "Qui La Voce," by I Puritani, and her own song, "Forget me Not." A violin solo, "Souvenir l'Ecosse," by Cyril Monk, rendered by Miss Leila Jeffreys, closed the programme.

NORTH SYDNEY ORPHANS.

The North Sydney Orphans held their 22nd "wail" in the Warringa Hall, Neutral Bay, on Monday night. The audience had arranged themselves in groups around gaily decorated tables, where refreshments were served at 9.30 p.m., after which the gentlemen had permission to smoke. The vocalists of the evening were Miss Rosina Buckmann, Miss Elsie Liggins, Messrs. Percy French, Charles Larsen, whilst instrumental items were rendered by Messrs. Cyril Monk and Bryce Carter. Mr. Lawrence Campbell gave several of his inimitable recitations, and lightning sketches were given by Mr. K. L. Butler. There were humorous items by Mr. de Robeck, and a couple of violin ensembles by a number of pupils from the studio of Mr. Cyril Monk.

THE CORONATION.

The Water and Sewerage Board yesterday adopted a scheme for illuminating the board's head office and the obelisk in Bathurst-street on the occasion of the Coronation of the King. The scheme was prepared by the engineer-in-chief, and will cost approximately £205.

NOWRA, Wednesday.

At a meeting convened by the Mayor of Nowra (Alderman Willis) a committee was formed, with Mr. N. Mason as secretary and treasurer, to raise the necessary funds to send a cadet from Nowra to England for the Coronation.

WOLLONGONG, Wednesday.

A collection is being taken up in Wollongong to raise £80 towards sending two cadets to the Coronation. Over £50 has already been subscribed. Arnold Hosking and William Noble have been selected to represent Wollongong.

SHIRE COUNCILS.

WAKOOL (Moulamein), Councillor Finley, president of the shire, has sold his Coobool Island property, and has resigned as president and councillor of the shire. He has been a councillor since the introduction of local government, and was twice president.

TERRIBLE INDIGESTION.

UNABLE TO EAT—TORTURED BY SICK HEADACHES—DESPAIRED OF BEING CURED.

BILE BEANS AGAIN PROVED SUPERIOR.

"Some time ago I was completely prostrated with indigestion," says Mr. C. Brown, of Kangaroo Point, Brisbane, Q. "My health was shattered, and I lost all appetite. Whenever I did partake of a hearty meal I would be attacked by awful pains and nasty nauseous sensations afterwards. Sickly bilious headaches also added to my suffering, and I became very weak and ill. I was very miserable, and had almost despaired of regaining my lost health when I heard of a case with symptoms similar to my own which had been completely cured by Bile Beans. I purchased a supply of Bile Beans, and commenced taking them. Very soon the sick headaches and nauseous sensations had ceased, and I was able to eat and thoroughly enjoy a hearty meal with no unpleasant after-effects. I persevered with Bile Beans, and soon I was restored to perfect health and all my troubles banished. Whether at home or travelling I always keep Bile Beans handy, for should I feel a little out of sorts they never fail to put me right."

Bile Beans are a proved remedy for all liver and stomach disorders, piles, headaches, constipation, biliousness, indigestion, bad breath, nervousness, weakness, nervous debility, loss of energy, brain fag, loss of appetite, anaemia, and are a grand tonic for weak, weary, worn-out women. Sold by all chemists and stores at 1s 1½d per box, or large family size (containing three times the quantity) 2s 9d.—Advt.

Dear Miss MADDOCKS,
In answer to your inquiry asking me whether any hairs have grown again on my chin or lip, I wish to state that none have reappeared.
It is now 7 months ago since the operation was performed, and I cannot express to you how very thankful I feel since my child has made no remarks regarding Mother's Beard. Again thanking you for your successful treatment, and wishing you every success for the future, I remain,
Yours very truly,
Mrs. W. T.

SHI-NOLEUM
will keep your Linoleum
BRIGHT AND BEAUTIFUL.

Every woman likes to see her Linoleum well polished.
SHI-NOLEUM will polish your floors better, with less labour, and in half the time it takes with old-fashioned preparations.
SHI-LINOLEUM preserves the Linoleum, and brings out the pattern in all its beauty.
It is very economical too, as once you get the SHI-NOLEUM surface, a rub over with a clean cloth will renew the fine polish without using any more of the paste.
There are many imitations, and you should be sure to look for the name SHI-NOLEUM.
Do not accept a substitute, as there is nothing nearly so good as SHI-NOLEUM.
